VOL. LXXX—No. 180 CITY OF KINGSTON, N. Y., FRIDAY EVENING, MAY 18, 1951. PRICE FIVE CENTS

Eight Men Pay $2,650 in Fines Before Mino on Gambling Counts

Five Are Assessed $500, Three $50 on Charges in City Court; Those Fined $500 Given Suspended Jail Terms

The eight men arrested April 14 at 124 North Front street on charges relating to the operating of a horse room today changed former pleas of innocent to guilty before City Judge Raymond J. Mino who imposed fines totalling $2,650.

Five of the men were fined $500 each on charges relating directly to the operation of a place used in conjunction with bets on horse races and three paid fines of $50 each on disorderly conduct charges. The five who paid the heavy fines were also given 30-day suspended jail sentences.

The defendants had asked for separate trials when they appeared in city court Monday and were advised by Judge Mino at the time that in the event they wished to change their plea they would have to do so by today to allow proper time for notification of jurors.

Are Fined $500

The five who paid $500 fines were: Charles Fisher, 34, of 188 Pearl street; Alfred Mones, 48, of 188 Pearl street; Max Rosenberg, 46, of 95 Green street; Ben Coakman, 31, of 95 Green street, and Richard Margolis, 41, of 63 Hasbrouck avenue.

Those fined $50 on a charge relating to violation of a subdivision of the disorderly conduct law relating to engagement in some illegal occupation or the frequenting of a "resort" used for illegal purposes were: Edward Fenton, 41, town of Hurley; Louis Dolan, 42, of 87 St. James street, and Samuel Stein, 53, of 565 East End avenue, New York.

Four of five men arrested April 14 at 48 Chambers street on charges relating to bookmaking paid fines totalling $2,050 last April 24. The fifth who was said to be janitor was fined $50.

Fenton and Dolan were represented by Attorney Frank Martocci and Attorney John Larkin appeared for the district attorney's office. The others were represented in court Monday by Attorneys John Gotelli, of this city, and Paul Rosen, of Poughkeepsie, but neither appeared in court today.

The first two trials scheduled under the pleas of not guilty Monday were those of Mones and Rosenberg. The former was scheduled for next Wednesday and the other for the following day. Two others were set for the latter part of May and the rest were scheduled for June.

Maximum Is Imposed

Judge Mino imposed the maximum fine of $500 and the 30-day suspended sentence for each of the five who changed his former plea of not guilty to guilty to the charge relating to operation of a horse room, and said the suspended sentence was pending their good behavior and their refraining from any similar activity.

Attorney Larkin said the district attorney's office wished to go on record as accepting the pleas and when Fenton, Dolan and Stein appeared before the judge, he said investigation indicated that "it would be hard, if not impossible," to obtain convictions under the more serious charges for these defendants.

Bail was exonerated for the three who were fined under the lesser charge and was applied toward the fines for the others.

Police said they confiscated telephone, switchboard and other equipment when the North Front street raid was made, that they had found telephones at 43 Lucas avenue the same day, but obtained nothing at 356 Washington avenue that day.

Larkin said when Stein appeared before the judge that insofar as the district attorney's office was able to determine the presence of the New York man at the North Front street place was primarily for the conduct of legitimate business.

U. S. Court Serves Notice on 10 They Face Jail Terms

Appeals Branch Reports They Must Comply With Orders in Litigation

Washington, May 18 (AP)—The U. S. Court of Appeals today served notice on Secretary of Commerce Sawyer and nine others that they will be sent to jail for contempt unless they comply with its orders in litigation over control of American President Lines, Ltd.

The court said it would enter an order giving Sawyer and the others five days in which to comply with its decree.

The court said:

"If they have not complied as directed in the order (they) must submit themselves * * * for commitment as in civil contempt until they do comply."

Sawyer and eight other government officials and attorneys earlier had been cited by the court on contempt charges for failure to deliver "effective possession" of 92 per cent of the voting stock of American President Lines to R. Stanley Dollar and his associates.

The tenth person involved in the proceedings is George L. Killion, president of the big steamship company. Killion is former treasurer of the Democratic national committee.

Judgment Held Valid

In its decision today, the Court of Appeals said the Dollar interests "have a valid and complete judgment" against those persons who were in possession of the disputed shares.

The long legal battle grew out of financial troubles of the Dollar steamship interests in 1938. The Dollar interests put up the stock with the old Maritime Commission in return for loans.

In 1945 the Dollars sued to get the stock back. They claimed they merely pledged the stock for loans, which had been repaid out of earnings from the American President Lines.

The government contended, however, that the stock had been surrendered outright to the government.

The Court of Appeals, in its most recent decision, said the Dollar interests were entitled to effective possession of the stock.

The stock certificates actually were turned over to R. Stanley Dollar and associates in March, but they were not allowed to vote them at the company's annual meeting and they were not transferred on the company's books.

The Circuit Court held that was not "effective possession" as it had ordered.

Six Killed, 51 Hurt in PRR Wreck

Bryn Mawr, Pa., May 18 (AP)—Six persons were killed and at least 51 injured today aboard two crack Pennsylvania Railroad passenger trains in a rear end collision near this Philadelphia main line suburb.

Five bodies were removed from the wreckage of the Philadelphia Night Express and the Red Arrow. Another was reported located in the debris but not yet removed.

The Philadelphia express was coming from Pittsburgh, the Red Arrow from Detroit to New York.

Maj. G. A. McLaughlin, lower Merion township police superintendent, who said earlier three bodies had been removed, said none of the dead were identified immediately.

Bryn Mawr Hospital reported it had received at least 50 injured.

The extent of their injuries had not been determined.

A spokesman for the PRR said the crash occurred at 6:38 a. m. Eastern Standard Time, at a peak period of travel on one of the most heavily traveled rail lines in the east.

Smashes Into Train

The spokesman said Train No. 68, the Red Arrow, eastbound from Detroit to New York, smashed into the rear of Train No. 36, the Philadelphia Night Express bound from Pittsburgh.

The Philadelphia express had stopped, possibly for a checkup on equipment.

The accident happened about five miles west of the PRR station in Bryn Mawr, a quiet residential suburb many of whose large homes border the railroad lines.

Eyewitnesses said the engine of the Red Arrow telescoped the rear car of the Philadelphia Express and overturned the car ahead. The locomotive thrust straight into the air, then collapsed on its side, a twisted heap of metal.

Among the passengers on the battered train were several priests, who hastened to help the injured and to administer last rites of the church to the dead.

More Than 1,000 Gather

More than 1,000 people gathered at the scene—on a section of Philadelphia's famed "main line"—and some were pressed into service to aid police and firemen.

A Red Cross disaster detail, with a blood supply, was dispatched to the wreck, and the Salvation Army sent two mobile canteens supplied with blankets, food and drink.

Eye witnesses said the region around the scene shook from the impact of the trains.

They said they saw an electric flash, then flames rising from the telescoped coach. The railroad uses electric engines, powered from overhead wires, in this area.

The fire was quenched soon after railroad men turned off the current.

During the early morning hours the PRR carries tens of thousands of suburban residents to their jobs in Philadelphia.

Thus a major snarl in this operation resulted from the wreck. The PRR quickly set about improvising a shuttle service to nearby points.

A spokesman for the railroad said it was hoped that two of the four main line tracks would be cleared and usable shortly after noon.

Flood Threatens Kansas City Area

New Sections in Oklahoma and Texas Harassed; Four Are Dead

By The Associated Press

Flood waters, fed by rampaging rivers and creeks, threatened a 30-block section of Kansas' largest city and harassed new areas in Oklahoma and Texas today.

The high waters have caused at least four deaths, isolated many rural homes, and cut transportation and communications.

At Wichita, Kas., a city of 200,000, national guardsmen and hundreds of volunteers sought to control the little Arkansas river.

The slowly rising waters threatened to flood a 30-block area of the city.

A flood warning was issued last night, indicating a full scale overflow was expected today. Those in danger of being surrounded by water were advised to take what they could and get to higher ground.

Despite continuous sandbagging some dikes were crumbling.

Residents Are Warned

In southwestern Oklahoma, Canton reservoir engineers warned residents to prepare for high flood waters—perhaps the greatest in history—from the Washita river. The lowlands at Fort Cobb, Anadarko and Chickasha were in the most danger.

The floods have taken at least two lives in Oklahoma. David Raimer, 14, Clinton, and Gale Simpkins, 18, Elk City, drowned. Missing is Tommy Basket of Clinton. He and David disappeared after leaving a stalled school bus to seek aid for the other occupants.

Other flood deaths included Gene Lusk, 22, a railroad workman who fell from a bridge and drowned at Syracuse, Kas., and Marion Thomas, Canadian, Tex., asphyxiated while working on a flood-damaged gas line.

NAM Calls For Halt to All Controls

Manufacturers Accuse Truman of Seeking Dictatorial Powers on Home Front

Asks Stricter Law

CIO Leader Would Put Tighter Clamp Upon Prices

Washington, May 18 (AP)—The National Association of Manufacturers (NAM) today demanded removal of all wage-price controls. It accused President Truman of seeking dictatorial home-front mobilization powers.

A CIO official called for "a stricter price control law."

A former "Fair Deal" senator, now representing a group of automobile sales finance companies, charged that the administration of consumer credit controls is "unfair and unsound."

Meat industry spokesman continued to hammer away at their contention that the government beef price rollback plan will result in diminishing supplies and rationing.

The new Wage Stabilization Board was reported ready to punch some holes in the pay-controls dike.

And the leaders of 57 major civilian industries were called to meet today to discuss with the National Production Authority (NPA) government plans to cut their metal supplies by 30 to 35 per cent below pre-Korea levels. The proposed cuts were announced only yesterday.

The announcement was made only a few hours after President Truman appealed anew for stronger controls and defense production programs, and said:

"The special interests and the lobbies will wreck this stabilization program, as sure as you're born, unless the main body of the citizens of this country get busy and do something about it."

U. S. Might Punch Holes in Wages

Stabilization Board Said to Be Ready to Back Boost for 220,000

Washington, May 18 (AP)—The government today may start punching holes in its temporary inflationary dike on wages.

The Wage Stabilization Board was reported ready to approve most, or all, of an 11-cent average hourly wage increase for 220,000 meat packing house workers.

This would break the existing ten per cent limit on pay increases over the January, 1950 levels. Packing house workers got almost a full ten per cent increase last August.

It was indicated, too, the board

Stalemate Over UMT Given Consideration by Officials

Washington, May 18 (AP)—Senators and representatives tackle again today the problem of ending a stalemate over Universal Military Training (UMT) legislation.

In the background as they arrange to meet this afternoon (1 p. m. EST) were appeals by President Truman and Secretary of Defense Marshall for prompt action.

The month-long conference deadlock over UMT and draft legislation was cited yesterday by Senator Russell (D.-Ga.) as the cause of a recess until Monday in Senate hearings on dismissal of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

The President said yesterday a universal service law "is essential to the safety of the world—to our own safety."

One of the reasons the country faces a defense crisis today, Mr. Truman told the National Conference on Citizenship, is because Congress turned down the Universal Military Service law in 1945.

He added that "the people who prevented" enactment of the law then "are trying by every means at their command to prevent it now."

Russell, who is chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said the pending legislation "is so vital that I think everybody agrees the bill should be enacted if it is possible at all to get an agreement."

Chairman Vinson (D.-Ga.) of the House conferees, in a separate interview, gave no indication of any change of views in his group.

Major difference between bills by the two chambers is House insistence that Congress must reconsider the whole UMT proposal

Racketeer Gets Five Years, Fined $2,000 for Lying

Weber Perjury Case Is Likened to Moran's by Judge Dewey in Court

New York, May 18 (AP)—Numbers racketeer Louis Weber today was sentenced to the maximum of five years in prison and fined $2,000 for lying to the Senate Crime Investigating Committee.

Federal Judge Charles A. Dewey in imposing sentence said he could not see any difference between the perjury case of Weber and that of James J. Moran, political appointee and close friend of former Mayor William O'Dwyer.

Moran last week got the same sentence as Weber for the same offense.

Weber, 51, was convicted on Wednesday night by a jury for lying under oath when he told the Senate committee he did not know Moran.

Witnesses Tell Story

Government witnesses testified Weber visited Moran, then first deputy fire commissioner, more than 100 times between 1946 and 1950. Moran told the committee it was not more than six times.

Neither Moran nor Weber took the witness stand in their trials and no defense witnesses were called.

Moran, 49, got his fire department post from O'Dwyer. Shortly before resigning as mayor to become ambassador to Mexico, O'Dwyer put his Democratic friend into a lifetime job as wa-

Hickenlooper Says HST Deceived People by His Actions

Washington, May 8 (AP)—President Truman's statement he had considered dismissing Gen Douglas MacArthur off and on for a year "astonished" the deposed general and stirred critics of the administration to new wrath today.

Senator Hickenlooper, Iowa Republican dissenter on official Far East policy, charged Mr. Truman had "deceived the people" with previous declarations of support for MacArthur.

MacArthur, in a statement issued in New York, said his astonishment at Mr. Truman's remarks bordered on incredulity. He added: "It is difficult to reconcile this with my appointment by him as commander-in-chief of the United Nations command" in Korea. That was last June.

Mr. Truman also told his news conference yesterday the Republicans are trying to overthrow the foreign policy of the United States.

This brought a retort from Senator Brewster (R-Me.), a foreign Relations Committee member. He told a reporter "we can't overthrow it when he don't know what it is."

'Needed New General'

The President said he decided he needed a new general in the Far East when MacArthur called on the Chinese Communists in Korea on March 24 to negotiate a truce, in advance of a proposed Presidential peace proposal.

MacArthur replied to this, too, in the statement issued by his chief aide, Maj. Gen. Courtney Whitney.

The deposed general said he had twice previously tried to obtain a cease-fire agreement, both times "without conferring with higher authority and without the

Four Persons Are Killed In Alabama Gun Battle

Boaz, Ala., May 18 (AP)—Three officers and a man they sought to arrest died in a midnight gun battle at a farm home three miles east of here.

A fourth officer, seriously wounded, is in a Gadsden, Ala., hospital.

Five persons are being held without charge in jail at Gadsden pending further investigation.

Those killed were Sheriff E. M. Boyles of Marshall county; Chief of Police Leonard J. Floyd of Boaz; Aubrey Kilpatrick, a farmer; and Chief Deputy Sheriff W. M. Bennett, who died in a Gadsden hospital early today.

The officers had gone to the Kilpatrick home to arrest him and another man on charges of assault with intent to murder.

Boaz is in a rich mountainous farm area about 70 miles northeast of Birmingham.

Coroner Howard Hardin said charges against Kilpatrick arose from a neighborhood fight not involving any of the officers who made the midnight trip.

The coroner said Sheriff Boyles and the other officers were greeted with a hail of gunfire a moment after they drove up to the Kilpatrick home. They returned the fire before they fell.

Two pistols, three shotguns and a carbine were found early today in and near the Kilpatrick home, Hardin added.

Hardin listed those jailed as Kilpatrick's three young sons, 16, 15 and 12 years old, and Tom Upton and Fred Goble. He named the Kilpatrick boys as James, Billy and Harold.

Goble and Upton are neighbors of the Kilpatricks. Goble was charged with Kilpatrick with assault with intent to murder.

Deputy Sidney Lang, wounded and in the hospital, said all the officers were shot before anyone of them got inside the Kilpatrick home. He added that "at least two or three men" were involved in the shooting.

Communist Push Hits Entire Area

One American Division Is Said to Be in Serious Trouble on Central Front

Pool Is Huge

Reds Said to Have Army of 1,141,000 on Hand for Offensive

Tokyo, May 18 (AP)—Communist troop masses attacking with utter disregard of lives today pushed back allied lines across most of the Korean warfront.

The Reds had gained as much as 20 miles in three days and forced United Nations troops out of their last foothold in North Korea.

The allied pullback extended from the east coast for more than 50 miles across the central front.

In the west, Red spearheads thrust within 10 miles of Seoul. They were fighting on both the eastern and northern approaches to the old South Korean capital.

One U. S. division was reported "in great trouble" on the central front. A smaller American unit was overrun and positions of another were breached.

Units Are Wounded

Two South Korean units were badly mauled.

Across the flaming warfront the Communists pressed forward in human sea waves despite massed allied artillery fire and searing air attacks.

Field dispatches said the toll of Red dead was terrific. But still the Communists poured southward out of the North Korean massing areas.

This was the Chinese Reds' fifth offensive since they entered the war late in November. And it appeared to be shaping up as their mightiest drive—one aimed, Red prisoners said, to throw the allies out of Korea by June 25 first anniversary of the Communist invasion.

Red commanders had a pool of 1,141,000 available troops in Korea and Manchuria, the UN command said. And they were reckless in the way they spent them.

Van Fleet Is Confident

UN massed artillery fired at record speed to cut attacking waves to pieces. Allied airmen complained Friday afternoon that they coudn't find many Red targets.

Field dispatches said the bugle blowing, horn tooting Chinese fell by the thousands under geysering artillery explosions. One U. S. battalion on the central front claimed an all time record for speed of sustained fire.

Barbed wire, strung extensively before U.N. positions in Korea for the first time, was hung with gruesome garlands of Chinese. Two thousand miles of wire were stretched in front of one unit.

Front line dispatches gave this picture Friday night, looking across the front from west to east:

Forces Pulled Back

American forces pulled back from Uijongbu, 11 miles north of Seoul. Red screening forces pushed to within 10 miles of the old South Korean capital.

An armored U.N. patrol was stopped 10 miles east of Seoul by a Red mine field covered by automatic weapons. A series of Red attacks failed to break U.N. lines in the west-central front Friday. South Koreans patched up the only dent. But massing Chinese, camouflaged by tree branches, hid in the woods ready to renew their assaults.

Heavy fighting raged across the central front. The allied line pulled back before waves of attacking Chinese.

Chinese poured through a break in South Korean lines. They streamed down the Inje-Hongchon road on the central front.

A veteran American division astride this road was fighting attacks on three sides. AP Correspondent Nate Polowetzky said it was in "great trouble."

Americans were rushed up to plug the gap cut in two South Korean divisions. South Korean units were badly hurt. Two retreating units were caught in a Chinese ambush. At least one of

Washington, May 18 (AP)—Senators and representatives tackle again today the problem of ending a stalemate over Universal Military Training (UMT) legislation.

In the background as they arrange to meet this afternoon (1 p. m. EST) were appeals by President Truman and Secretary of Defense Marshall for prompt action.

The month-long conference deadlock over UMT and draft legislation was cited yesterday by Senator Russell (D.-Ga.) as the cause of a recess until Monday in Senate hearings on dismissal of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

The President said yesterday a universal service law "is essential to the safety of the world—to our own safety."

One of the reasons the country faces a defense crisis today, Mr. Truman told the National Conference on Citizenship, is because Congress turned down the Universal Military Service law in 1945.

He added that "the people who prevented" enactment of the law then "are trying by every means at their command to prevent it now."

Russell, who is chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said the pending legislation "is so vital that I think everybody agrees the bill should be enacted if it is possible at all to get an agreement."

Chairman Vinson (D.-Ga.) of the House conferees, in a separate interview, gave no indication of any change of views in his group.

Major difference between bills by the two chambers is House insistence that Congress must reconsider the whole UMT proposal

Manufacturers Accuse Truman of Seeking Dictatorial Powers on Home Front

CIO Leader Would Put Tighter Clamp Upon Prices

Washington, May 18 (AP)—The National Association of Manufacturers (NAM) today demanded removal of all wage-price controls. It accused President Truman of seeking dictatorial home-front mobilization powers.

A CIO official called for "a stricter price control law."

A former "Fair Deal" senator, now representing a group of automobile sales finance companies, charged that the administration of consumer credit controls is "unfair and unsound."

Meat industry spokesman continued to hammer away at their contention that the government beef price rollback plan will result in diminishing supplies and rationing.

The new Wage Stabilization Board was reported ready to punch some holes in the pay-controls dike.

And the leaders of 57 major civilian industries were called to meet today to discuss with the National Production Authority (NPA) government plans to cut their metal supplies by 30 to 35 per cent below pre-Korea levels. The proposed cuts were announced only yesterday.

The announcement was made only a few hours after President Truman appealed anew for stronger controls and defense production programs, and said:

"The special interests and the lobbies will wreck this stabilization program, as sure as you're born, unless the main body of the citizens of this country get busy and do something about it."

Racketeer Gets Five Years, Fined $2,000 for Lying

Weber Perjury Case Is Likened to Moran's by Judge Dewey in Court

New York, May 18 (AP)—Numbers racketeer Louis Weber today was sentenced to the maximum of five years in prison and fined $2,000 for lying to the Senate Crime Investigating Committee.

Federal Judge Charles A. Dewey in imposing sentence said he could not see any difference between the perjury case of Weber and that of James J. Moran, political appointee and close friend of former Mayor William O'Dwyer.

Moran last week got the same sentence as Weber for the same offense.

Weber, 51, was convicted on Wednesday night by a jury for lying under oath when he told the Senate committee he did not know Moran.

Witnesses Tell Story

Government witnesses testified Weber visited Moran, then first deputy fire commissioner, more than 100 times between 1946 and 1950. Moran told the committee it was not more than six times.

Neither Moran nor Weber took the witness stand in their trials and no defense witnesses were called.

Moran, 49, got his fire department post from O'Dwyer. Shortly before resigning as mayor to become ambassador to Mexico, O'Dwyer put his Democratic friend into a lifetime job as wa-

Hickenlooper Says HST Deceived People by His Actions

Washington, May 8 (AP)—President Truman's statement he had considered dismissing Gen Douglas MacArthur off and on for a year "astonished" the deposed general and stirred critics of the administration to new wrath today.

Senator Hickenlooper, Iowa Republican dissenter on official Far East policy, charged Mr. Truman had "deceived the people" with previous declarations of support for MacArthur.

MacArthur, in a statement issued in New York, said his astonishment at Mr. Truman's remarks bordered on incredulity. He added: "It is difficult to reconcile this with my appointment by him as commander-in-chief of the United Nations command" in Korea. That was last June.

Mr. Truman also told his news conference yesterday the Republicans are trying to overthrow the foreign policy of the United States.

This brought a retort from Senator Brewster (R-Me.), a foreign Relations Committee member. He told a reporter "we can't overthrow it when he don't know what it is."

'Needed New General'

The President said he decided he needed a new general in the Far East when MacArthur called on the Chinese Communists in Korea on March 24 to negotiate a truce, in advance of a proposed Presidential peace proposal.

MacArthur replied to this, too, in the statement issued by his chief aide, Maj. Gen. Courtney Whitney.

The deposed general said he had twice previously tried to obtain a cease-fire agreement, both times "without conferring with higher authority and without the

Four Persons Are Killed In Alabama Gun Battle

Boaz, Ala., May 18 (AP)—Three officers and a man they sought to arrest died in a midnight gun battle at a farm home three miles east of here.

A fourth officer, seriously wounded, is in a Gadsden, Ala., hospital.

Five persons are being held without charge in jail at Gadsden pending further investigation.

Those killed were Sheriff E. M. Boyles of Marshall county; Chief of Police Leonard J. Floyd of Boaz; Aubrey Kilpatrick, a farmer; and Chief Deputy Sheriff W. M. Bennett, who died in a Gadsden hospital early today.

The officers had gone to the Kilpatrick home to arrest him and another man on charges of assault with intent to murder.

Boaz is in a rich mountainous farm area about 70 miles northeast of Birmingham.

Coroner Howard Hardin said charges against Kilpatrick arose from a neighborhood fight not involving any of the officers who made the midnight trip.

The coroner said Sheriff Boyles and the other officers were greeted with a hail of gunfire a moment after they drove up to the Kilpatrick home. They returned the fire before they fell.

Two pistols, three shotguns and a carbine were found early today in and near the Kilpatrick home, Hardin added.

Hardin listed those jailed as Kilpatrick's three young sons, 16, 15 and 12 years old, and Tom Upton and Fred Goble. He named the Kilpatrick boys as James, Billy and Harold.

Goble and Upton are neighbors of the Kilpatricks. Goble was charged with Kilpatrick with assault with intent to murder.

Deputy Sidney Lang, wounded and in the hospital, said all the officers were shot before anyone of them got inside the Kilpatrick home. He added that "at least two or three men" were involved in the shooting.

Communist Push Hits Entire Area

Pool Is Huge

Reds Said to Have Army of 1,141,000 on Hand for Offensive

Tokyo, May 18 (AP)—Communist troop masses attacking with utter disregard of lives today pushed back allied lines across most of the Korean warfront.

The Reds had gained as much as 20 miles in three days and forced United Nations troops out of their last foothold in North Korea.

The allied pullback extended from the east coast for more than 50 miles across the central front.

In the west, Red spearheads thrust within 10 miles of Seoul. They were fighting on both the eastern and northern approaches to the old South Korean capital.

One U. S. division was reported "in great trouble" on the central front. A smaller American unit was overrun and positions of another were breached.

Units Are Wounded

Two South Korean units were badly mauled.

Across the flaming warfront the Communists pressed forward in human sea waves despite massed allied artillery fire and searing air attacks.

Field dispatches said the toll of Red dead was terrific. But still the Communists poured southward out of the North Korean massing areas.

This was the Chinese Reds' fifth offensive since they entered the war late in November. And it appeared to be shaping up as their mightiest drive—one aimed, Red prisoners said, to throw the allies out of Korea by June 25 first anniversary of the Communist invasion.

Red commanders had a pool of 1,141,000 available troops in Korea and Manchuria, the UN command said. And they were reckless in the way they spent them.

Van Fleet Is Confident

UN massed artillery fired at record speed to cut attacking waves to pieces. Allied airmen complained Friday afternoon that they coudn't find many Red targets.

Field dispatches said the bugle blowing, horn tooting Chinese fell by the thousands under geysering artillery explosions. One U. S. battalion on the central front claimed an all time record for speed of sustained fire.

Barbed wire, strung extensively before U.N. positions in Korea for the first time, was hung with gruesome garlands of Chinese. Two thousand miles of wire were stretched in front of one unit.

Front line dispatches gave this picture Friday night, looking across the front from west to east:

Forces Pulled Back

American forces pulled back from Uijongbu, 11 miles north of Seoul. Red screening forces pushed to within 10 miles of the old South Korean capital.

An armored U.N. patrol was stopped 10 miles east of Seoul by a Red mine field covered by automatic weapons. A series of Red attacks failed to break U.N. lines in the west-central front Friday. South Koreans patched up the only dent. But massing Chinese, camouflaged by tree branches, hid in the woods ready to renew their assaults.

Chinese poured through a break in South Korean lines. They streamed down the Inje-Hongchon road on the central front.

A veteran American division astride this road was fighting attacks on three sides. AP Correspondent Nate Polowetzky said it was in "great trouble."

Americans were rushed up to plug the gap cut in two South Korean divisions. South Korean units were badly hurt. Two retreating units were caught in a Chinese ambush. At least one of

Eight Men Pay $2,650 in Fines Before Mino on Gambling Counts

Five Are Assessed $500, Three $50 on Charges in City Court; Those Fined $500 Given Suspended Jail Terms

The eight men arrested April 14 at 124 North Front street on charges relating to the operating of a horse room today changed former pleas of innocent to guilty before City Judge Raymond J. Mino who imposed fines totalling $2,650.

Five of the men were fined $500 each on charges relating directly to the operation of a place used in conjunction with bets on horse races and three paid fines of $50 each on disorderly conduct charges. The five who paid the heavy fines were also given 30-day suspended jail sentences.

The defendants had asked for separate trials when they appeared in city court Monday and were advised by Judge Mino at the time that in the event they wished to change their plea they would have to do so by today to allow proper time for notification of jurors.

Are Fined $500

The five who paid $500 fines were: Charles Fisher, 34, of 188 Pearl street; Alfred Mones, 48, of 188 Pearl street; Max Rosenberg, 46, of 95 Green street; Ben Coakman, 31, of 95 Green street, and Richard Margolis, 41, of 63 Hasbrouck avenue.

Those fined $50 on a charge relating to violation of a subdivision of the disorderly conduct law relating to engagement in some illegal occupation or the frequenting of a "resort" used for illegal purposes were: Edward Fenton, 41, town of Hurley; Louis Dolan, 42, of 87 St. James street, and Samuel Stein, 53, of 565 East End avenue, New York.

Four of five men arrested April 14 at 48 Chambers street on charges relating to bookmaking paid fines totalling $2,050 last April 24. The fifth who was said to be janitor was fined $50.

Fenton and Dolan were represented by Attorney Frank Martocci and Attorney John Larkin appeared for the district attorney's office. The others were represented in court Monday by Attorneys John Gotelli, of this city, and Paul Rosen, of Poughkeepsie, but neither appeared in court today.

The first two trials scheduled under the pleas of not guilty Monday were those of Mones and Rosenberg. The former was scheduled for next Wednesday and the other for the following day. Two others were set for the latter part of May and the rest were scheduled for June.

Maximum Is Imposed

Judge Mino imposed the maximum fine of $500 and the 30-day suspended sentence for each of the five who changed his former plea of not guilty to guilty to the charge relating to operation of a horse room, and said the suspended sentence was pending their good behavior and their refraining from any similar activity.

Attorney Larkin said the district attorney's office wished to go on record as accepting the pleas and when Fenton, Dolan and Stein appeared before the judge, he said investigation indicated that "it would be hard, if not impossible," to obtain convictions under the more serious charges for these defendants.

Bail was exonerated for the three who were fined under the lesser charge and was applied toward the fines for the others.

Police said they confiscated telephone, switchboard and other equipment when the North Front street raid was made, that they had found telephones at 43 Lucas avenue the same day, but obtained nothing at 356 Washington avenue that day.

Larkin said when Stein appeared before the judge that insofar as the district attorney's office was able to determine the presence of the New York man at the North Front street place was primarily for the conduct of legitimate business.

U. S. Court Serves Notice on 10 They Face Jail Terms

Appeals Branch Reports They Must Comply With Orders in Litigation

Washington, May 18 (AP)—The U. S. Court of Appeals today served notice on Secretary of Commerce Sawyer and nine others that they will be sent to jail for contempt unless they comply with its orders in litigation over control of American President Lines, Ltd.

The court said it would enter an order giving Sawyer and the others five days in which to comply with its decree.

The court said:

"If they have not complied as directed in the order (they) must submit themselves * * * for commitment as in civil contempt until they do comply."

Sawyer and eight other government officials and attorneys earlier had been cited by the court on contempt charges for failure to deliver "effective possession" of 92 per cent of the voting stock of American President Lines to R. Stanley Dollar and his associates.

The tenth person involved in the proceedings is George L. Killion, president of the big steamship company. Killion is former treasurer of the Democratic national committee.

Judgment Held Valid

In its decision today, the Court of Appeals said the Dollar interests "have a valid and complete judgment" against those persons who were in possession of the disputed shares.

The long legal battle grew out of financial troubles of the Dollar steamship interests in 1938. The Dollar interests put up the stock with the old Maritime Commission in return for loans.

In 1945 the Dollars sued to get the stock back. They claimed they merely pledged the stock for loans, which had been repaid out of earnings from the American President Lines.

The government contended, however, that the stock had been surrendered outright to the government.

The Court of Appeals, in its most recent decision, said the Dollar interests were entitled to effective possession of the stock.

The stock certificates actually were turned over to R. Stanley Dollar and associates in March, but they were not allowed to vote them at the company's annual meeting and they were not transferred on the company's books.

The Circuit Court held that was not "effective possession" as it had ordered.

Six Killed, 51 Hurt in PRR Wreck

Bryn Mawr, Pa., May 18 (AP)—Six persons were killed and at least 51 injured today aboard two crack Pennsylvania Railroad passenger trains in a rear end collision near this Philadelphia main line suburb.

Five bodies were removed from the wreckage of the Philadelphia Night Express and the Red Arrow. Another was reported located in the debris but not yet removed.

The Philadelphia express was coming from Pittsburgh, the Red Arrow from Detroit to New York.

Maj. G. A. McLaughlin, lower Merion township police superintendent, who said earlier three bodies had been removed, said none of the dead were identified immediately.

Bryn Mawr Hospital reported it had received at least 50 injured.

The extent of their injuries had not been determined.

A spokesman for the PRR said the crash occurred at 6:38 a. m. Eastern Standard Time, at a peak period of travel on one of the most heavily traveled rail lines in the east.

Smashes Into Train

The spokesman said Train No. 68, the Red Arrow, eastbound from Detroit to New York, smashed into the rear of Train No. 36, the Philadelphia Night Express bound from Pittsburgh.

The Philadelphia express had stopped, possibly for a checkup on equipment.

The accident happened about five miles west of the PRR station in Bryn Mawr, a quiet residential suburb many of whose large homes border the railroad lines.

Eyewitnesses said the engine of the Red Arrow telescoped the rear car of the Philadelphia Express and overturned the car ahead. The locomotive thrust straight into the air, then collapsed on its side, a twisted heap of metal.

Among the passengers on the battered train were several priests, who hastened to help the injured and to administer last rites of the church to the dead.

More Than 1,000 Gather

More than 1,000 people gathered at the scene—on a section of Philadelphia's famed "main line"—and some were pressed into service to aid police and firemen.

A Red Cross disaster detail, with a blood supply, was dispatched to the wreck, and the Salvation Army sent two mobile canteens supplied with blankets, food and drink.

Eye witnesses said the region around the scene shook from the impact of the trains.

They said they saw an electric flash, then flames rising from the telescoped coach. The railroad uses electric engines, powered from overhead wires, in this area.

The fire was quenched soon after railroad men turned off the current.

During the early morning hours the PRR carries tens of thousands of suburban residents to their jobs in Philadelphia.

Thus a major snarl in this operation resulted from the wreck. The PRR quickly set about improvising a shuttle service to nearby points.

A spokesman for the railroad said it was hoped that two of the four main line tracks would be cleared and usable shortly after noon.

Flood Threatens Kansas City Area

New Sections in Oklahoma and Texas Harassed; Four Are Dead

By The Associated Press

Flood waters, fed by rampaging rivers and creeks, threatened a 30-block section of Kansas' largest city and harassed new areas in Oklahoma and Texas today.

The high waters have caused at least four deaths, isolated many rural homes, and cut transportation and communications.

At Wichita, Kas., a city of 200,000, national guardsmen and hundreds of volunteers sought to control the little Arkansas river.

The slowly rising waters threatened to flood a 30-block area of the city.

A flood warning was issued last night, indicating a full scale overflow was expected today. Those in danger of being surrounded by water were advised to take what they could and get to higher ground.

Despite continuous sandbagging some dikes were crumbling.

Residents Are Warned

In southwestern Oklahoma, Canton reservoir engineers warned residents to prepare for high flood waters—perhaps the greatest in history—from the Washita river. The lowlands at Fort Cobb, Anadarko and Chickasha were in the most danger.

The floods have taken at least two lives in Oklahoma. David Raimer, 14, Clinton, and Gale Simpkins, 18, Elk City, drowned. Missing is Tommy Basket of Clinton. He and David disappeared after leaving a stalled school bus to seek aid for the other occupants.

Other flood deaths included Gene Lusk, 22, a railroad workman who fell from a bridge and drowned at Syracuse, Kas., and Marion Thomas, Canadian, Tex., asphyxiated while working on a flood-damaged gas line.

Across the flaming warfront the Communists pressed forward in human sea waves despite massed allied artillery fire and searing air attacks.

Field dispatches said the toll of Red dead was terrific. But still the Communists poured southward out of the North Korean massing areas.

This was the Chinese Reds' fifth offensive since they entered the war late in November. And it appeared to be shaping up as their mightiest drive—one aimed, Red prisoners said, to throw the allies out of Korea by June 25 first anniversary of the Communist invasion.

Red commanders had a pool of 1,141,000 available troops in Korea and Manchuria, the UN command said. And they were reckless in the way they spent them.

Van Fleet Is Confident

The great Red assault is doomed to failure, Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet confidently told his allied ground forces.

UN massed artillery fired at record speed to cut attacking waves to pieces. Allied airmen complained Friday afternoon that they coudn't find many Red targets.

Field dispatches said the bugle blowing, horn tooting Chinese fell by the thousands under geysering artillery explosions. One U. S. battalion on the central front claimed an all time record for speed of sustained fire.

Barbed wire, strung extensively before U.N. positions in Korea for the first time, was hung with gruesome garlands of Chinese. Two thousand miles of wire were stretched in front of one unit.

Front line dispatches gave this picture Friday night, looking across the front from west to east:

Forces Pulled Back

American forces pulled back from Uijongbu, 11 miles north of Seoul. Red screening forces pushed to within 10 miles of the old South Korean capital.

An armored U.N. patrol was stopped 10 miles east of Seoul by a Red mine field covered by automatic weapons. A series of Red attacks failed to break U.N. lines in the west-central front Friday. South Koreans patched up the only dent. But massing Chinese, camouflaged by tree branches, hid in the woods ready to renew their assaults.

Heavy fighting raged across the central front. The allied line pulled back before waves of attacking Chinese.

Chinese poured through a break in South Korean lines. They streamed down the Inje-Hongchon road on the central front.

A veteran American division astride this road was fighting attacks on three sides. AP Correspondent Nate Polowetzky said it was in "great trouble."

Americans were rushed up to plug the gap cut in two South Korean divisions. South Korean units were badly hurt. Two retreating units were caught in a Chinese ambush. At least one of

Red Cross Drive For Funds Reaches $34,243 in County

The annual Red Cross campaign in Ulster county apparently will reach or exceed the quota of $37,137 which was set as the Ulster County Chapter's share in the national canvass for funds.

At present there has been reported a total of $34,243 with the towns of Wawarsing and New Paltz still to report. The town of Wawarsing quota is $2,500 and New Paltz $1,300. In the town of Wawarsing the canvass was delayed until the close of a campaign for funds made by the Veterans Memorial Hospital and workers there are expected to complete their canvass shortly so that a report can be made.

James Plunket, chairman of the 12th ward committee, has reported that the ward has reached its quota and gone slightly over the top. The quota was $1,500 and there was subscribed a total of $1,500.30.

It is expected that when the report from Wawarsing and New Paltz is made the 1951 Red Cross fund campaign in Ulster county will have gone over the top again. Some towns have not completed a final canvass and there are still small sums to be reported from a few of the townships. These sums however will not be large.

Late Bulletins

Bryn Mawr, Pa., May 18 (AP)—Major G. A. McLaughlin, lower Merion township police superintendent, said 11 persons are known to have been killed in the crash of two famed Pennsylvania Railroad trains here today.

Authoritative reports said at least 60 others were injured, eight of them seriously.

New York, May 18 (AP) — The United Nations Assembly today voted an arms embargo against Communist China in an effort to cut off strategic materials reaching the Reds from the free world.

Most countries outside the Communist sphere already have halted shipments to the Peiping regime, but sponsors of the embargo measure hoped it would plug loopholes and shut off shipments entirely. It was also intended as another moral judgment against the Chinese Reds.

Russia's Jacob A. Malik and representatives here of the four Soviet satellite countries contested the legality of the assembly's action and thus clearly indicated they would refuse to comply. This had been expected.

Murtagh Faces Neglect Charge

New York, May 18 (AP)—New York city's Chief Magistrate John M. Murtagh was charged today with neglect of duty while he was Mayor William O'Dwyer's investigations commissioner from 1946 to 1950.

A Brooklyn rackets probing grand jury has been studying records of the investigation department to determine whether it whitewashed gambling inquiries.

The charge against Murtagh was brought by Brooklyn District Attorney Miles F. McDonald on a "district attorney's information," or affidavit. It was presented to Brooklyn County Judge Samuel S. Leibowitz.

Leibowitz paroled Murtagh in custody of his counsel, Lloyd Paul Stryker, and informed Stryker that defense motions would be heard May 28.

In his $15,000-a-year post, Murtagh heads all city magistrates' courts. They dispose of misdemeanor cases and can dismiss felony cases or refer them to a higher court.

Murtagh was appointed chief magistrate by O'Dwyer a year ago, shortly before the mayor resigned to become ambassader to Mexico.

McDonald charged that Murtagh, as investigations commissioner, "failed, neglected and omitted" to report results of his investigations to the mayor.

After hearing defense motions, Leibowitz can decide whether the charge against Murtagh should be dismissed or whether it can be prosecuted.

Loses His Dimes, Wrecks Pay Phone

New York, May 18 (AP)—Odell Simpson became so angry with a telephone which failed to return three dimes that he ripped it from its moorings and hit a store proprietor on the head with it, police reported last night.

Simpson, a 27-year-old Negro truckdriver, of 625 Tinton avenue, the Bronx, was booked on charges of felonious assault and malicious mischief, Detective Frank Weber said.

Simpson received a busy signal when he tried to make a call in a candy-store phone booth at 807 East 152nd street, the Bronx, but his dime didn't come back. He put in two more dimes and nothing happened.

Then he began to rip the ear-and-mouthpiece from the wall, Weber said, and when the proprietor urged him to "take it up with the telephone company," he hit him on the head with the loosened piece, knocking him out, and fled.

The proprietor, Pasquale Diaz, 46, of 1010 Rogers place, the Bronx, was held overnight at Morrisania hospital, where three stitches were put in his scalp.

Three Binghamton Men Killed in Car Crash

Endicott, N. Y., May 18 (AP)—Three Binghamton men were killed and another was injured seriously early today in a head-on crash of two automobiles on the George F. highway near here.

The dead were identified as: Thomas Wojcieckowski, 23; Francis Kisczor, 28, and James M. Long, Jr.

Edward Kuzia was reported in serious condition in a hospital. He was pinned in the flaming wreckage, but the fire was extinguished by a passer-by.

Police said Wojcieckowski, Kisczor and Kuzia were riding in one car, and that Long was alone in the second.

They said an unidentified red convertible, attempting to pass the east-bound car containing the three men, pulled into the west-bound lane. The auto driven by Long then swung into the path of the east-bound car in an effort to avoid the on-coming convertible, police said.

The four-lane highway connects Endicott and Johnson City, in south-central New York state.

Whereas, the governor of the State of New York has proclaimed the 19th day of May 1951 as Armed Forces Day and has invited our citizenry to render appropriate honor to the armed forces of our country as well as to all veterans of the services now honorably retired to civilian life; and,

Amount of Aid

Washington, May 18 (AP)—The United States sent $96,700,000 in military aid goods during March to countries taking part in the mutual defense assistance program, the Census Bureau reported today. Marshall Plan countries got $78,200,000 of that, plus $298,100,-000 in non-military items.

Wrath Expressed

slightest exception being taken thereto."

As for the March 24 offer to the Chinese Red commander, MacArthur said:

"Such action on my part could only be regarded as supplementary to and in full support of any political move toward peace unless an agreement was in contemplation of the enemy's own terms."

Other Statements

In an expansive mood at his news conference, the President also said that:

1. Secretary of State Acheson cautioned at an April 6 White House conference against MacArthur's removal on grounds it would stir up a political fuss. And it did, he was right, the President added with a grin.

2. He is happy the Senate Armed Forces and Foreign Relations Committees upheld yesterday a ruling that Gen. Omar Bradley did not have to divulge what was said by whom at the April 6 White House meeting.

That decision was taken by the committees by an 18 to 8 vote. They then postponed until Monday the reopening of hearings into MacArthur's ouster, calling of a session planned for today.

Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, will return to the stand Monday. His testimony was interrupted two days ago when he declined to recount to senators conversations at the White House conference five days before MacArthur was fired.

Bradley argued that was a confidential matter between the President and his advisers. Mr. Truman agreed.

Ought to Be Willing

The President's disclosure of Acheson's part in that conference prompted an observation by Brewster that the secretary of state now ought to be willing to explain his attitude fully to the committees.

On the other hand, Chairman Connally (D.-Tex.) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee told a reporter the President's statements ought to set at rest reports he was "influenced by somebody else" in his decision to sack MacArthur.

Hickenlooper said it appears the President "misled the public for a long time by saying he backed up MacArthur while, as he now admits, he had it in mind to replace him."

"If his mind was made up in advance, why was it necessary to go through the monkey business of all those conferences?" the senator asked. "This sounds like a fantastic performance."

The President said he went all the way to Wake Island last October to see MacArthur and that he thought he had a policy agreement with the general then.

The President said he didn't want to fire MacArthur. He didn't want to do anything to injure any of the men for whom he had asked Congress to grant five stars and additional pay, he added.

But he said the situation had reached the point where he had to have a new general.

Calls It 'Right'

Asked about the Senate committee's action on Bradley, Mr. Truman said it was exactly right. He added that his decisions and actions were his own and his conversations with his advisers and his staff were his own business.

Six Republicans joined with 12 Democrats in voting to uphold Bradley's refusal to talk about the April 6 conference. They were Senators H. Alexander Smith of New Jersey, Lodge and Saltonstall of Massachusetts, Tobey of New Hampshire, Morse of Oregon and Flanders of Vermont.

Flanders told a reporter that when Acheson appears he will be "in a somewhat different position" than Bradley since he is a cabinet officer. He said the outcome might be different if Acheson refuses to answer some questions.

Senators Gillette (D.-Iowa) and Fulbright (D-Ark.) voted with six Republicans to attempt to force Bradley to answer.

Fulbright said he voted that way so the matter might be decided finally by the courts and thus shut off possible "whitewash" cries by the Republicans.

MacArthur, in his comment on the President's remarks, noted he had received from Mr. Truman "number of most commendatory messages * * * the last one being as late as last January," he added.

"I had no slightest inkling of any such dissatisfaction from the President or from anyone else until the receipt of my order of relief."

Red Cross Drive For Funds Reaches $34,243 in County

The annual Red Cross campaign in Ulster county apparently will reach or exceed the quota of $37,137 which was set as the Ulster County Chapter's share in the national canvass for funds.

At present there has been reported a total of $34,243 with the towns of Wawarsing and New Paltz still to report. The town of Wawarsing quota is $2,500 and New Paltz $1,300. In the town of Wawarsing the canvass was delayed until the close of a campaign for funds made by the Veterans Memorial Hospital and workers there are expected to complete their canvass shortly so that a report can be made.

James Plunket, chairman of the 12th ward committee, has reported that the ward has reached its quota and gone slightly over the top. The quota was $1,500 and there was subscribed a total of $1,500.30.

It is expected that when the report from Wawarsing and New Paltz is made the 1951 Red Cross fund campaign in Ulster county will have gone over the top again. Some towns have not completed a final canvass and there are still small sums to be reported from a few of the townships. These sums however will not be large.

Late Bulletins

Bryn Mawr, Pa., May 18 (AP)—Major G. A. McLaughlin, lower Merion township police superintendent, said 11 persons are known to have been killed in the crash of two famed Pennsylvania Railroad trains here today.

Authoritative reports said at least 60 others were injured, eight of them seriously.

New York, May 18 (AP) — The United Nations Assembly today voted an arms embargo against Communist China in an effort to cut off strategic materials reaching the Reds from the free world.

Most countries outside the Communist sphere already have halted shipments to the Peiping regime, but sponsors of the embargo measure hoped it would plug loopholes and shut off shipments entirely. It was also intended as another moral judgment against the Chinese Reds.

Russia's Jacob A. Malik and representatives here of the four Soviet satellite countries contested the legality of the assembly's action and thus clearly indicated they would refuse to comply. This had been expected.

Murtagh Faces Neglect Charge

New York, May 18 (AP)—New York city's Chief Magistrate John M. Murtagh was charged today with neglect of duty while he was Mayor William O'Dwyer's investigations commissioner from 1946 to 1950.

A Brooklyn rackets probing grand jury has been studying records of the investigation department to determine whether it whitewashed gambling inquiries.

The charge against Murtagh was brought by Brooklyn District Attorney Miles F. McDonald on a "district attorney's information," or affidavit. It was presented to Brooklyn County Judge Samuel S. Leibowitz.

Leibowitz paroled Murtagh in custody of his counsel, Lloyd Paul Stryker, and informed Stryker that defense motions would be heard May 28.

In his $15,000-a-year post, Murtagh heads all city magistrates' courts. They dispose of misdemeanor cases and can dismiss felony cases or refer them to a higher court.

Murtagh was appointed chief magistrate by O'Dwyer a year ago, shortly before the mayor resigned to become ambassader to Mexico.

McDonald charged that Murtagh, as investigations commissioner, "failed, neglected and omitted" to report results of his investigations to the mayor.

After hearing defense motions, Leibowitz can decide whether the charge against Murtagh should be dismissed or whether it can be prosecuted.

Loses His Dimes, Wrecks Pay Phone

New York, May 18 (AP)—Odell Simpson became so angry with a telephone which failed to return three dimes that he ripped it from its moorings and hit a store proprietor on the head with it, police reported last night.

Simpson, a 27-year-old Negro truckdriver, of 625 Tinton avenue, the Bronx, was booked on charges of felonious assault and malicious mischief, Detective Frank Weber said.

Simpson received a busy signal when he tried to make a call in a candy-store phone booth at 807 East 152nd street, the Bronx, but his dime didn't come back. He put in two more dimes and nothing happened.

Then he began to rip the ear-and-mouthpiece from the wall, Weber said, and when the proprietor urged him to "take it up with the telephone company," he hit him on the head with the loosened piece, knocking him out, and fled.

The proprietor, Pasquale Diaz, 46, of 1010 Rogers place, the Bronx, was held overnight at Morrisania hospital, where three stitches were put in his scalp.

Three Binghamton Men Killed in Car Crash

Endicott, N. Y., May 18 (AP)—Three Binghamton men were killed and another was injured seriously early today in a head-on crash of two automobiles on the George F. highway near here.

The dead were identified as: Thomas Wojcieckowski, 23; Francis Kisczor, 28, and James M. Long, Jr.

Edward Kuzia was reported in serious condition in a hospital. He was pinned in the flaming wreckage, but the fire was extinguished by a passer-by.

Police said Wojcieckowski, Kisczor and Kuzia were riding in one car, and that Long was alone in the second.

They said an unidentified red convertible, attempting to pass the east-bound car containing the three men, pulled into the west-bound lane. The auto driven by Long then swung into the path of the east-bound car in an effort to avoid the on-coming convertible, police said.

The four-lane highway connects Endicott and Johnson City, in south-central New York state.

Proclamation

Armed Forces Day

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk today issued the following proclamation in support of observance of Armed Forces Day:

Whereas, the governor of the State of New York has proclaimed the 19th day of May 1951 as Armed Forces Day and has invited our citizenry to render appropriate honor to the armed forces of our country as well as to all veterans of the services now honorably retired to civilian life; and,

Whereas, our armed forces at their several posts, fields, garrisons and stations within our shores, in our island possessions, in our foreign zones of occupation, and in Korea, courageously and unselfishly ever protect and promote those sacred doctrines of liberty upon which our nation was founded and has grown great; and,

Whereas, it is eminently fitting and proper that our gratitude and appreciation for the devotion and zeal of our armed forces be given concrete personal expression.

Now, Therefore, I, Oscar V. Newkirk, mayor of the City of Kingston, do hereby proclaim May 19 as Armed Forces Day,

And remind the citizens of Kingston to join their countrymen in common dedication of this day to the Armed Forces of the United States of America and to those men and women who have with high honor followed our flag in peace and war, and ask all citizens of the City of Kingston to display the American Flag on Saturday, May 19.

The The Weather Bureau said it probably would continue to move slowly eastward, away from the Florida coast. Islands in the northern Bahamas may get strong winds.

Amount of Aid

Washington, May 18 (AP)—The United States sent $96,700,000 in military aid goods during March to countries taking part in the mutual defense assistance program, the Census Bureau reported today. Marshall Plan countries got $78,200,000 of that, plus $298,100,000 in non-military items.

Wrath Expressed

slightest exception being taken thereto."

As for the March 24 offer to the Chinese Red commander, MacArthur said:

"Such action on my part could only be regarded as supplementary to and in full support of any political move toward peace unless an agreement was in contemplation of the enemy's own terms."

Other Statements

In an expansive mood at his news conference, the President also said that:

1. Secretary of State Acheson cautioned at an April 6 White House conference against MacArthur's removal on grounds it would stir up a political fuss. And it did, he was right, the President added with a grin.

2. He is happy the Senate Armed Forces and Foreign Relations Committees upheld yesterday a ruling that Gen. Omar Bradley did not have to divulge what was said by whom at the April 6 White House meeting.

That decision was taken by the committees by an 18 to 8 vote. They then postponed until Monday the reopening of hearings into MacArthur's ouster, calling of a session planned for today.

Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, will return to the stand Monday. His testimony was interrupted two days ago when he declined to recount to senators conversations at the White House conference five days before MacArthur was fired.

Bradley argued that was a confidential matter between the President and his advisers. Mr. Truman agreed.

Ought to Be Willing

The President's disclosure of Acheson's part in that conference prompted an observation by Brewster that the secretary of state now ought to be willing to explain his attitude fully to the committees.

On the other hand, Chairman Connally (D.-Tex.) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee told a reporter the President's statements ought to set at rest reports he was "influenced by somebody else" in his decision to sack MacArthur.

Hickenlooper said it appears the President "misled the public for a long time by saying he backed up MacArthur while, as he now admits, he had it in mind to replace him."

"If his mind was made up in advance, why was it necessary to go through the monkey business of all those conferences?" the senator asked. "This sounds like a fantastic performance."

The President said he went all the way to Wake Island last October to see MacArthur and that he thought he had a policy agreement with the general then.

The President said he didn't want to fire MacArthur. He didn't want to do anything to injure any of the men for whom he had asked Congress to grant five stars and additional pay, he added.

But he said the situation had reached the point where he had to have a new general.

Calls It 'Right'

Asked about the Senate committee's action on Bradley, Mr. Truman said it was exactly right. He added that his decisions and actions were his own and his conversations with his advisers and his staff were his own business.

Six Republicans joined with 12 Democrats in voting to uphold Bradley's refusal to talk about the April 6 conference. They were Senators H. Alexander Smith of New Jersey, Lodge and Saltonstall of Massachusetts, Tobey of New Hampshire, Morse of Oregon and Flanders of Vermont.

Flanders told a reporter that when Acheson appears he will be "in a somewhat different position" than Bradley since he is a cabinet officer. He said the outcome might be different if Acheson refuses to answer some questions.

Senators Gillette (D.-Iowa) and Fulbright (D-Ark.) voted with six Republicans to attempt to force Bradley to answer.

Fulbright said he voted that way so the matter might be decided finally by the courts and thus shut off possible "whitewash" cries by the Republicans.

MacArthur, in his comment on the President's remarks, noted he had received from Mr. Truman "number of most commendatory messages * * * the last one being as late as last January," he added.

"I had no slightest inkling of any such dissatisfaction from the President or from anyone else until the receipt of my order of relief."

Red Cross Drive For Funds Reaches $34,243 in County

The annual Red Cross campaign in Ulster county apparently will reach or exceed the quota of $37,137 which was set as the Ulster County Chapter's share in the national canvass for funds.

At present there has been reported a total of $34,243 with the towns of Wawarsing and New Paltz still to report. The town of Wawarsing quota is $2,500 and New Paltz $1,300. In the town of Wawarsing the canvass was delayed until the close of a campaign for funds made by the Veterans Memorial Hospital and workers there are expected to complete their canvass shortly so that a report can be made.

James Plunket, chairman of the 12th ward committee, has reported that the ward has reached its quota and gone slightly over the top. The quota was $1,500 and there was subscribed a total of $1,500.30.

It is expected that when the report from Wawarsing and New Paltz is made the 1951 Red Cross fund campaign in Ulster county will have gone over the top again. Some towns have not completed a final canvass and there are still small sums to be reported from a few of the townships. These sums however will not be large.

Bryn Mawr, Pa., May 18 (AP)—Major G. A. McLaughlin, lower Merion township police superintendent, said 11 persons are known to have been killed in the crash of two famed Pennsylvania Railroad trains here today.

Authoritative reports said at least 60 others were injured, eight of them seriously.

New York, May 18 (AP) — The United Nations Assembly today voted an arms embargo against Communist China in an effort to cut off strategic materials reaching the Reds from the free world.

Most countries outside the Communist sphere already have halted shipments to the Peiping regime, but sponsors of the embargo measure hoped it would plug loopholes and shut off shipments entirely. It was also intended as another moral judgment against the Chinese Reds.

Russia's Jacob A. Malik and representatives here of the four Soviet satellite countries contested the legality of the assembly's action and thus clearly indicated they would refuse to comply. This had been expected.

Murtagh Faces Neglect Charge

New York, May 18 (AP)—New York city's Chief Magistrate John M. Murtagh was charged today with neglect of duty while he was Mayor William O'Dwyer's investigations commissioner from 1946 to 1950.

A Brooklyn rackets probing grand jury has been studying records of the investigation department to determine whether it whitewashed gambling inquiries.

The charge against Murtagh was brought by Brooklyn District Attorney Miles F. McDonald on a "district attorney's information," or affidavit. It was presented to Brooklyn County Judge Samuel S. Leibowitz.

Leibowitz paroled Murtagh in custody of his counsel, Lloyd Paul Stryker, and informed Stryker that defense motions would be heard May 28.

In his $15,000-a-year post, Murtagh heads all city magistrates' courts. They dispose of misdemeanor cases and can dismiss felony cases or refer them to a higher court.

Murtagh was appointed chief magistrate by O'Dwyer a year ago, shortly before the mayor resigned to become ambassador to Mexico.

McDonald charged that Murtagh, as investigations commissioner, "failed, neglected and omitted" to report results of his investigations to the mayor.

After hearing defense motions, Leibowitz can decide whether the charge against Murtagh should be dismissed or whether it can be prosecuted.

Loses His Dimes, Wrecks Pay Phone

New York, May 18 (AP)—Odell Simpson became so angry with a telephone which failed to return three dimes that he ripped it from its moorings and hit a store proprietor on the head with it, police reported last night.

Simpson, a 27-year-old Negro truckdriver, of 625 Tinton avenue, the Bronx, was booked on charges of felonious assault and malicious mischief, Detective Frank Weber said.

Simpson received a busy signal when he tried to make a call in a candy-store phone booth at 807 East 152nd street, the Bronx, but his dime didn't come back. He put in two more dimes and nothing happened.

Then he began to rip the ear-and-mouthpiece from the wall, Weber said, and when the proprietor urged him to "take it up with the telephone company," he hit him on the head with the loosened piece, knocking him out, and fled.

The proprietor, Pasquale Diaz, 46, of 1010 Rogers place, the Bronx, was held overnight at Morrisania hospital, where three stitches were put in his scalp.

Three Binghamton Men Killed in Car Crash

Endicott, N. Y., May 18 (AP)—Three Binghamton men were killed and another was injured seriously early today in a head-on crash of two automobiles on the George F. highway near here.

The dead were identified as:

Thomas Wojcieckowski, 23; Francis Kisczor, 28, and James M. Long, Jr.

Edward Kuzia was reported in serious condition in a hospital. He was pinned in the flaming wreckage, but the fire was extinguished by a passer-by.

Police said Wojcieckowski, Kisczor and Kuzia were riding in one car, and that Long was alone in the second.

They said an unidentified red convertible, attempting to pass the east-bound car containing the three men, pulled into the west-bound lane. The auto driven by Long then swung into the path of the east-bound car in an effort to avoid the on-coming convertible, police said.

The four-lane highway connects Endicott and Johnson City, in south-central New York state.

Whereas, the governor of the State of New York has proclaimed the 19th day of May 1951 as Armed Forces Day and has invited our citizenry to render appropriate honor to the armed forces of our country as well as to all veterans of the services now honorably retired to civilian life; and,

Whereas, our armed forces at their several posts, fields, garrisons and stations within our shores, in our island possessions, in our foreign zones of occupation, and in Korea, courageously and unselfishly ever protect and promote those sacred doctrines of liberty upon which our nation was founded and has grown great; and,

Whereas, it is eminently fitting and proper that our gratitude and appreciation for the devotion and zeal of our armed forces be given concrete personal expression.

Now, Therefore, I, Oscar V. Newkirk, mayor of the City of Kingston, do hereby proclaim May 19 as Armed Forces Day,

Amount of Aid

Washington, May 18 (AP)—The United States sent $96,700,000 in military aid goods during March to countries taking part in the mutual defense assistance program, the Census Bureau reported today. Marshall Plan countries got $78,200,000 of that, plus $298,100,-000 in non-military items.

Wrath Expressed

slightest exception being taken thereto."

As for the March 24 offer to the Chinese Red commander, MacArthur said:

"Such action on my part could only be regarded as supplementary to and in full support of any political move toward peace unless an agreement was in contemplation of the enemy's own terms."

Other Statements

In an expansive mood at his news conference, the President also said that:

1. Secretary of State Acheson cautioned at an April 6 White House conference against MacArthur's removal on grounds it would stir up a political fuss. And it did, he was right, the President added with a grin.

2. He is happy the Senate Armed Forces and Foreign Relations Committees upheld yesterday a ruling that Gen. Omar Bradley did not have to divulge what was said by whom at the April 6 White House meeting.

That decision was taken by the committees by an 18 to 8 vote. They then postponed until Monday the reopening of hearings into MacArthur's ouster, calling of a session planned for today.

Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, will return to the stand Monday. His testimony was interrupted two days ago when he declined to recount to senators conversations at the White House conference five days before MacArthur was fired.

Bradley argued that was a confidential matter between the President and his advisers. Mr. Truman agreed.

Ought to Be Willing

The President's disclosure of Acheson's part in that conference prompted an observation by Brewster that the secretary of state now ought to be willing to explain his attitude fully to the committees.

On the other hand, Chairman Connally (D.-Tex.) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee told a reporter the President's statements ought to set at rest reports he was "influenced by somebody else" in his decision to sack MacArthur.

Hickenlooper said it appears the President "misled the public for a long time by saying he backed up MacArthur while, as he now admits, he had it in mind to replace him."

"If his mind was made up in advance, why was it necessary to go through the monkey business of all those conferences?" the senator asked. "This sounds like a fantastic performance."

The President said he went all the way to Wake Island last October to see MacArthur and that he thought he had a policy agreement with the general then.

The President said he didn't want to fire MacArthur. He didn't want to do anything to injure any of the men for whom he had asked Congress to grant five stars and additional pay, he added.

But he said the situation had reached the point where he had to have a new general.

Calls It 'Right'

Asked about the Senate committee's action on Bradley, Mr. Truman said it was exactly right. He added that his decisions and actions were his own and his conversations with his advisers and his staff were his own business.

Six Republicans joined with 12 Democrats in voting to uphold Bradley's refusal to talk about the April 6 conference. They were Senators H. Alexander Smith of New Jersey, Lodge and Saltonstall of Massachusetts, Tobey of New Hampshire, Morse of Oregon and Flanders of Vermont.

Flanders told a reporter that when Acheson appears he will be "in a somewhat different position" than Bradley since he is a cabinet officer. He said the outcome might be different if Acheson refuses to answer some questions.

Senators Gillette (D.-Iowa) and Fulbright (D-Ark.) voted with six Republicans to attempt to force Bradley to answer.

Fulbright said he voted that way so the matter might be decided finally by the courts and thus shut off possible "whitewash" cries by the Republicans.

MacArthur, in his comment on the President's remarks, noted he had received from Mr. Truman "number of most commendatory messages * * * the last one being as late as last January," he added.

"I had no slightest inkling of any such dissatisfaction from the President or from anyone else until the receipt of my order of relief."

Sanford Cross is leader, has been selected to represent Ulster county in the state poultry demonstration contest at Syracuse on Wednesday, May 23. Winner of the Ulster county contest and in the zone poultry demonstration contest, he has been chosen as one of sixteen state winners and will represent Ulster county at the state-wide contest which will be held at the Hotel Syracuse next week. The winner of the contest at Syracuse will represent the state at the Northeast territory contest.

Bowman's demonstration will be on how to raise baby chicks for the first six weeks and 100 day old chicks have been donated by the Kauder poultry farm at New Paltz for the contest.

This is the seventh annual State Poultry Demonstration Contest and promises to be one of the most successful. The contestants will be judged by three prominent judges. Among those who will attend the demonstration is State Club Leader Albert Hoefer who will attend the annual banquet to be held at 6 p. m. that date in the Hotel Syracuse. Nanuet Man's Body Found at Milford

Milford, Pa., May 18 (AP)—The body of Ephriam S. McClelland, Jr., 33, of (14 Cottage St.) Nanuet, N. Y., missing since April 16, was found last night on the farm of Donald Cuddeback, three miles northeast of here.

The body was in a corn field, covered with corn stalks.

Coroner Walter E. Degen, of Pike county, gave a verdict of death by exposure. He said there was no evidence of violence.

A search for McClelland was conducted after a bundle of clothing, in which police found his name, was discovered on a Delaware river beach in Milford April 16. At the time it was believed he had drowned.

Police said today he apparently walked from the beach three miles to the corn field and covered himself with corn stalks.

Bandit Robs Bar

New York, May 18 (AP)—An armed bandit robbed a bar and grill at 691 East 163rd street, the Bronx, of $86 at 1:45 a. m. today. Ralph Caputo, the proprietor, told police he was alone when a Negro entered and took $73 from the cash register and $13 from Caputo's pocket.

Sterley Praises Kiwanis for Work Among City Youth

Surrogate John B. Sterley at a luncheon speech on Thursday lauded the Kingston Kiwanis Club for its work for the youth of this city.

Present unsettled and unpredictable world conditions make it necessary for boys and girls to get all the help they can, he said. He praised the work of the scholarship committee in helping boys and girls get an education which is something that will always remain with a person, even if physicial property is taken away. The 4-H Club baby chick project and other youth work was also commended by Judge Sterley.

The history of the surrogate's court, its functions, jurisdiction and responsibilities were outlined by Judge Sterley during his talk, which was a part of the club's program at the Governor Clinton Hotel on Thursday.

Invited to Hobby Show

Miss Justine Rowe was present as a guest and urged all Kiwanians to attend the YWCA Hobby Show to be held at the municipal auditorium Thursday, Friday and Saturday, May 24 to 26.

H. Van Wyck Darrow, club secretary, revealed after the meeting that more than 20 couples from Kingston expect to make the trip to West Point on Saturday for the Hudson River Division inter-club ladies' night at the Hotel Thayer, honoring Kiwanis Governor James Whitman. A tour of the military academy will be taken during the afternoon by Kiwanians and guests.

Scout Leaders Are To Attend Parley

Adult Boy Scout Leaders of the Kingston District of the Rip Van Winkle Council will hold their annual district meeting Monday evening, May 21, at the Church of the Redeemer. District business will include the election of officers for 1951-52.

Samuel Trull, district chairman, will preside at the business session. Frank Bourke, district commissioner, will lead a roundtable discussion for scoutmasters. Final plans will be made for participation in the Memorial Day Parade and the Council Camporee, the latter to be held at Camp Tri-Mount, East Jewett, June 1, 2 and 3.

Boy Scouts of Troop 9, sponsored by the Church of the Redeemer, under the direction of Scoutmaster William Daum, will be hosts for the district meeting.

State Bank Bids Kerhonkson Bonds

Bids were opened at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon on the $95,000 twenty year bond issue for an addition to the Kerhonkson high school. Low bidder was the State of New York National Bank of Kingston with a bid of 2¼ per cent interest. The high bid was by Bacin & Stevenson of New York city who bid 2.60 per cent. The board will meet and make a decision on acceptance of the bid.

The bidding yesterday on the Kerhonkson bond issue reflects the increasing rate of interest which has been predicted for some time. In the past bids of under 2 per cent have been common.

Work on the construction of the addition is under way.

U. S. Might Punch

may act soon to approve a four-cent hourly "productivity" pay boost for more than 500,000 CIO Auto Workers Union members. This also would be an exception to the ten per cent limit.

May Lead to Retreat

These and other cases may lead the wage board to retreat to a new and more generous overall wage ceiling. In many of the hundreds of ceiling-piercing cases awaiting board approval, employers have joined the unions in asking an OK for higher than ten per cent increases.

The wage board yesterday exempted several million farm workers from wage controls, leaving only 20 or 25 per cent of the nation's agricultural employes under controls.

What the board did—in a unanimous decision of industry, labor and public members—was to rule that farm employers may raise wages at will so long as the increases don't bring pay raises above 95 cents an hour.

Farm employers may also raise pay rates above 95 cents an hour without board approval provided the increases don't exceed ten per cent of top rates paid in their 1950 crop season. Special provisions were announced for workers paid by the month and those whose pay includes room and board.

before the broad compulsory training can get under way. The Senate, on the other hand, would permit military training of four to six months for all young men reaching 18 to start as soon as the need for the draft ends.

Some House members have suggested that provisions of the Selective Service, or Draft Act, be handled separately and the UMT dispute settled later. The present Draft Act expires July 9.

But Senate conferees hope to settle the UMT issue now.

Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, draft director, said yesterday the draft will have a very tough job filling the manpower goals by the fall of 1952 and urged a permanent program. He spoke in New York city before the American Management Association.

Electric Service Affected

Electric service in the Stone Ridge area was affected for a time Thursday afternoon about 3 o'clock when a tree fell on a primary circuit and broke the wire during a heavy windstorm. Some areas were affected for a couple of hours while repairs were being made while other sections were without power only a short time when current was switched through other circuits.

A NEW CANAL

Shippers believe that by 1960 the Panama Canal will be so clogged by traffic as to impose increasingly serious delays on shipping. This belief leads a well-known geologist, Dr. William H. Hobbs, to consider whether the present canal should be enlarged or a new one built to supplement it.

One trouble with Panama is its vulnerability to bombing. It would still be so, even if the present lock canal were converted to a sea-level channel and doubled in width. That reconstruction would, it is estimated, take ten years and cost $2,500,000,000.

Where could a supplementary canal be built? Of two possible sites, one through Nicaragua is tempting because Lake Nicaragua and the San Juan River would materially reduce the amount of digging. On the other hand, there is constant danger from earthquakes. During the past three centuries two cities near the site of the proposed canal have been destroyed seven times each by earthquakes.

On this account Dr. Hobbs proposes the selection of the Isthmus of Tehuantepec in Mexico, which is free from earthquakes. Its distance of 165 miles between the Atlantic and the Pacific is eight miles less than the Nicaraguan route. (Panama is much shorter, only 51 miles long.) Tehuantepec, being a thousand miles north of Panama, would not be endangered by an attack on the present canal. Also, while the new canal was being built the old could continue to operate. The Tehuantepec route would cut 2,000 miles off the sea lanes for all traffic except that to South America. It would be much nearer to American and Mexican air fields, and therefore easier to guard.

One hitch is that Mexico would have to grant permission to cut the severing channel across her territory. That should not be impossible to arrange.

Everything is a matter of degree. A man who works in the noise of a boiler factory would regard most other places as comparatively quiet. A person who lives in a lonely house in the country might find the noise in a village irritating.

A SENSE OF HOME

Thirteen hundred Marines have arrived in California from the battlefront in Korea. They will spend furloughs in their home towns and will walk again in remembered places. The trip home after the loneliness and misery of war will renew their faith in what they were fighting for in Korea.

Since almost the beginning of time man has wandered away from the place he calls home. He has gone off to seek adventure or fortune, to see what lay on the other side of the ocean or on the other side of the hill. Usually he turns his face in the direction of home after his wanderings with a fresh sense of wonder and affection for the things he left when he first wandered.

There is no feeling in the world like that of coming home when one has been away for a long time. A walk past familiar buildings, under trees that were there when one was just a boy, the sight of a neighbor who runs to shake hands— all these are part of the homecoming. The common things like the appearance of the home town paper, the sound of the bark of the neighbor's dog, the sight of women hanging clothes in yards he played in as a boy—all these are good to the eyes and ears and heart of the man who comes home.

Reading good books is of particular merit for some people. It helps take their minds off themselves.

SMILE FOR AN UMBRELLA

"Just let a smile be your umbrella on a rainy, rainy day," advised a popular song a few years back. It is a catchy and romantic idea, though not very practical. Anyone who tried it would immediately discover that the song-writer's apparent faith in the rain-proofing capacity of a smile was sadly misplaced.

The smile can make a world of difference in the aspect of the rainy day, however. Whether one is under a genuine umbrella, and therefore relatively dry, or exposed to the elements and therefore wet, a smile can make the whole business appear to be something tolerable, even acceptable, rather than dreary and annoying. It makes this change not only for the wearer of the smile, but also for those he meets. A smile won't keep you dry, but it can help you to endure being wet.

'These Days'

THE WARMONGER

The strategy of administration spokesmen has been of a pattern: General MacArthur is a militarist; he seeks an all-out war with Soviet Russia; he lacks judgment; the President cannot have an atomic war on his conscience.

It is amazing how impudently and unabashedly this argument is being pursued. One would iamagine that it was General MacArthur who built up the Russian war potential by making an unconditional lend-lease of $11,000,000,000 to Stalin. Actually, it was Franklin D. Roosevelt who, disregarding the whole of Russian history with its insatiable land hunger, went to the support of Stalin after June 22, 1941, without making a contract as to the terms of American aid and the limits of Russian expansion. At that time, General MacArthur was in the Philippines and was not consulted and did not have to be.

Nor was he consulted at the Teheran and Yalta conferences at which the United States made it possible for Stalin to expand into China; to take Manchuria as Suzerain; to re-establish Russian power in the ports of Dairen and Port Arthur, seized from China by Russia as a result of the secret Li-Lobanoff treaty (1896); taken from Russia by Japan in 1905; reverting to China in accordance with the Cairo agreement of November 26, 1943—restored to Russia by Roosevelt and Churchill by the Teheran agreement of December 1, 1943, and the Yalta agreement of February 11, 1945.

General Douglas MacArthur had nothing to do with any of that, except that he was ordered into Korea suddenly and unprepared because our position in Japan had become imperilled on June 25, 1950. Then he was told to fight North Korea and Soviet China but not to risk war with Soviet Russia, an enterprise which has already cost the American people more than 65,000 casualties and more than 11,000 lives, if those figures are complete, which I doubt.

General George Marshall seems not to be familiar with the geography of Manchuria, Korea and the maritime provinces of Siberia. Moving into Korea from the sea is like banging your head against a stone wall. Actually, the simplest way to conquer Korea is to go into Manchuria through Dairen and Port Arthur, to center on Mukden or Changchun and then to move into Korea from the west. Another way, available only when navigation is possible, is through Vladivostok, the Siberian port and then down the passes into Korea.

The alternative to that is a vast air campaign west of the Yalu, striking at bases in Manchuria. I know this entire area first hand, from many visits to it. One cannot get the feel of this terrain without having been in it. General Marshall speaks of Manchuria, Korea and Siberia as though it were level land like a Kansas prairie

It would seem from the attitude of President Truman that we are caught in a trap from which we cannot fight. What then are we to do? The logic of their position cannot be the appeasement of Stalin. Due to Teheran, Yalta and Potsdam, he is sitting pretty. All he needs to do is to bang off weak nations and to look forward to continued appeasement by the United States.

If you were Stalin, sitting in the Kremlin under such circumstances, what would you do? You are told by the highest authority in the United States, the President himself, that he will not risk an atomic war. He will go up to that, but no further. So what would you do? Try to think the problem out as Stalin would. You would take every soft spot on earth, threatening an atomic war, until the United States either had to put up or shut up. That is exactly what Stalin is doing. He must expect the United States to back away after having read the Marshall testimony.

It would seem that the real alternative to war that the President and General Marshall offer the American people is complete withdrawal from world leadership—a complete and total isolation, strictly minding our own business and doing nothing that would annoy Stalin so that he will not attack the United States.

Perhaps Dean Acheson could reach an agreement with Stalin on such a program. But would Stalin live up to it? Has he kept a single agreement made with the United States since 1933?

That Body of Yours

LESS TIME IN HOSPITAL

Today a patient, under his physician's advice, can drive his car to hospital one morning, be prepared for a hernia operation that same morning, be allowed on his feet for a few moments that same night, and be allowed up out of bed the next day for a few minutes, two or three times during the day, and drive his car home the fifth day. This is a great change from the two or three weeks' stay in hospital that formerly prevailed.

One of the reasons for the change, as far as a hernia operation is concerned, is that the individual is not sick, no infection is present, and it is therefore safe for him to move his body, thereby helping circulation of blood and digestion and preventing constipation. Even when the patient has an infection such as appendicitis, the stay in hospital is now shortened to a week or 10 days when no complications are present.

It can be seen readily how a stay of five to 10 days instead of two to three weeks is going to make more hospital beds available for patients although, as mentioned above, this is not the reason for the short hospital stay. Early rising from bed after illness or operation enables the patient to get back his strength in less time and be in better shape physically than if he remained in bed longer.

Another recent finding of interest to physicians, nurses, the patient and the patient's family is that the use of the bed-pan in most cases is harder on the patient, requiring more physical, mental and emotional effort, than the use of an adjoining commode.

In The Journal of the American Medical Association, Drs. Joseph G. Benton, Henry Brown and Howard A. Rusk, New York city, with the technical assistance of Jean Birnbaum, M.S., report that because of the remark of many patients, "I didn't mind the operation or anything at all about the hospital except the bed-pan," they investigated the amount of effort required for use of bed-pan and commode.

By measuring the amount of oxygen used by 15 patients with active heart disease and 15 heart patients whose hearts were compensated (heart able to pump necessary blood without breathlessness) it was found that the energy expenditure was higher in use of bed-pans than in use of commode. There may, of course, be exceptions to this general rule, according to individual reactions.

Nothing to Back It Up

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — For some time this column has called attention to the shipment of war materials behind the Iron Curtain by European nations. It is only fair, however, to point out that some American businessmen also have been guilty of the same practice.

Most people don't realize that a steady trickle of strategic materials has been reaching Communist countries from the U.S.A. Here are some American firms which have been transshipping:

1. Rolfe G. Grote of New York, who sent chemicals to Switzerland, later transshipped them to Soviet Russia.

2. The Pacific Trading Corporation of Boston which transshipped steel plates to Communist China.

3. The Harris Chemical Corporation of New York which obtained a license to ship chemicals to Belgium, then transshipped them to Communist Czechoslovakia.

Last December 27 this column also revealed that the Aluminum Corporation of Canada, an affiliate of the Mellon-controlled Aluminum Corporation of America, had shipped 3,000,000 pounds of aluminum to Communist Czechoslovakia, and 1,000,000 pounds of aluminum to Communist Poland, at a time when the American public was getting dangerously short.

Note—It is also a regrettable fact that Formosa, where Chiang Kai-shek is in control, has sent some materials to Communist China, while Japan did the same thing while General MacArthur was in control.

No Time for Love

Harry Lundeberg is not only head of the Seafarers' International Union, but dresses and looks the part. He is tall, broad-shouldered, wears a sweater with high roll collar in the wintertime, and in the summer an open collar or no collar at all.

Lundeberg has been waging a tough and effective campaign to purge communism from the seagoing unions, and has been gunning lately for Communists in the Marine, Cooks and Stewards Union. To that end he recently testified before the National Labor Relations Board, where he made an effective presentation.

After he finished, Lundeberg walked up to Paul Herzog, chairman of the National Labor Relations Board, and stuck his nose almost in his face.

The chairman is almost the opposite of Lundeberg—thin, delicate hands, finely chiseled features.

"Listen, Herzy," bellowed the head of the Seafarers' Union, his jaw jutting close to the chairman's jaw, "what happens if this decision goes against us?"

Without batting an eye, the chairman replied: "I'm not so much worried about that as I am that it'll be for you, and you'll kiss me."

The head of the Seafarers' Union picked up his hat and left.

Tax Tempers

There were some stormy dissents inside the House Ways and Means Committee before it tentatively approved a 3 per cent, across-the-board boost in individual income taxes.

"This is an unfair imposition on the lower-bracket taxpayers," insisted Democrat Wilbur Mills of Arkansas. "Most of the new revenue in this legislation will come from the lower brackets anyhow, so why saddle the poor man with the same rate of increase as the upper-bracket taxpayer?"

Rep. Hale Boggs of Louisiana, who favored a graduated increase from 2 to 4 per cent on incomes up to $10,000 a year, also strongly opposed the across-the-board formula. So did another Democrat, John Dingell of Michigan.

Dingell was furious because the committee had raised corporation taxes only to 52 per cent instead of to 55 per cent, as recommended by the Treasury.

"The coffers of some of these big companies are bulging with unexpended cash," exclaimed Dingell. "That's where the fat is. It isn't in the little man's pocket. I'm against all these excise taxes too, which are paid by the consumers—and that applies to excises on automobiles made in my own home town.

"America lives on wheels," said the congressman from Detroit. "But if you cripple the automobile industry by increasing excises to the point where the average fellow can't afford to buy a new car you are threatening the future of our whole economy."

Rep. Dan Reed of New York, the committee's No. 1 Republican, said he was willing to "go along" by not raising individual income taxes at all. While Democrats pinched themselves to be sure they weren't dreaming, Reed hastened to explain:

"If we cut non-essential government spending to the bone, maybe we wouldn't need a tax bill."

In the showdown, however, Reed and other committee Republicans voted solidly for the income-tax boost which hits little incomes as much as it does big.

Washington Pipeline

American scientists are unable to understand why the Russians have exploded only one A-bomb. Our most elaborate scientific detecting devices have detected no indication that the Kremlin has set off a second atomic explosion. Some of our experts feel that the Reds have found a method of detonating their bombs which eludes our scientific instruments. Others claim the Russians are so far behind the U. S. in bomb development that they would merely show their lack of progress by exploding another "old fashioned" type of bomb. . . . Our underground A-bomb explosions that will soon take place will be used as a guide to U. S. engineers constructing deep underground defense centers. Our scientists are trying to discover just how deep and how strong our atomproof shelters must be. At the same time, of course, they can gauge how much damage an A-bomb would do to Russia's secret underground factories. . . . U. S. reports from Moscow state that the Russians are rushing work on six huge hydroelectric dams in the Lake Baikal area beyond the Urals. Some 300,000 workmen, men and women, are reported working even at night under floodlights to speed these huge projects. What makes the news so disturbing is that hydroelectric power in huge quantities is essential to the production of atomic and hydrogen bombs. This indicates Russia is going all out to increase its production of atomic weapons in an area relatively safe from American bombers.

President Kept His Decision Well to Get Rid of General MacArthur

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, May 18—With admirable restraint President Truman nursed his grievance against General MacArthur for more than a year and never told him about it. He even pinned a distinguished service decoration on the general at the Wake Island conference and publicly praised MacArthur's leadership. Even as late as January 13, 1951, he sent him a private message, which has only recently been made public, saying that "the entire nation is grateful for your leadership."

Now Mr. Truman says it wasn't really the letter that General MacArthur wrote to Representative Joseph W. Martin, Republican leader, which furnished the straw that broke the camel's back. To use an entirely different metaphor, the President said the letter to Martin had added fuel to the flames but he had made up his mind long before that to fire MacArthur. What a well-kept secret it was!

The exact reason, as given by the President to his Thursday news conference, was the MacArthur message of March 24 calling the Red Chinese commander to lay down his arms and agree on an armistice. Mr. Truman referred to it as an ultimatum. But that isn't accurate. For in international law an ultimatum means that, unless an enemy does a certain thing by a certain time, a certain penalty will be inflicted. MacArthur merely predicted the enemy's defeat—he didn't specify any time. He was really polite about it.

The President nevertheless says that the message to the Chinese commander should have been submitted first to the Joints Chiefs of Staff. But that is contrary to what Trygve Lie, secretary-general of the United Nations, has said publicly about the right of a field commander at any time to ask the enemy to lay down its arms.

Actually General MacArthur had a psychological-warfare set-up under which for several months leaflets had been dropped over the enemy lines urging the Red Chinese to surrender. The message of March 24 was in line with that psychological-warfare effort—and not a single message of disapproval ever came from the President or the Joints Chiefs of Staff or anyone else specifically disapproving of the sending of such surrender demands to the enemy.

Yet now Mr. Truman says this was the chief basis for the dismissal. The President referred questioners also to Secretary of Defense Marshall's testimony to the effect that MacArthur's message upset the peace plans which the administration was working out concurrently with its allies.

The facts are, however, that the proposed 14-nation declaration was circulated to 13 different foreign governments, but no copy was sent to our own Far East commander, who held the title of U.N. commander-in-chief. On March 20, a vague message saying something like it was being planned did come to him, as had many other reports of attempts in the U.N. to bring about "cease fire" negotiations. To this day the administration has refused to make public what was in that proposed 14-nation declaration, though Republican senators on Capitol Hill say it was an appeasemen plan which called for an expression of American willingness to stop fighting and agree to a restoration of the 38th Parallel. That meant a waste of everything that had been fought for since last June.

It will be interesting now to see what the Senate inquiry does on this point, for it will naturally demand to know the exact "peace" terms and what bogged down the negotiations, and why the message was not sent to General MacArthur, inasmuch as it was supposedly in the works here for at least two weeks before he addressed the Chinese commander.

Mr. Truman also referred to the message which General MacArthur sent to the convention of the veterans of foreign wars on August 28 last as something that displeased him. The general in that message pointed out that Formosa had to be defended and should not be turned over to an enemy. It has now been testified by Secretary Marshall that this has been American policy all along. Why should the President, therefore, have been displeased on April 11, 1951, over a statement of American policy if that was, indeed, the American policy as far back as August 28, 1950? It may turn out that the Department of State on that date was really willing to turn over Formosa to Red China and that General MacArthur's statement caused such a public furor that the policy had to be changed. There are lots of things yet to be revealed by the Senate inquiry.

So it all boils down to the fact that, however unhappy Mr. Truman was about General MacArthur, the Far Eastern commander, by the issuance of statements which the general believed to be within his rights as a theatre commander and as supreme allied commander, prevented Formosa from falling into enemy hands and inadvertently did demolish an appeasement plan.

It looks very much as if the President has just become aware that Secretary Marshall's explanation of the dismissal of General MacArthur isn't persuasive and that it seems expedient now to avoid making an issue of the right of members of the armed services not to suffer reprisals when they tell the truth as they see it upon the request of members of Congress.

So the President shifted to the question of alleged impropriety on the part of General MacArthur in demanding that the enemy stop fighting and surrender. It certainly is strange to learn from the lips of a President of the United States that it is improper nowadays to speak to the enemy that way and that any general who does it in the midst of battle is likely to be fired.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Lake Mead, Boulder, Nev., May 17—I feel some diffidence backing into this sick, inglorious saga because, even though I hollered "golly" in poetic rapture at the beauty of the lake, in five days I got out only twice and caught only one fish. This was a bass that would have been just barely a keeper even in Connecticut where anything over eight inches is poked full of kapok, coated with shellac, pasted on a board and hung on the back-bar at the Elks. Only the compulsions of modesty and truth wring this degrading admission from me and I am the more loath because I wish to advertise a wondrous water, lying aloof and little frequented in a mountain pocket behind the great Hoover Dam.

The new population who are flowing into our new industrial southwest only vaguely suspect the presence of this travelog and post-card public facility where the water in some of the coves is more than 500 feet deep and the morose desert stands firm at the very brink. By the evidence of typical, smug pictures taken on the dock at evening luckier men have come ashore with long strings of bass and croppie. Howard Pyle, the Republican governor of Arizona, last week caught one that weighed eleven pounds. Mr. Pyle, a radio broadcaster, in 1950 seemed as forlorn as Truman was in 1948 but breezed in with more to spare, starting a trend which, thus far, in Tucson, has elected a Republican city administration as well.

Governor Pyle's trip to the lake was both diplomatic and sporting, for the Arizona wardens, growing lonesome and restive, had been sneaking up on Nevada boats and pinching overhung crap-shooters from the gambling hells of Vegas. There is no visible demarcation in the water, but the wardens and guides agree that if you draw beads on this peak and that one you can tell where sovereignty lies.

Complications were setting in, with legalistic salts of the desert main insisting that the coast guard was the only authority on federal waters, when Governor Pyle and Governor Russell, of Nevada, another Republican, whipped up a treaty by hand. Now, for $2 more, paid in either state, the licensee gets permission to fish the waters of the other.

For some years, I had puzzled over little boats on two-wheel trailers, whipping and yawing over the high-speed desert roads. For lack of initiative I had assumed that these boatmen were going for bull-heads and carp in the irrigation canals. But recently I was incited to investigate rumors of fishing and primeval seclusion behind Parker Dam where the Juke-box never was and no-

A NEW CANAL

Shippers believe that by 1960 the Panama Canal will be so clogged by traffic as to impose increasingly serious delays on shipping. This belief leads a well-known geologist, Dr. William H. Hobbs, to consider whether the present canal should be enlarged or a new one built to supplement it.

One trouble with Panama is its vulnerability to bombing. It would still be so, even if the present lock canal were converted to a sea-level channel and doubled in width. That reconstruction would, it is estimated, take ten years and cost $2,500,000,000.

Where could a supplementary canal be built? Of two possible sites, one through Nicaragua is tempting because Lake Nicaragua and the San Juan River would materially reduce the amount of digging. On the other hand, there is constant danger from earthquakes. During the past three centuries two cities near the site of the proposed canal have been destroyed seven times each by earthquakes.

On this account Dr. Hobbs proposes the selection of the Isthmus of Tehuantepec in Mexico, which is free from earthquakes. Its distance of 165 miles between the Atlantic and the Pacific is eight miles less than the Nicaraguan route. (Panama is much shorter, only 51 miles long.) Tehuantepec, being a thousand miles north of Panama, would not be endangered by an attack on the present canal. Also, while the new canal was being built the old could continue to operate. The Tehuantepec route would cut 2,000 miles off the sea lanes for all traffic except that to South America. It would be much nearer to American and Mexican air fields, and therefore easier to guard.

One hitch is that Mexico would have to grant permission to cut the severing channel across her territory. That should not be impossible to arrange.

Everything is a matter of degree. A man who works in the noise of a boiler factory would regard most other places as comparatively quiet. A person who lives in a lonely house in the country might find the noise in a village irritating.

A SENSE OF HOME

Thirteen hundred Marines have arrived in California from the battlefront in Korea. They will spend furloughs in their home towns and will walk again in remembered places. The trip home after the loneliness and misery of war will renew their faith in what they were fighting for in Korea.

Since almost the beginning of time man has wandered away from the place he calls home. He has gone off to seek adventure or fortune, to see what lay on the other side of the ocean or on the other side of the hill. Usually he turns his face in the direction of home after his wanderings with a fresh sense of wonder and affection for the things he left when he first wandered.

There is no feeling in the world like that of coming home when one has been away for a long time. A walk past familiar buildings, under trees that were there when one was just a boy, the sight of a neighbor who runs to shake hands— all these are part of the homecoming. The common things like the appearance of the home town paper, the sound of the bark of the neighbor's dog, the sight of women hanging clothes in yards he played in as a boy—all these are good to the eyes and ears and heart of the man who comes home.

Reading good books is of particular merit for some people. It helps take their minds off themselves.

SMILE FOR AN UMBRELLA

"Just let a smile be your umbrella on a rainy, rainy day," advised a popular song a few years back. It is a catchy and romantic idea, though not very practical. Anyone who tried it would immediately discover that the song-writer's apparent faith in the rain-proofing capacity of a smile was sadly misplaced.

The smile can make a world of difference in the aspect of the rainy day, however. Whether one is under a genuine umbrella, and therefore relatively dry, or exposed to the elements and therefore wet, a smile can make the whole business appear to be something tolerable, even acceptable, rather than dreary and annoying. It makes this change not only for the wearer of the smile, but also for those he meets. A smile won't keep you dry, but it can help you to endure being wet.

THE WARMONGER

The strategy of administration spokesmen has been of a pattern: General MacArthur is a militarist; he seeks an all-out war with Soviet Russia; he lacks judgment; the President cannot have an atomic war on his conscience.

It is amazing how impudently and unabashedly this argument is being pursued. One would iamagine that it was General MacArthur who built up the Russian war potential by making an unconditional lend-lease of $11,000,000,000 to Stalin. Actually, it was Franklin D. Roosevelt who, disregarding the whole of Russian history with its insatiable land hunger, went to the support of Stalin after June 22, 1941, without making a contract as to the terms of American aid and the limits of Russian expansion. At that time, General MacArthur was in the Philippines and was not consulted and did not have to be.

Nor was he consulted at the Teheran and Yalta conferences at which the United States made it possible for Stalin to expand into China; to take Manchuria as Suzerain; to re-establish Russian power in the ports of Dairen and Port Arthur, seized from China by Russia as a result of the secret Li-Lobanoff treaty (1896); taken from Russia by Japan in 1905; reverting to China in accordance with the Cairo agreement of November 26, 1943—restored to Russia by Roosevelt and Churchill by the Teheran agreement of December 1, 1943, and the Yalta agreement of February 11, 1945.

General Douglas MacArthur had nothing to do with any of that, except that he was ordered into Korea suddenly and unprepared because our position in Japan had become imperilled on June 25, 1950. Then he was told to fight North Korea and Soviet China but not to risk war with Soviet Russia, an enterprise which has already cost the American people more than 65,000 casualties and more than 11,000 lives, if those figures are complete, which I doubt.

General George Marshall seems not to be familiar with the geography of Manchuria, Korea and the maritime provinces of Siberia. Moving into Korea from the sea is like banging your head against a stone wall. Actually, the simplest way to conquer Korea is to go into Manchuria through Dairen and Port Arthur, to center on Mukden or Changchun and then to move into Korea from the west. Another way, available only when navigation is possible, is through Vladivostok, the Siberian port and then down the passes into Korea.

The alternative to that is a vast air campaign west of the Yalu, striking at bases in Manchuria. I know this entire area first hand, from many visits to it. One cannot get the feel of this terrain without having been in it. General Marshall speaks of Manchuria, Korea and Siberia as though it were level land like a Kansas prairie

It would seem from the attitude of President Truman that we are caught in a trap from which we cannot fight. What then are we to do? The logic of their position cannot be the appeasement of Stalin. Due to Teheran, Yalta and Potsdam, he is sitting pretty. All he needs to do is to bang off weak nations and to look forward to continued appeasement by the United States.

If you were Stalin, sitting in the Kremlin under such circumstances, what would you do? You are told by the highest authority in the United States, the President himself, that he will not risk an atomic war. He will go up to that, but no further. So what would you do? Try to think the problem out as Stalin would. You would take every soft spot on earth, threatening an atomic war, until the United States either had to put up or shut up. That is exactly what Stalin is doing. He must expect the United States to back away after having read the Marshall testimony.

It would seem that the real alternative to war that the President and General Marshall offer the American people is complete withdrawal from world leadership—a complete and total isolation, strictly minding our own business and doing nothing that would annoy Stalin so that he will not attack the United States.

Perhaps Dean Acheson could reach an agreement with Stalin on such a program. But would Stalin live up to it? Has he kept a single agreement made with the United States since 1933?

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

LESS TIME IN HOSPITAL

Today a patient, under his physician's advice, can drive his car to hospital one morning, be prepared for a hernia operation that same morning, be allowed on his feet for a few moments that same night, and be allowed up out of bed the next day for a few minutes, two or three times during the day, and drive his car home the fifth day. This is a great change from the two or three weeks' stay in hospital that formerly prevailed.

One of the reasons for the change, as far as a hernia operation is concerned, is that the individual is not sick, no infection is present, and it is therefore safe for him to move his body, thereby helping circulation of blood and digestion and preventing constipation. Even when the patient has an infection such as appendicitis, the stay in hospital is now shortened to a week or 10 days when no complications are present.

It can be seen readily how a stay of five to 10 days instead of two to three weeks is going to make more hospital beds available for patients although, as mentioned above, this is not the reason for the short hospital stay. Early rising from bed after illness or operation enables the patient to get back his strength in less time and be in better shape physically than if he remained in bed longer.

Another recent finding of interest to physicians, nurses, the patient and the patient's family is that the use of the bed-pan in most cases is harder on the patient, requiring more physical, mental and emotional effort, than the use of an adjoining commode.

In The Journal of the American Medical Association, Drs. Joseph G. Benton, Henry Brown and Howard A. Rusk, New York city, with the technical assistance of Jean Birnbaum, M.S., report that because of the remark of many patients, "I didn't mind the operation or anything at all about the hospital except the bed-pan," they investigated the amount of effort required for use of bed-pan and commode.

By measuring the amount of oxygen used by 15 patients with active heart disease and 15 heart patients whose hearts were compensated (heart able to pump necessary blood without breathlessness) it was found that the energy expenditure was higher in use of bed-pans than in use of commode. There may, of course, be exceptions to this general rule, according to individual reactions.

Nothing to Back It Up

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — For some time this column has called attention to the shipment of war materials behind the Iron Curtain by European nations. It is only fair, however, to point out that some American businessmen also have been guilty of the same practice.

Most people don't realize that a steady trickle of strategic materials has been reaching Communist countries from the U.S.A. Here are some American firms which have been transshipping:

1. Rolfe G. Grote of New York, who sent chemicals to Switzerland, later transshipped them to Soviet Russia.

2. The Pacific Trading Corporation of Boston which transshipped steel plates to Communist China.

3. The Harris Chemical Corporation of New York which obtained a license to ship chemicals to Belgium, then transshipped them to Communist Czechoslovakia.

Last December 27 this column also revealed that the Aluminum Corporation of Canada, an affiliate of the Mellon-controlled Aluminum Corporation of America, had shipped 3,000,000 pounds of aluminum to Communist Czechoslovakia, and 1,000,000 pounds of aluminum to Communist Poland, at a time when the American public was getting dangerously short.

Note—It is also a regrettable fact that Formosa, where Chiang Kai-shek is in control, has sent some materials to Communist China, while Japan did the same thing while General MacArthur was in control.

No Time for Love

Harry Lundeberg is not only head of the Seafarers' International Union, but dresses and looks the part. He is tall, broad-shouldered, wears a sweater with high roll collar in the wintertime, and in the summer an open collar or no collar at all.

Lundeberg has been waging a tough and effective campaign to purge communism from the seagoing unions, and has been gunning lately for Communists in the Marine, Cooks and Stewards Union. To that end he recently testified before the National Labor Relations Board, where he made an effective presentation.

After he finished, Lundeberg walked up to Paul Herzog, chairman of the National Labor Relations Board, and stuck his nose almost in his face.

The chairman is almost the opposite of Lundeberg—thin, delicate hands, finely chiseled features.

"Listen, Herzy," bellowed the head of the Seafarers' Union, his jaw jutting close to the chairman's jaw, "what happens if this decision goes against us?"

Without batting an eye, the chairman replied: "I'm not so much worried about that as I am that it'll be for you, and you'll kiss me."

The head of the Seafarers' Union picked up his hat and left.

Tax Tempers

There were some stormy dissents inside the House Ways and Means Committee before it tentatively approved a 3 per cent, across-the-board boost in individual income taxes.

"This is an unfair imposition on the lower-bracket taxpayers," insisted Democrat Wilbur Mills of Arkansas. "Most of the new revenue in this legislation will come from the lower brackets anyhow, so why saddle the poor man with the same rate of increase as the upper-bracket taxpayer?"

Rep. Hale Boggs of Louisiana, who favored a graduated increase from 2 to 4 per cent on incomes up to $10,000 a year, also strongly opposed the across-the-board formula. So did another Democrat, John Dingell of Michigan.

Dingell was furious because the committee had raised corporation taxes only to 52 per cent instead of to 55 per cent, as recommended by the Treasury.

"The coffers of some of these big companies are bulging with unexpended cash," exclaimed Dingell. "That's where the fat is. It isn't in the little man's pocket. I'm against all these excise taxes too, which are paid by the consumers—and that applies to excises on automobiles made in my own home town.

"America lives on wheels," said the congressman from Detroit. "But if you cripple the automobile industry by increasing excises to the point where the average fellow can't afford to buy a new car you are threatening the future of our whole economy."

Rep. Dan Reed of New York, the committee's No. 1 Republican, said he was willing to "go along" by not raising individual income taxes at all. While Democrats pinched themselves to be sure they weren't dreaming, Reed hastened to explain:

"If we cut non-essential government spending to the bone, maybe we wouldn't need a tax bill."

In the showdown, however, Reed and other committee Republicans voted solidly for the income-tax boost which hits little incomes as much as it does big.

Washington Pipeline

American scientists are unable to understand why the Russians have exploded only one A-bomb. Our most elaborate scientific detecting devices have detected no indication that the Kremlin has set off a second atomic explosion. Some of our experts feel that the Reds have found a method of detonating their bombs which eludes our scientific instruments. Others claim the Russians are so far behind the U. S. in bomb development that they would merely show their lack of progress by exploding another "old fashioned" type of bomb. . . . Our underground A-bomb explosions that will soon take place will be used as a guide to U. S. engineers constructing deep underground defense centers. Our scientists are trying to discover just how deep and how strong our atomproof shelters must be. At the same time, of course, they can gauge how much damage an A-bomb would do to Russia's secret underground factories. . . . U. S. reports from Moscow state that the Russians are rushing work on six huge hydroelectric dams in the Lake Baikal area beyond the Urals. Some 300,000 workmen, men and women, are reported working even at night under floodlights to speed these huge projects. What makes the news so disturbing is that hydroelectric power in huge quantities is essential to the production of atomic and hydrogen bombs. This indicates Russia is going all out to increase its production of atomic weapons in an area relatively safe from American bombers.

President Kept His Decision Well to Get Rid of General MacArthur

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, May 18—With admirable restraint President Truman nursed his grievance against General MacArthur for more than a year and never told him about it. He even pinned a distinguished service decoration on the general at the Wake Island conference and publicly praised MacArthur's leadership. Even as late as January 13, 1951, he sent him a private message, which has only recently been made public, saying that "the entire nation is grateful for your leadership."

Now Mr. Truman says it wasn't really the letter that General MacArthur wrote to Representative Joseph W. Martin, Republican leader, which furnished the straw that broke the camel's back. To use an entirely different metaphor, the President said the letter to Martin had added fuel to the flames but he had made up his mind long before that to fire MacArthur. What a well-kept secret it was!

The exact reason, as given by the President to his Thursday news conference, was the MacArthur message of March 24 calling the Red Chinese commander to lay down his arms and agree on an armistice. Mr. Truman referred to it as an ultimatum. But that isn't accurate. For in international law an ultimatum means that, unless an enemy does a certain thing by a certain time, a certain penalty will be inflicted. MacArthur merely predicted the enemy's defeat—he didn't specify any time. He was really polite about it.

The President nevertheless says that the message to the Chinese commander should have been submitted first to the Joints Chiefs of Staff. But that is contrary to what Trygve Lie, secretary-general of the United Nations, has said publicly about the right of a field commander at any time to ask the enemy to lay down its arms.

Actually General MacArthur had a psychological-warfare set-up under which for several months leaflets had been dropped over the enemy lines urging the Red Chinese to surrender. The message of March 24 was in line with that psychological-warfare effort—and not a single message of disapproval ever came from the President or the Joints Chiefs of Staff or anyone else specifically disapproving of the sending of such surrender demands to the enemy.

Yet now Mr. Truman says this was the chief basis for the dismissal. The President referred questioners also to Secretary of Defense Marshall's testimony to the effect that MacArthur's message upset the peace plans which the administration was working out concurrently with its allies.

The facts are, however, that the proposed 14-nation declaration was circulated to 13 different foreign governments, but no copy was sent to our own Far East commander, who held the title of U.N. commander-in-chief. On March 20, a vague message saying something like it was being planned did come to him, as had many other reports of attempts in the U.N. to bring about "cease fire" negotiations. To this day the administration has refused to make public what was in that proposed 14-nation declaration, though Republican senators on Capitol Hill say it was an appeasemen plan which called for an expression of American willingness to stop fighting and agree to a restoration of the 38th Parallel. That meant a waste of everything that had been fought for since last June.

It will be interesting now to see what the Senate inquiry does on this point, for it will naturally demand to know the exact "peace" terms and what bogged down the negotiations, and why the message was not sent to General MacArthur, inasmuch as it was supposedly in the works here for at least two weeks before he addressed the Chinese commander.

Mr. Truman also referred to the message which General MacArthur sent to the convention of the veterans of foreign wars on August 28 last as something that displeased him. The general in that message pointed out that Formosa had to be defended and should not be turned over to an enemy. It has now been testified by Secretary Marshall that this has been American policy all along. Why should the President, therefore, have been displeased on April 11, 1951, over a statement of American policy if that was, indeed, the American policy as far back as August 28, 1950? It may turn out that the Department of State on that date was really willing to turn over Formosa to Red China and that General MacArthur's statement caused such a public furor that the policy had to be changed. There are lots of things yet to be revealed by the Senate inquiry.

So it all boils down to the fact that, however unhappy Mr. Truman was about General MacArthur, the Far Eastern commander, by the issuance of statements which the general believed to be within his rights as a theatre commander and as supreme allied commander, prevented Formosa from falling into enemy hands and inadvertently did demolish an appeasement plan.

It looks very much as if the President has just become aware that Secretary Marshall's explanation of the dismissal of General MacArthur isn't persuasive and that it seems expedient now to avoid making an issue of the right of members of the armed services not to suffer reprisals when they tell the truth as they see it upon the request of members of Congress.

So the President shifted to the question of alleged impropriety on the part of General MacArthur in demanding that the enemy stop fighting and surrender. It certainly is strange to learn from the lips of a President of the United States that it is improper nowadays to speak to the enemy that way and that any general who does it in the midst of battle is likely to be fired.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Lake Mead, Boulder, Nev., May 17—I feel some diffidence backing into this sick, inglorious saga because, even though I hollered "golly" in poetic rapture at the beauty of the lake, in five days I got out only twice and caught only one fish. This was a bass that would have been just barely a keeper even in Connecticut where anything over eight inches is poked full of kapok, coated with shellac, pasted on a board and hung on the back-bar at the Elks. Only the compulsions of modesty and truth wring this degrading admission from me and I am the more loath because I wish to advertise a wondrous water, lying aloof and little frequented in a mountain pocket behind the great Hoover Dam.

The new population who are flowing into our new industrial southwest only vaguely suspect the presence of this travelog and post-card public facility where the water in some of the coves is more than 500 feet deep and the morose desert stands firm at the very brink. By the evidence of typical, smug pictures taken on the dock at evening luckier men have come ashore with long strings of bass and croppie. Howard Pyle, the Republican governor of Arizona, last week caught one that weighed eleven pounds. Mr. Pyle, a radio broadcaster, in 1950 seemed as forlorn as Truman was in 1948 but breezed in with more to spare, starting a trend which, thus far, in Tucson, has elected a Republican city administration as well.

Governor Pyle's trip to the lake was both diplomatic and sporting, for the Arizona wardens, growing lonesome and restive, had been sneaking up on Nevada boats and pinching overhung crap-shooters from the gambling hells of Vegas. There is no visible demarcation in the water, but the wardens and guides agree that if you draw beads on this peak and that one you can tell where sovereignty lies.

Complications were setting in, with legalistic salts of the desert main insisting that the coast guard was the only authority on federal waters, when Governor Pyle and Governor Russell, of Nevada, another Republican, whipped up a treaty by hand. Now, for $2 more, paid in either state, the licensee gets permission to fish the waters of the other.

For some years, I had puzzled over little boats on two-wheel trailers, whipping and yawing over the high-speed desert roads. For lack of initiative I had assumed that these boatmen were going for bull-heads and carp in the irrigation canals. But recently I was incited to investigate rumors of fishing and primeval seclusion behind Parker Dam where the Juke-box never was and no-

A NEW CANAL

Shippers believe that by 1960 the Panama Canal will be so clogged by traffic as to impose increasingly serious delays on shipping. This belief leads a well-known geologist, Dr. William H. Hobbs, to consider whether the present canal should be enlarged or a new one built to supplement it.

One trouble with Panama is its vulnerability to bombing. It would still be so, even if the present lock canal were converted to a sea-level channel and doubled in width. That reconstruction would, it is estimated, take ten years and cost $2,500,000,000.

Where could a supplementary canal be built? Of two possible sites, one through Nicaragua is tempting because Lake Nicaragua and the San Juan River would materially reduce the amount of digging. On the other hand, there is constant danger from earthquakes. During the past three centuries two cities near the site of the proposed canal have been destroyed seven times each by earthquakes.

On this account Dr. Hobbs proposes the selection of the Isthmus of Tehuantepec in Mexico, which is free from earthquakes. Its distance of 165 miles between the Atlantic and the Pacific is eight miles less than the Nicaraguan route. (Panama is much shorter, only 51 miles long.) Tehuantepec, being a thousand miles north of Panama, would not be endangered by an attack on the present canal. Also, while the new canal was being built the old could continue to operate. The Tehuantepec route would cut 2,000 miles off the sea lanes for all traffic except that to South America. It would be much nearer to American and Mexican air fields, and therefore easier to guard.

One hitch is that Mexico would have to grant permission to cut the severing channel across her territory. That should not be impossible to arrange.

Everything is a matter of degree. A man who works in the noise of a boiler factory would regard most other places as comparatively quiet. A person who lives in a lonely house in the country might find the noise in a village irritating.

A SENSE OF HOME

Thirteen hundred Marines have arrived in California from the battlefront in Korea. They will spend furloughs in their home towns and will walk again in remembered places. The trip home after the loneliness and misery of war will renew their faith in what they were fighting for in Korea.

Since almost the beginning of time man has wandered away from the place he calls home. He has gone off to seek adventure or fortune, to see what lay on the other side of the ocean or on the other side of the hill. Usually he turns his face in the direction of home after his wanderings with a fresh sense of wonder and affection for the things he left when he first wandered.

There is no feeling in the world like that of coming home when one has been away for a long time. A walk past familiar buildings, under trees that were there when one was just a boy, the sight of a neighbor who runs to shake hands— all these are part of the homecoming. The common things like the appearance of the home town paper, the sound of the bark of the neighbor's dog, the sight of women hanging clothes in yards he played in as a boy—all these are good to the eyes and ears and heart of the man who comes home.

Reading good books is of particular merit for some people. It helps take their minds off themselves.

SMILE FOR AN UMBRELLA

"Just let a smile be your umbrella on a rainy, rainy day," advised a popular song a few years back. It is a catchy and romantic idea, though not very practical. Anyone who tried it would immediately discover that the song-writer's apparent faith in the rain-proofing capacity of a smile was sadly misplaced.

The smile can make a world of difference in the aspect of the rainy day, however. Whether one is under a genuine umbrella, and therefore relatively dry, or exposed to the elements and therefore wet, a smile can make the whole business appear to be something tolerable, even acceptable, rather than dreary and annoying. It makes this change not only for the wearer of the smile, but also for those he meets. A smile won't keep you dry, but it can help you to endure being wet.

Roosevelt who, disregarding the whole of Russian history with its insatiable land hunger, went to the support of Stalin after June 22, 1941, without making a contract as to the terms of American aid and the limits of Russian expansion. At that time, General MacArthur was in the Philippines and was not consulted and did not have to be.

Nor was he consulted at the Teheran and Yalta conferences at which the United States made it possible for Stalin to expand into China; to take Manchuria as Suzerain; to re-establish Russian power in the ports of Dairen and Port Arthur, seized from China by Russia as a result of the secret Li-Lobanoff treaty (1896); taken from Russia by Japan in 1905; reverting to China in accordance with the Cairo agreement of November 26, 1943—restored to Russia by Roosevelt and Churchill by the Teheran agreement of December 1, 1943, and the Yalta agreement of February 11, 1945.

General Douglas MacArthur had nothing to do with any of that, except that he was ordered into Korea suddenly and unprepared because our position in Japan had become imperilled on June 25, 1950. Then he was told to fight North Korea and Soviet China but not to risk war with Soviet Russia, an enterprise which has already cost the American people more than 65,000 casualties and more than 11,000 lives, if those figures are complete, which I doubt.

General George Marshall seems not to be familiar with the geography of Manchuria, Korea and the maritime provinces of Siberia. Moving into Korea from the sea is like banging your head against a stone wall. Actually, the simplest way to conquer Korea is to go into Manchuria through Dairen and Port Arthur, to center on Mukden or Changchun and then to move into Korea from the west. Another way, available only when navigation is possible, is through Vladivostok, the Siberian port and then down the passes into Korea.

The alternative to that is a vast air campaign west of the Yalu, striking at bases in Manchuria. I know this entire area first hand, from many visits to it. One cannot get the feel of this terrain without having been in it. General Marshall speaks of Manchuria, Korea and Siberia as though it were level land like a Kansas prairie

It would seem from the attitude of President Truman that we are caught in a trap from which we cannot fight. What then are we to do? The logic of their position cannot be the appeasement of Stalin. Due to Teheran, Yalta and Potsdam, he is sitting pretty. All he needs to do is to bang off weak nations and to look forward to continued appeasement by the United States.

If you were Stalin, sitting in the Kremlin under such circumstances, what would you do? You are told by the highest authority in the United States, the President himself, that he will not risk an atomic war. He will go up to that, but no further. So what would you do? Try to think the problem out as Stalin would. You would take every soft spot on earth, threatening an atomic war, until the United States either had to put up or shut up. That is exactly what Stalin is doing. He must expect the United States to back away after having read the Marshall testimony.

It would seem that the real alternative to war that the President and General Marshall offer the American people is complete withdrawal from world leadership—a complete and total isolation, strictly minding our own business and doing nothing that would annoy Stalin so that he will not attack the United States.

Perhaps Dean Acheson could reach an agreement with Stalin on such a program. But would Stalin live up to it? Has he kept a single agreement made with the United States since 1933?

That Body of Yours

LESS TIME IN HOSPITAL

Today a patient, under his physician's advice, can drive his car to hospital one morning, be prepared for a hernia operation that same morning, be allowed on his feet for a few moments that same night, and be allowed up out of bed the next day for a few minutes, two or three times during the day, and drive his car home the fifth day. This is a great change from the two or three weeks' stay in hospital that formerly prevailed.

One of the reasons for the change, as far as a hernia operation is concerned, is that the individual is not sick, no infection is present, and it is therefore safe for him to move his body, thereby helping circulation of blood and digestion and preventing constipation. Even when the patient has an infection such as appendicitis, the stay in hospital is now shortened to a week or 10 days when no complications are present.

It can be seen readily how a stay of five to 10 days instead of two to three weeks is going to make more hospital beds available for patients although, as mentioned above, this is not the reason for the short hospital stay. Early rising from bed after illness or operation enables the patient to get back his strength in less time and be in better shape physically than if he remained in bed longer.

Another recent finding of interest to physicians, nurses, the patient and the patient's family is that the use of the bed-pan in most cases is harder on the patient, requiring more physical, mental and emotional effort, than the use of an adjoining commode.

In The Journal of the American Medical Association, Drs. Joseph G. Benton, Henry Brown and Howard A. Rusk, New York city, with the technical assistance of Jean Birnbaum, M.S., report that because of the remark of many patients, "I didn't mind the operation or anything at all about the hospital except the bed-pan," they investigated the amount of effort required for use of bed-pan and commode.

By measuring the amount of oxygen used by 15 patients with active heart disease and 15 heart patients whose hearts were compensated (heart able to pump necessary blood without breathlessness) it was found that the energy expenditure was higher in use of bed-pans than in use of commode. There may, of course, be exceptions to this general rule, according to individual reactions.

Nothing to Back It Up

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — For some time this column has called attention to the shipment of war materials behind the Iron Curtain by European nations. It is only fair, however, to point out that some American businessmen also have been guilty of the same practice.

Most people don't realize that a steady trickle of strategic materials has been reaching Communist countries from the U.S.A. Here are some American firms which have been transshipping:

1. Rolfe G. Grote of New York, who sent chemicals to Switzerland, later transshipped them to Soviet Russia.

2. The Pacific Trading Corporation of Boston which transshipped steel plates to Communist China.

3. The Harris Chemical Corporation of New York which obtained a license to ship chemicals to Belgium, then transshipped them to Communist Czechoslovakia.

Last December 27 this column also revealed that the Aluminum Corporation of Canada, an affiliate of the Mellon-controlled Aluminum Corporation of America, had shipped 3,000,000 pounds of aluminum to Communist Czechoslovakia, and 1,000,000 pounds of aluminum to Communist Poland, at a time when the American public was getting dangerously short.

Note—It is also a regrettable fact that Formosa, where Chiang Kai-shek is in control, has sent some materials to Communist China, while Japan did the same thing while General MacArthur was in control.

No Time for Love

Harry Lundeberg is not only head of the Seafarers' International Union, but dresses and looks the part. He is tall, broad-shouldered, wears a sweater with high roll collar in the wintertime, and in the summer an open collar or no collar at all.

Lundeberg has been waging a tough and effective campaign to purge communism from the seagoing unions, and has been gunning lately for Communists in the Marine, Cooks and Stewards Union. To that end he recently testified before the National Labor Relations Board, where he made an effective presentation.

After he finished, Lundeberg walked up to Paul Herzog, chairman of the National Labor Relations Board, and stuck his nose almost in his face.

The chairman is almost the opposite of Lundeberg—thin, delicate hands, finely chiseled features.

"Listen, Herzy," bellowed the head of the Seafarers' Union, his jaw jutting close to the chairman's jaw, "what happens if this decision goes against us?"

Without batting an eye, the chairman replied: "I'm not so much worried about that as I am that it'll be for you, and you'll kiss me."

The head of the Seafarers' Union picked up his hat and left.

Tax Tempers

There were some stormy dissents inside the House Ways and Means Committee before it tentatively approved a 3 per cent, across-the-board boost in individual income taxes.

"This is an unfair imposition on the lower-bracket taxpayers," insisted Democrat Wilbur Mills of Arkansas. "Most of the new revenue in this legislation will come from the lower brackets anyhow, so why saddle the poor man with the same rate of increase as the upper-bracket taxpayer?"

Rep. Hale Boggs of Louisiana, who favored a graduated increase from 2 to 4 per cent on incomes up to $10,000 a year, also strongly opposed the across-the-board formula. So did another Democrat, John Dingell of Michigan.

Dingell was furious because the committee had raised corporation taxes only to 52 per cent instead of to 55 per cent, as recommended by the Treasury.

"The coffers of some of these big companies are bulging with unexpended cash," exclaimed Dingell. "That's where the fat is. It isn't in the little man's pocket. I'm against all these excise taxes too, which are paid by the consumers—and that applies to excises on automobiles made in my own home town.

"America lives on wheels," said the congressman from Detroit. "But if you cripple the automobile industry by increasing excises to the point where the average fellow can't afford to buy a new car you are threatening the future of our whole economy."

Rep. Dan Reed of New York, the committee's No. 1 Republican, said he was willing to "go along" by not raising individual income taxes at all. While Democrats pinched themselves to be sure they weren't dreaming, Reed hastened to explain:

"If we cut non-essential government spending to the bone, maybe we wouldn't need a tax bill."

In the showdown, however, Reed and other committee Republicans voted solidly for the income-tax boost which hits little incomes as much as it does big.

American scientists are unable to understand why the Russians have exploded only one A-bomb. Our most elaborate scientific detecting devices have detected no indication that the Kremlin has set off a second atomic explosion. Some of our experts feel that the Reds have found a method of detonating their bombs which eludes our scientific instruments. Others claim the Russians are so far behind the U. S. in bomb development that they would merely show their lack of progress by exploding another "old fashioned" type of bomb. . . . Our underground A-bomb explosions that will soon take place will be used as a guide to U. S. engineers constructing deep underground defense centers. Our scientists are trying to discover just how deep and how strong our atomproof shelters must be. At the same time, of course, they can gauge how much damage an A-bomb would do to Russia's secret underground factories. . . . U. S. reports from Moscow state that the Russians are rushing work on six huge hydroelectric dams in the Lake Baikal area beyond the Urals. Some 300,000 workmen, men and women, are reported working even at night under floodlights to speed these huge projects. What makes the news so disturbing is that hydroelectric power in huge quantities is essential to the production of atomic and hydrogen bombs. This indicates Russia is going all out to increase its production of atomic weapons in an area relatively safe from American bombers.

President Kept His Decision Well to Get Rid of General MacArthur

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, May 18—With admirable restraint President Truman nursed his grievance against General MacArthur for more than a year and never told him about it. He even pinned a distinguished service decoration on the general at the Wake Island conference and publicly praised MacArthur's leadership. Even as late as January 13, 1951, he sent him a private message, which has only recently been made public, saying that "the entire nation is grateful for your leadership."

Now Mr. Truman says it wasn't really the letter that General MacArthur wrote to Representative Joseph W. Martin, Republican leader, which furnished the straw that broke the camel's back. To use an entirely different metaphor, the President said the letter to Martin had added fuel to the flames but he had made up his mind long before that to fire MacArthur. What a well-kept secret it was!

The exact reason, as given by the President to his Thursday news conference, was the MacArthur message of March 24 calling the Red Chinese commander to lay down his arms and agree on an armistice. Mr. Truman referred to it as an ultimatum. But that isn't accurate. For in international law an ultimatum means that, unless an enemy does a certain thing by a certain time, a certain penalty will be inflicted. MacArthur merely predicted the enemy's defeat—he didn't specify any time. He was really polite about it.

The President nevertheless says that the message to the Chinese commander should have been submitted first to the Joints Chiefs of Staff. But that is contrary to what Trygve Lie, secretary-general of the United Nations, has said publicly about the right of a field commander at any time to ask the enemy to lay down its arms.

Actually General MacArthur had a psychological-warfare setup under which for several months leaflets had been dropped over the enemy lines urging the Red Chinese to surrender. The message of March 24 was in line with that psychological-warfare effort—and not a single message of disapproval ever came from the President or the Joints Chiefs of Staff or anyone else specifically disapproving of the sending of such surrender demands to the enemy.

Yet now Mr. Truman says this was the chief basis for the dismissal. The President referred questioners also to Secretary of Defense Marshall's testimony to the effect that MacArthur's message upset the peace plans which the administration was working out concurrently with its allies.

The facts are, however, that the proposed 14-nation declaration was circulated to 13 different foreign governments, but no copy was sent to our own Far East commander, who held the title of U.N. commander-in-chief. On March 20, a vague message saying something like it was being planned did come to him, as had many other reports of attempts in the U.N. to bring about "cease fire" negotiations. To this day the administration has refused to make public what was in that proposed 14-nation declaration, though Republican senators on Capitol Hill say it was an appeasemen plan which called for an expression of American willingness to stop fighting and agree to a restoration of the 38th Parallel. That meant a waste of everything that had been fought for since last June.

It will be interesting now to see what the Senate inquiry does on this point, for it will naturally demand to know the exact "peace" terms and what bogged down the negotiations, and why the message was not sent to General MacArthur, inasmuch as it was supposedly in the works here for at least two weeks before he addressed the Chinese commander.

Mr. Truman also referred to the message which General MacArthur sent to the convention of the veterans of foreign wars on August 28 last as something that displeased him. The general in that message pointed out that Formosa had to be defended and should not be turned over to an enemy. It has now been testified by Secretary Marshall that this has been American policy all along. Why should the President, therefore, have been displeased on April 11, 1951, over a statement of American policy if that was, indeed, the American policy as far back as August 28, 1950? It may turn out that the Department of State on that date was really willing to turn over Formosa to Red China and that General MacArthur's statement caused such a public furor that the policy had to be changed. There are lots of things yet to be revealed by the Senate inquiry.

So it all boils down to the fact that, however unhappy Mr. Truman was about General MacArthur, the Far Eastern commander, by the issuance of statements which the general believed to be within his rights as a theatre commander and as supreme allied commander, prevented Formosa from falling into enemy hands and inadvertently did demolish an appeasement plan.

It looks very much as if the President has just become aware that Secretary Marshall's explanation of the dismissal of General MacArthur isn't persuasive and that it seems expedient now to avoid making an issue of the right of members of the armed services not to suffer reprisals when they tell the truth as they see it upon the request of members of Congress.

So the President shifted to the question of alleged impropriety on the part of General MacArthur in demanding that the enemy stop fighting and surrender. It certainly is strange to learn from the lips of a President of the United States that it is improper nowadays to speak to the enemy that way and that any general who does it in the midst of battle is likely to be fired.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Lake Mead, Boulder, Nev., May 17—I feel some diffidence backing into this sick, inglorious saga because, even though I hollered "golly" in poetic rapture at the beauty of the lake, in five days I got out only twice and caught only one fish. This was a bass that would have been just barely a keeper even in Connecticut where anything over eight inches is poked full of kapok, coated with shellac, pasted on a board and hung on the back-bar at the Elks. Only the compulsions of modesty and truth wring this degrading admission from me and I am the more loath because I wish to advertise a wondrous water, lying aloof and little frequented in a mountain pocket behind the great Hoover Dam.

The new population who are flowing into our new industrial southwest only vaguely suspect the presence of this travelog and post-card public facility where the water in some of the coves is more than 500 feet deep and the morose desert stands firm at the very brink. By the evidence of typical, smug pictures taken on the dock at evening luckier men have come ashore with long strings of bass and croppie. Howard Pyle, the Republican governor of Arizona, last week caught one that weighed eleven pounds. Mr. Pyle, a radio broadcaster, in 1950 seemed as forlorn as Truman was in 1948 but breezed in with more to spare, starting a trend which, thus far, in Tucson, has elected a Republican city administration as well.

Governor Pyle's trip to the lake was both diplomatic and sporting, for the Arizona wardens, growing lonesome and restive, had been sneaking up on Nevada boats and pinching overhung crap-shooters from the gambling hells of Vegas. There is no visible demarcation in the water, but the wardens and guides agree that if you draw beads on this peak and that one you can tell where sovereignty lies.

Complications were setting in, with legalistic salts of the desert main insisting that the coast guard was the only authority on federal waters, when Governor Pyle and Governor Russell, of Nevada, another Republican, whipped up a treaty by hand. Now, for $2 more, paid in either state, the licensee gets permission to fish the waters of the other.

For some years, I had puzzled over little boats on two-wheel trailers, whipping and yawing over the high-speed desert roads. For lack of initiative I had assumed that these boatmen were going for bull-heads and carp in the irrigation canals. But recently I was incited to investigate rumors of fishing and primeval seclusion behind Parker Dam where the Juke-box never was and nobody can get anyone on the phone. I found it hard to get my flaps down, however, when I heard of the sordid temptations of Las Vegan and, after exhausting these and self, limped into Boulder City and Lake Mead to see. Three dams, Hoover above, Davis and then Parker, create a stretch of fishing water and vacation land including a long, sloping beach and trailer camp at Lake Mead, near the lodge.

The public conveniences at Lake Mead are maintained by the Bureau of Reclamation of the Department of the Interior and there is a pleasant absence of horrible sounds by night, for reclamation and the topography forbid some vulgar profanations which have made Coney Islands of Saratoga, the Catskills and parts of the Adirondacks. Most of the shore is either inaccessible except to mountain sheep and wild burros or restricted by the rangers, possibly to keep the tourists centered for their own safety. On one of my trips to the fishing grounds I watched for half an hour a nonchalant ewe which came down a chasm, took a drink and leisurely walked back up to give us her profile against the sky. She browsed as she walked, though there wasn't any sprig or blade in sight and the mystery of her existence, so well padded and so strong that the climb up the mountain face was just a stroll, only evoked other mysteries. What does the coyote live on? If the answer is jack-rabbits and rodents, what on earth do they eat?

There is only one liquor license on Lake Mead, held by a quiet institution called The Lodge, a modest link in a chain of minor hotels forged in a few years by Arnold Porter, a hotel night clerk himself. Notwithstanding unionism and other narrowings of free enterprise, Mr. Porter now has 29 houses in such towns as Ogden, Fresno, Stockton, and Amarillo. The saving on soap and salt, alone, bought in such quantify is formidable and I mention this in this context only because I am told that Mr. Porter fell to thinking such notions in the long watches of his night-trick for another collector of inns, and so quit and did likewise.

There are boats for rent from 75 cents an hour to $100 a day for cruisers with sleeping quarters for six. Although even Lake Mead, the largest of them, seems too small to kick up a sea, some of the little boats ship water in windy weather and sink.

Phoenix and Tucson grew amazingly during Roosevelt's war and now that his memorial war is warming up, a new boom is on entirely at the expense of the national treasury. This is a grisly situation. The Arizona papers print many pictures of local boys with Latin names whose forebears undoubtedly were Mexicans, probably Indians, on one side or the other, killed or wounded in or furloughed from Korea. A remarkable proportion of them are marines. There are an appropriate number of Anglos in the routine reports.

Meanwhile Tucson is thriving as a great base for old bombers being converted to tankers for refueling bigger bombers, and Howard Hughes is putting together a plant to make guided missiles, which, at the utmost, will employ 7,500. A dispatch from Phoenix says Goodyear Aircraft has just got a big contract for tails and wings. At Bisbee, Phelps-Dodge is moving mountains to make an open-pit mine to produce copper for war. The desert is being stripped by carpetbaggers and other profiteers to get rich quick on fine Arizona cotton and the water table is dropping fast as 20-inch wells pour out rushing brooks of water that will find its way back only in geological terms of time.

Almost every dollar of the boom, wages, investment, even local taxes, comes out of the treasury of the United States. And yet it takes a firm effort of the mind not to regard all this as prosperity.

Everyone knows that Pontiac is famous for dependability. If you want personal confirmation, talk to a few owners who have driven Pontiacs over the years. You'll be surprised how many say: "Pontiac is the most dependable car in America!"

That's an important reason why the 1951 Pontiac is in such tremendous demand. True, it's the most beautiful thing on wheels—a joy to drive and ride in. But Pontiac dependability is convincing a lot of people to make Pontiac their first choice.

Long, trouble-free operation is a big reason why dollar for dollar, you can't beat a Pontiac! Come in and get the facts and figures that prove it.

THREE (COMMIE) JEERS FOR NEW RED BOSS—Titoism rears its head in French Communist Party circles and the result is Reds jeering Reds on a Paris sidewalk. Darius Le Corre, left, head of the new "Independent Communist Party" in France, gets a Bronx cheer from members of the regular, Russian-dominated French Communist Party. Le Corre had just told newspapermen that his new party will stress preservation of workers' rights, their closer unity and the building of a Communist organization free of the Soviet grip. As Pegler Sees It

body can get anyone on the phone. I found it hard to get my flaps down, however, when I heard of the sordid temptations of Las Vegan and, after exhausting these and self, limped into Boulder City and Lake Mead to see. Three dams, Hoover above, Davis and then Parker, create a stretch of fishing water and vacation land including a long, sloping beach and trailer camp at Lake Mead, near the lodge.

The public conveniences at Lake Mead are maintained by the Bureau of Reclamation of the Department of the Interior and there is a pleasant absence of horrible sounds by night, for reclamation and the topography forbid some vulgar profanations which have made Coney Islands of Saratoga, the Catskills and parts of the Adirondacks. Most of the shore is either inaccessible except to mountain sheep and wild burros or restricted by the rangers, possibly to keep the tourists centered for their own safety. On one of my trips to the fishing grounds I watched for half an hour a nonchalant ewe which came down a chasm, took a drink and leisurely walked back up to give us her profile against the sky. She browsed as she walked, though there wasn't any sprig or blade in sight and the mystery of her existence, so well padded and so strong that the climb up the mountain face was just a stroll, only evoked other mysteries. What does the coyote live on? If the answer is jack-rabbits and rodents, what on earth do they eat?

There is only one liquor license on Lake Mead, held by a quiet institution called The Lodge, a modest link in a chain of minor hotels forged in a few years by Arnold Porter, a hotel night clerk himself. Notwithstanding unionism and other narrowings of free enterprise, Mr. Porter now has 29 houses in such towns as Ogden, Fresno, Stockton, and Amarillo. The saving on soap and salt, alone, bought in such quantity is formidable and I mention this in this context only because I am told that Mr. Porter fell to thinking such notions in the long watches of his night-trick for another collector of inns, and so quit and did likewise.

There are boats for rent from 75 cents an hour to $100 a day for cruisers with sleeping quarters for six. Although even Lake Mead, the largest of them, seems too small to kick up a sea, some of the little boats ship water in windy weather and sink.

Phoenix and Tucson grew amazingly during Roosevelt's war and now that his memorial war is warming up, a new boom is on entirely at the expense of the national treasury. This is a grisly situation. The Arizona papers print many pictures of local boys with Latin names whose forebears undoubtedly were Mexicans, probably Indians, on one side or the other, killed or wounded in or furloughed from Korea. A remarkable proportion of them are marines. There are an appropriate number of Anglos in the routine reports.

Meanwhile Tucson is thriving as a great base for old bombers being converted to tankers for refueling bigger bombers, and Howard Hughes is putting together a plant to make guided missiles, which, at the utmost, will employ 7,500. A dispatch from Phoenix says Goodyear Aircraft has just got a big contract for tails and wings. At Bisbee, Phelps-Dodge is moving mountains to make an open-pit mine to produce copper for war. The desert is being stripped by carpetbaggers and other profiteers to get rich quick on fine Arizona cotton and the water table is dropping fast as 20-inch wells pour out rushing brooks of water that will find its way back only in geological terms of time.

Almost every dollar of the boom, wages, investment, even local taxes, comes out of the treasury of the United States. And yet it takes a firm effort of the mind not to regard all this as prosperity.

Newspapers Top All Records In National Advertisements

National advertisers' investment in newspaper space once more topped all records in 1950 with a score a hair's-breadth below the half-billion-dollar mark — exceeding by millions the largest amount ever put into any single advertising medium by national advertisers—it is revealed by Irwin Maier, publisher of the Milwaukee Journal and chairman of the Board of Bureau of Advertising, American Newspaper Publishers Association.

The new highmark, fifth all-time high in newspaper national advertising scored in five years, represented a dollar gain of 12.1 per cent over 1949.

It was nearly double the long-standing highmark of $260,000,000 in national advertisers' investments scored by daily newspapers in 1929—and compared almost as favorably witth the $270,000,000 score of postwar 1946, which was hailed by the Bureau of Advertising in its 1947 annual report as a great newspaper victory but at the same time merely "the first fruits of a harvest that stands ripe for still more productive reaping."

In 1950, gains, the Bureau discloses, went through virtually every classification of national newspaper advertising, ranging from a 9.7 per cent gain in national grocery advertising to a 39 per cent gain in cosmetics advertising, and a 78.4 per cent gain in radio and television advertising in newspapers.

"Again, as last year," Chairman Maier declared, "newspapers have clearly established their dominance among national advertising media.

"Far more important, however, the near-half-billion-dollar figure is the strongest vote of confidence national advertisers have ever paid to a single medium's ability to cut their distribution costs and make their selling more efficient and profitable."

Maier, however, cautioned newspapers against letting success breed complacency, urging them to "sell harder than ever" and to "do everything in our power to further increase the productive value of newspaper advertising to the advertiser who uses it.

"Remember," he warned, "it required an aggressive, drastically changed approach to national advertisers and their own problems —and a lot of back-breaking work —to get us back up there where we belong. And we'll have to work a lot harder—equally in the advertisers' interest and in our own —to stay there.

"Although," he continued, "we have made remarkable progress in the past few years, our gains to date still represent only a small part of our real potential. How much of that potential we achieve depends for the most part on our willingness to stretch for it. As chairman of the Bureau of Advertising, I can say without hesitation that the Bureau, working hand in hand with other newspaper groups, is determined to explore every possible means of holding and building our present business and developing new business from every possible sector of our economy.

"But it goes without saying that the job will not be accomplished without the full support of every individual newspaper. The Bureau, of course, has been and will continue to be aggressive on every sales-front with national advertisers and their agencies. In addition, it is providing newspapers with more and more sales tools to help you do your share of the selling job at home. Make the most of them, first for the good of your own newspaper and then for the good of newspapers as a whole."

The Bureau announcement of gains in national advertising in newspapers came as a preview of the organization's annual publication, "Expenditures of National Advertisers," which will be issued shortly to enumerate, by company and individual product, the investment made in newspaper advertising by all national advertisers investing $25,000 or more in the medium during 1950. Copies of the new compilation will be distributed on a request basis, it was announced today, as soon as it is published, to national advertisers and agencies throughout the U. S. and Canada.

Among the major industries employing newspaper advertising as a prime mover of their sales, the grocery industry, as in most past years, ranked first, with a 1950 total of $123,354,000, up 9.7 per cent from the 1949 highmark.

Automotive advertising moved up from 1949's $85,856,000 by a 14.3 per cent gain to a 1950 high of $98,094,000, the Bureau said.

"The race is not always to the swift," said Peter, "nor is the battle always to the strong. Also, the hand is quicker than the eye."

Peter Leventritt's advanced class at the Card School grinned expectantly. They knew he was going to pull another rabbit out of the hat for their amusement and instruction.

Pete thereupon laid out the hand printed in today's article.

When West opens a spade dummy plays the nine, and East discards the deuce of clubs. The first lesson, Pete warned, was to keep your eyes open. Otherwise you might carelessly mistake that club for a spade. (This is by no means a rare occurrence in a fast-moving game).

The next question is how to play the hand. Most players try to cash three top clubs and three top hearts, expecting to eke out the game with four trump tricks. Those players find themselves in the ashcan since West trumps the third round of hearts and the defenders are bound to get three diamond tricks no matter what happens.

"The trouble is," Peter explained, "that South has more tricks than he can afford. Anybody would make the contract if he had A-K-2 of hearts instead of A-K-Q. That queen is more trouble than she's worth."

The right play, of course, is to cash only two top hearts and to throw the third heart on dummy's extra club. The third heart may be high or low—but it must still be discarded. Then South can ruff dummy's third heart to make sure of ten tricks.

A cute hand, isn't it? Try it on your friends and see how many stub their toes on it.

Doyle and his men were looking for two runaway girls from Drummond, Mrs. Doyle found the pair in a drug store. Taking the girls with her, she encountered Chief Doyle and Public Safety Commissioner Bruce O. Mefford about a block from the drug store. She took the two girls to her home while Chief Doyle went to police headquarters to notify the parents.

Newspapers Top All Records In National Advertisements

National advertisers' investment in newspaper space once more topped all records in 1950 with a score a hair's-breadth below the half-billion-dollar mark — exceeding by millions the largest amount ever put into any single advertising medium by national advertisers—it is revealed by Irwin Maier, publisher of the Milwaukee Journal and chairman of the Board of Bureau of Advertising, American Newspaper Publishers Association.

The new highmark, fifth all-time high in newspaper national advertising scored in five years, represented a dollar gain of 12.1 per cent over 1949.

It was nearly double the long-standing highmark of $260,000,000 in national advertisers' investments scored by daily newspapers in 1929—and compared almost as favorably witth the $270,000,000 score of postwar 1946, which was hailed by the Bureau of Advertising in its 1947 annual report as a great newspaper victory but at the same time merely "the first fruits of a harvest that stands ripe for still more productive reaping."

In 1950, gains, the Bureau discloses, went through virtually every classification of national newspaper advertising, ranging from a 9.7 per cent gain in national grocery advertising to a 39 per cent gain in cosmetics advertising, and a 78.4 per cent gain in radio and television advertising in newspapers.

"Again, as last year," Chairman Maier declared, "newspapers have clearly established their dominance among national advertising media.

"Far more important, however, the near-half-billion-dollar figure is the strongest vote of confidence national advertisers have ever paid to a single medium's ability to cut their distribution costs and make their selling more efficient and profitable."

Maier, however, cautioned newspapers against letting success breed complacency, urging them to "sell harder than ever" and to "do everything in our power to further increase the productive value of newspaper advertising to the advertiser who uses it.

"Remember," he warned, "it required an aggressive, drastically changed approach to national advertisers and their own problems —and a lot of back-breaking work —to get us back up there where we belong. And we'll have to work a lot harder—equally in the advertisers' interest and in our own —to stay there.

"Although," he continued, "we have made remarkable progress in the past few years, our gains to date still represent only a small part of our real potential. How much of that potential we achieve depends for the most part on our willingness to stretch for it. As chairman of the Bureau of Advertising, I can say without hesitation that the Bureau, working hand in hand with other newspaper groups, is determined to explore every possible means of holding and building our present business and developing new business from every possible sector of our economy.

Trap He Rigged Takes Boy's Life

Neptune, N. J., May 18 (AP)—An imaginative 14-year-old boy died in his own play death trap—a hangman's noose sprung by a lighted candle.

Neighbors found the body of George Sherman yesterday dangling from a length of clothesline in his cellar. He had been left alone in his Shark river home while his family went visiting.

Still strapped to his wrist was the open knife he apparently meant to use to cut himself down after the trap was sprung.

Police theorized the jerking rope strangled George before he could wrench the knife free. The death was ruled an accident.

Here's the way police said George rigged his death trap:

He fastened a pair of roller skates to a box to make a dolly. Above this, he tied a noose to the cellar ceiling. Then he rigged up a pulley about 10-feet away.

Through it, he ran two ropes attached to a pail of sand. He anchored one line to a box weighed down with two tool chests. The other line was attached to the dolly.

He placed a lighted candle under the anchor rope, mounted the dolly and dropped the noose over his head. When the candle burned through the rope, the pail dropped, yanking the dolly out from under him.

Theatre Operator Killed

Passaic, N. J., May 18 (AP)—Harry K. Hecht, owner of four motion picture theatres in this area, was killed last night in an auto accident. He was 68. Police said Hecht's car crashed into a concrete post at a Lackawanna Railroad crossing at Main and Brook avenues. He is survived by his widow, Sophie; two sons, Sidney and Harold; a daughter, Mrs. Maury Miller of Passaic; a brother, Simon of Spring Valley, N. Y.; and two sisters, Mrs. Benjamin Antler and Mrs. Fannie Newman, both of Passaic.

Strong by 1953

New York, May 18 (AP)—Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson says it would be international lunacy for Russia to attack America if the Soviets wait until the end of 1953. Speaking last night at the 35th annual meeting of the National Industrial Conference Board, Wilson said he is confident that "once we have built America's might to the point that is now comtemplated, there will be no war on a global scale."

BABSON on BUSINESS

New Boston, N. H., May 18—Senator Kefauver has done this country an invaluable service, not just by exposing a bunch of crooks, but by turning the spotlight into the dark corners of our national morality, and showing us up for what we really are!

There has been a lot of loose talk about freedom and the greatness of this country. Recently the Office of Defense Mobilization announced to the papers that we shall be mighty in two years! Just what does it mean by "mighty"?

The things that made America great cannot be packaged by a government agency and handed out to us like social security checks. In a democracy, nobody but the individual—you and I and the fellow on the other side of the tracks—can make America great. And whether or not it becomes great is a matter of national morality. Only if our society has the moral fiber, the national character, will we be great.

Character and Schools

Character isn't something you study in school, do a few problems in, and presto!, you have it. Character springs and flourishes in a friendly home environment. Morality is the end product of character. Our children's character traits are determined by the way in which we think, act and believe. Character is taught by example. The Department of Defense can buy airplanes, ships, tanks and munitions, but it cannot buy character which is sorely needed today to make us "mighty."

I have just come from a trip through our great industrial cities. Here is what I heard over and over again from different business executives who are hiring thousands of youngsters every year: "The young people today aren't reliable. They make the same kinds of mistakes over and over, and they don't seem to care . . . they lack industry. They aren't uncomfortable when idle. They give the impression that what they want most is a quick, easy buck. We have failed to teach them to follow a path successfully to the end—no matter how difficult the going gets. Graduates today give up too easily."

Careless Employes

"Our schools themselves have succumbed to a philosophy of mediocrity by passing children each year whether the quality of work is good or bad. The training in the schools that there can be reward without hard work has lead to irresponsibility. In this sense our schools have failed to discharge their whole duty . . . and in so doing have failed to develop moral virtues . . . character."

In the last analysis, however, it is the parents who are at fault. The average parent today has great difficulty trying to develop industrious children. He won't make his children mow the lawn or wash the car or put on the screens. Junior rebels because Joey down the street doesn't have to do these things, so why should he. The real ailment here, of course, is a lack on the part of the parents of moral courage which comes from religion. When hiring young men employment managers should give some consideration to the applicant's parents.

General Marshall's Forecasts

More than anything else today American business, the federal government, and our schools and homes need men and women of character — individuals whose search for life's realties goes beyond the thin veneer of men and machines. This country can remain great but only if we sustain its moral fiber, and remember, in a democracy that is an individual responsibility. Don't take too seriously the forecasts of the Department of Defense.

Trap He Rigged Takes Boy's Life

Neptune, N. J., May 18 (AP)—An imaginative 14-year-old boy died in his own play death trap—a hangman's noose sprung by a lighted candle.

Neighbors found the body of George Sherman yesterday dangling from a length of clothesline in his cellar. He had been left alone in his Shark river home while his family went visiting.

Still strapped to his wrist was the open knife he apparently meant to use to cut himself down after the trap was sprung.

Police theorized the jerking rope strangled George before he could wrench the knife free. The death was ruled an accident.

Here's the way police said George rigged his death trap:

He fastened a pair of roller skates to a box to make a dolly. Above this, he tied a noose to the cellar ceiling. Then he rigged up a pulley about 10-feet away.

Through it, he ran two ropes attached to a pail of sand. He anchored one line to a box weighed down with two tool chests. The other line was attached to the dolly.

He placed a lighted candle under the anchor rope, mounted the dolly and dropped the noose over his head. When the candle burned through the rope, the pail dropped, yanking the dolly out from under him.

Theatre Operator Killed

Passaic, N. J., May 18 (AP)—Harry K. Hecht, owner of four motion picture theatres in this area, was killed last night in an auto accident. He was 68. Police said Hecht's car crashed into a concrete post at a Lackawanna Railroad crossing at Main and Brook avenues. He is survived by his widow, Sophie; two sons, Sidney and Harold; a daughter, Mrs. Maury Miller of Passaic; a brother, Simon of Spring Valley, N. Y.; and two sisters, Mrs. Benjamin Antler and Mrs. Fannie Newman, both of Passaic.

Strong by 1953

New York, May 18 (AP)—Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson says it would be international lunacy for Russia to attack America if the Soviets wait until the end of 1953. Speaking last night at the 35th annual meeting of the National Industrial Conference Board, Wilson said he is confident that "once we have built America's might to the point that is now comtemplated, there will be no war on a global scale."

The National Geographic Society says large-scale diamond mining was not known until discovery of diamonds in South Africa.

BABSON on BUSINESS

New Boston, N. H., May 18—Senator Kefauver has done this country an invaluable service, not just by exposing a bunch of crooks, but by turning the spotlight into the dark corners of our national morality, and showing us up for what we really are!

There has been a lot of loose talk about freedom and the greatness of this country. Recently the Office of Defense Mobilization announced to the papers that we shall be mighty in two years! Just what does it mean by "mighty"?

The things that made America great cannot be packaged by a government agency and handed out to us like social security checks. In a democracy, nobody but the individual—you and I and the fellow on the other side of the tracks—can make America great. And whether or not it becomes great is a matter of national morality. Only if our society has the moral fiber, the national character, will we be great.

Character and Schools

Character isn't something you study in school, do a few problems in, and presto!, you have it. Character springs and flourishes in a friendly home environment. Morality is the end product of character. Our children's character traits are determined by the way in which we think, act and believe. Character is taught by example. The Department of Defense can buy airplanes, ships, tanks and munitions, but it cannot buy character which is sorely needed today to make us "mighty."

I have just come from a trip through our great industrial cities. Here is what I heard over and over again from different business executives who are hiring thousands of youngsters every year: "The young people today aren't reliable. They make the same kinds of mistakes over and over, and they don't seem to care . . . they lack industry. They aren't uncomfortable when idle. They give the impression that what they want most is a quick, easy buck. We have failed to teach them to follow a path successfully to the end—no matter how difficult the going gets. Graduates today give up too easily."

Careless Employes

"Our schools themselves have succumbed to a philosophy of mediocrity by passing children each year whether the quality of work is good or bad. The training in the schools that there can be reward without hard work has lead to irresponsibility. In this sense our schools have failed to discharge their whole duty . . . and in so doing have failed to develop moral virtues . . . character."

In the last analysis, however, it is the parents who are at fault. The average parent today has great difficulty trying to develop industrious children. He won't make his children mow the lawn or wash the car or put on the screens. Junior rebels because Joey down the street doesn't have to do these things, so why should he. The real ailment here, of course, is a lack on the part of the parents of moral courage which comes from religion. When hiring young men employment managers should give some consideration to the applicant's parents.

General Marshall's Forecasts

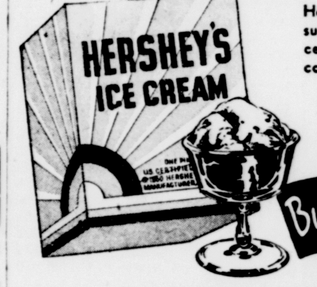

More than anything else today American business, the federal government, and our schools and homes need men and women of character — individuals whose search for life's realties goes beyond the thin veneer of men and machines. This country can remain great but only if we sustain its moral fiber, and remember, in a democracy that is an individual responsibility. Don't take too seriously the forecasts of the Department of Defense.

He who has a thousand friends
Has not a friend to spare,
And he who has an enemy,
Shall meet him everywhere.
—Khayyam.

Downstairs—Didn't you hear me pounding on the ceiling?

Upstairs—Oh, that's all right. We were making a lot of noise ourselves.

Waiter—May I help you with that soup, sir?

Diner—What do you mean? I don't need help!

Waiter — From the sounds you're making I thought you wanted to be dragged ashore.

Sometimes it's hard to decide which is worse—living within an income or without one.

Blonde—I want to see the man who was hurt in the auto accident last night.

Nurse—Are you the girl who was with him?

Blonde—Yes, and I thought it only right to come over and give him the kiss he was trying for.

Tomorrow

I've shut the door on yesterday, its sorrows and mistakes; I've locked within its gloomy walls past failures and heartaches; and now I throw the key away to seek another room, and furnish it with hope and smiles and every springtime bloom. No thought shall enter this abode that has a hint of pain, and every malice and distrust shall never therein reign; I've shut the door on yesterday and thrown the key away—tomorrow holds no doubt for me since I have found today.

But gold isn't that bad. Gold isn't necessarily bad at all. And it could be that a return to the Gold Standard might provide some part of the steadying influence the world economy needs. The trouble with gold is not in itself, but in what the human race has done with it. But, then, the human race has made a sorry job of about everything else.

The sentence was imposed on Mrs. Jeanette Watson, 37, after she refused to be sworn in as a juror in the retrial of Edward J. (Buddy) Beckwith, 29.

Quartet Will Open Series on July 19

Woodstock, May 18—The Woodstock String Quartet, now in its fifth consecutive year, will present its first in a series of six weekly concerts July 19 at the Town Hall.

The final concert of the series on Thursday, August 30, will be given for the benefit of the Woodstock recreation fund.

Members of the quartet this year are Sidney Harth, violinist; Teresa Testa, violinist; and Carolyn Voigt, violist; Engelbert Roentgen, cellist.

Having a vast experience in various fields of music, she is constantly in demand by a number of organizations, sponsoring either orchestral or chamber music programs.

Distinguished guest artists will appear as soloists or in combination with the quartet which will also present concerts this summer in Kingston, New Paltz, Saugerties, Hudson, Round Top, Oneonta, Cooperstown, Catskill and Lake Mohonk.

SHOKAN NEWS

Shokan, May 18—Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Monaco and children arrived here last week and are making their home with Herbert's grandmother, Emma Holden of the Van Steenburgh Road neighborhood of Shokan. The young couple, since their marriage, have resided at Altoona, Pa., and East Meadows, L. I.

It is expected that Dr. Roland Will of the state teachers college at New Paltz will be principal speaker at the graduation exercises of the Onteora central school district next month. There are 47 members in the class including 10 pupils who attend high school outside the district.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Bush of Coxsackie, formerly of Ashokan, called on some of their local friends last week. Elmer, who is not in the best of health, has curtailed his farming activities and is thinking of returning here.

Mrs. Louis Sahler, who died Wednesday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Howard Anderson, in Accord, was a native of the old village of West Shokan. The former Viola Crispell, only child of Merritt and Cora Merrihew Crispell, attended school in the west side village and for a time was employed at the Matthews & North store there. She was a member of the Reformed Sunday school and sang in the church choir.

Dr. Harry Van Wagenen and wife of Kingston were numbered among the out of town people seen on the local streets Wednesday afternoon.

Teddy Angell, one of Shokan's industrious young men, is busy with tractor, plow and harrow at readying garden plots for residents of the twin villages.

People of the north reservoir country are pleased that the Rev. Milton H. Ryan and Mrs. Ryan will continue their residence in the Methodist Church parsonage at Ashokan. Under the Rev. Mr. Ryan's pastorate the past conference year, all apportionments, including local expenses and benevolences and world service have been paid in full by all three units of the Ashokan Methodist charge.

Birthdays coming along soon include that of Mrs. Alonzo Haver who will be 80 years old Monday, May 21. Mrs. Haver, who before marriage was Ella Brannen of Big Indian, has many friends in the towns of Olive and Shandaken.

Benjamin Swanson, Brooklyn man who has a summer place along the mountainside here, was a caller in the village Saturday. He is planning to put up another bungalow on his property, known in much earlier years as the William Black or David Perry farm.

The Oneonta school board has hired Vincent Carey of Highland as an elementary teacher for the next school year. Carey, a graduate of New Paltz College '51, and Paul Smith College, is currently teaching at Yonkers.

Mrs. Charles Sickler and Donald DuBois were reelected trustees of the Ashokan Methodist Church at a congregational meeting last week.

Members of the John Grant and Kendall Every families were at their local summer bungalows during the week-end. They were accompanied by Joshua Bell, father of Mrs. Grant and Mrs. Every and a former resident of Whiteport. "Josh," an old Shokan boy, plans to remain here, probably for several months.

Members of the Shokan Ladies' Aid Society will hold a food sale Saturday, May 26, in the Shokan post office building.

Devotees of trout fishing, now a great and growing institution in northern Ulster county, will be interested in learning that more people go for fishing of all kinds and more money is spent on it than any other sport: Some 12 million fishermen part with $1,200,000,000 a year—figures which put those of hunters, bowlers and golfers away in the shade.

Echo of waterworks days: May 17, 1910—Luella Snyder, Hurley, gives address of welcome at 18th annual convention of county Christian Endeavor union at Hurley Reformed Church. Others taking part included Mrs. John L. Ostrander, Hurley, and the Rev. Henry Brink of Shokan . . . Among papers left by the late Rachael Brodhead of Shokan were the commission given by the British Crown to Edmond Andros in 1655 and the 100-year-old Yale College diploma of Henry Abbey.

It is expected that Dr. Roland Will of the state teachers college at New Paltz will be principal speaker at the graduation exercises of the Onteora central school district next month. There are 47 members in the class including 10 pupils who attend high school outside the district.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Bush of Coxsackie, formerly of Ashokan, called on some of their local friends last week. Elmer, who is not in the best of health, has curtailed his farming activities and is thinking of returning here.

Mrs. Louis Sahler, who died Wednesday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Howard Anderson, in Accord, was a native of the old village of West Shokan. The former Viola Crispell, only child of Merritt and Cora Merrihew Crispell, attended school in the west side village and for a time was employed at the Matthews & North store there. She was a member of the Reformed Sunday school and sang in the church choir.

Dr. Harry Van Wagenen and wife of Kingston were numbered among the out of town people seen on the local streets Wednesday afternoon.

Teddy Angell, one of Shokan's industrious young men, is busy with tractor, plow and harrow at readying garden plots for residents of the twin villages.

People of the north reservoir country are pleased that the Rev. Milton H. Ryan and Mrs. Ryan will continue their residence in the Methodist Church parsonage at Ashokan. Under the Rev. Mr. Ryan's pastorate the past conference year, all apportionments, including local expenses and benevolences and world service have been paid in full by all three units of the Ashokan Methodist charge.

Birthdays coming along soon include that of Mrs. Alonzo Haver who will be 80 years old Monday, May 21. Mrs. Haver, who before marriage was Ella Brannen of Big Indian, has many friends in the towns of Olive and Shandaken.

Benjamin Swanson, Brooklyn man who has a summer place along the mountainside here, was a caller in the village Saturday. He is planning to put up another bungalow on his property, known in much earlier years as the William Black or David Perry farm.

The Oneonta school board has hired Vincent Carey of Highland as an elementary teacher for the next school year. Carey, a graduate of New Paltz College '51, and Paul Smith College, is currently teaching at Yonkers.

Mrs. Charles Sickler and Donald DuBois were reelected trustees of the Ashokan Methodist Church at a congregational meeting last week.

Members of the John Grant and Kendall Every families were at their local summer bungalows during the week-end. They were accompanied by Joshua Bell, father of Mrs. Grant and Mrs. Every and a former resident of Whiteport. "Josh," an old Shokan boy, plans to remain here, probably for several months.

Members of the Shokan Ladies' Aid Society will hold a food sale Saturday, May 26, in the Shokan post office building.

Devotees of trout fishing, now a great and growing institution in northern Ulster county, will be interested in learning that more people go for fishing of all kinds and more money is spent on it than any other sport: Some 12 million fishermen part with $1,200,000,000 a year—figures which put those of hunters, bowlers and golfers away in the shade.

Echo of waterworks days: May 17, 1910—Luella Snyder, Hurley, gives address of welcome at 18th annual convention of county Christian Endeavor union at Hurley Reformed Church. Others taking part included Mrs. John L. Ostrander, Hurley, and the Rev. Henry Brink of Shokan . . . Among papers left by the late Rachael Brodhead of Shokan were the commission given by the British Crown to Edmond Andros in 1655 and the 100-year-old Yale College diploma of Henry Abbey.

Fourth grade children from Room 9 at School No. 8 sponsored and planned their own hobby show of crafts and hobbies Monday and Tuesday this week, setting up more than 70 individual hobbies, as well as group exhibits in a gay and colorful setting.

Displays ranged from the usual stamps, post cards, and dolls, through to fossils, arrowheads, buttons, and live rabbits and kittens. One youngster's hobby was basketry, another's canning. Unusual collections of foreign money and handwork could be found in the displays.

Nor was the hobby show without its practical aspects, with the opportunity it supplied fourth graders to apply their arithmetic, English, and lessons in social conduct and group cooperation to an actual situation.

Judges for the event were John Garrison and Frank L. Meagher, both former principals in the city's schools.

The following prize winners for each division were named: Division 1, boys, grades one through three, James Thompson, match books, first; Thomas Valeo, stamps, second. Gay '90's Comedy To Be Coach House Players' Next

Coach House Players reached back into the corseted and wonderful Gay '90's recently, and came up with their next comedy attraction, a well upholstered and clamorous three-acter, Strange Bedfellows, the brain child of Florence Ryerson and Colin Clements.

An artfully concocted comedy, it revolves 'round and 'round family split betwixt and between a political situation. Players assure the politically minded in their audience, (and these days, who isn't?) a good deep belly laugh as mutual questions are solved by both sexes.

The following have been selected for roles in the cast: Marianne Davis, Marilyn Orr, Anne Van Brockin, Marie Costello, Ruth Herdman Rose Mellert, Maureen Rice, Doris Dodd, Kay Burgevin, Dennie Loomis, Eva Pech, Edward Eckert, Roy Wulff, Earl Pech, Dennis Brady, Richard Becker and Bruce Peters.

Bruce Peters, a Coach House Players' protege, will play the role of Nick as the Players' guest. The 14-year-old is too young to meet the Players' age limitations.

The production, under Houston Richards' always very able direction, will be given June 8. Originally it ran on Broadway in 1948.

Set in that bustle-backed year, 1896, sets, costumes, and props will all be authentic to the period when Queen Victoria held sway.

Rainbow decorations featuring a large, colorful umbrella, set the shower color scheme.

American and Indian Women Contrasted At Kingston Dinner Club's Last Meeting

A charming and magnetic young woman from India, the daughter of a Scotch father and an Indian mother, dark eyes sparkling with intelligence and humor, contrasted American and Indian women with rare flashes of insight and objectivity last night, speaking before the Kingston National Dinner Club at their last meeting of the season. Miss Nilima Burn-Perry's address was preceded by the election of officers, while following her remarks members cast ballots for next year's after dinner speakers.

Miss Burn-Perry, who came to the United States in 1946 after serving for four years with G.I.'s in her native India, confessed that at first all American women to her "horror, amazement, and chagrin" had appeared alike in their "basic little black dresses," a far cry from India's age old Sari, and the Indian woman's love of bright, flambuoyant colors, which is virtually her only means of self-expression.

Rolls History Back

Rolling history back through the ages, the speaker explained a little of woman's place in the ancient world, when man, who worshipped all in nature outside of his actual frame of reference, placed woman on a pedestal, inventing goddesses before gods, and priestesses before priests. The mother and her children, she added, formed the first family unit, excluding the father.

She also recounted the old Indian legend which begins: "When Brahma the Creator made the world, man came to him and asked him to give him a companion, for man was lonely." Brahma, an obliging god, took many of earth's loveliest things, and a few of her ugliest. Their fusion marked woman's creation. But man, the speaker smilingly added, was not content, and returned his companion four times for improvements.

Ancient India

Striking a more serious note, Miss Burn-Perry went on to explain that 4,000 years ago, at the Indian civilization's peak, the women of her native land were as physically and morally free as American women today. Their bondage was the result of barbarian invaders, sweeping from the north, who molested and abducted. Marriage was the only custom the barbarians held sacred. And so the ancient ritual of child marriage found roots in the soil of practicality, for if a girl were married while still a child, although the marriage was not consummated until adolescence, then the girl child would be safe. Foreign tribes also brought the custom of screening women and keeping them in separate quarters, believing no male except the husband or some close relative should view her.

The Indian woman's seclusion was completed by the belief that wife and motherhood are "a thousand times more worthy of reverence" than the role the average male plays in his lifetime. Believing this, India's women had no desire to break from their bond of confinement. At the beginning of the 20th century, the American woman's sister in India was overdeveloped in her understanding and knowledge of the family, and completely undeveloped in all social, civic, and political responsibilities.

Times Changing

"This is changing" the speaker hastened to add. Instrumental in turning the tide was Gandhi, whose method of passive resistance was so dependent upon his countrywomen. It was the women who participated in non-violence movements, Miss Burn-Perry explained, who sold their fabulous jewels, and gladly went to jail. And Gandhi's political advisor, twice president of the Congress Party, was a woman, the late Madame Sorajini Naidu. "Her memory" the speaker said, "will burn like a great beacon of light for years to come."

Today in India, women are invading the professions. Many are doctors, government workers, magistrates, and film stars.

The Sari

Miss Burn-Perry next demonstrated how her native dress, the Sari, a timeless costume, as old as India itself, is worn, and enumerated its advantages.

She closed her remarks with a few observations of the American woman, whom she termed a "jack of all trades," with her ability to jump from nursemaid to mechanic, from cook and dietician to purchasing agent and accountant.

"Women today are allowed to do anything," the speaker concluded quixotically. "But what do women want to do? Do they wish to obey their fundamental creative urge which psychologists say gives them the supreme happiness?"

Temple Women Honor Mother's Day, Israel's Statehood

The Women's Group of Congregation Agudas Achim devoted its May meeting last week to a mother-daughter celebration, as well as the third anniversary of Israel's Statehood. More than 150 persons attended the group's program which was under the chairmanship of Miss Rae Weiner and Miss Ida Epstein. Meanwhile, the Mmes. Jack Epstein and Max Weiner, hospitality committee members, presented each guest with a corsage as she arrived.

The program included greetings, Miss Weiner; Who Am I, a mystery personality quiz; song, Pinky Kreppel; Candlelight Service; songs, the choral group; piano selections, Miss Natalie Alcon; Don't Worry a Bit About Junior, Mrs. Herman Eaton; songs, Julia, Sherma, and Edith Werner; A Tribute to Mother, Mrs. Henry Singer; solo, Henry Levy; closing remarks, Miss Epstein.

Participating in the quiz were the Mmes. Robert Abeloff, Aaron Bahl, Jacob Kreppel, Ben Marcus, Seymour Markowitz, Irving Meyers, Louis Shapiro, Jack Sheinvold, H. Z. Rappaport and Michael Wally.

Participating in the candlelight service were the Misses Frieda Cohen, Shirley Cohen, Naomi Lurie, Sandra Margolis and Norma Zang. The choral group included Mrs. Epstein, Mrs. Marcus, Mrs. Markowitz, Mrs. Singer, Mrs. Sheinvold, Mrs. Werner and Miss Weiner.

Cooperating with Mrs. Harry Katzoff, refreshment committee chairman, and Mrs. Irving Alcon, corsage and floral decoration chairman, were the Mmes. Irving Buck, Ross Ellis, Joseph Epstein, Raphael Klein, Irving Meyers, David Wold, and the Misses Ida Epstein and Rae Weiner. Hostesses presiding at the refreshment table were the Mmes. Nathan Feldman, Emanuel Lipton, and Louis Shapiro.

County Missionary Union Holds Annual Luncheon Tuesday

Inspiring messages from both the foreign and domestic mission fields were given Tuesday by two speakers at the Missionary Union of the Classis of Ulster's annual luncheon in the Old First Reformed Church.

Approximately 130 guests heard Mrs. Robert Dickson tell of the work which is being done by the East Harlem Mission, a work started by four young men who are now organizing and carrying on a "magnificent campaign" for better living in area which is said to be of almost unbelievable need.

The second speaker, Mrs. David Van Strien, told of today's situation in China, particularly in relation to our own missionaries there. Mrs. Van Strien reported that while active work in that country may at present seem curtailed, there is still great hope for the future.

Mrs. Arthur Oudemool, president of the union, presided, and introduced the speakers. A prayer was offered by Mrs. Charles Palmer, and Mrs. Herbert Fister led the devotions. The benediction was pronounced by the Rev. David Weidner. Luncheon was served by the host church.

Card Parties

Kingston AAUW

Kingston Chapter of the American Association of University Women will hold a card party Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. at the YWCA for the benefit of its scholarship fund. Herbert DeKay, Ward Brigham, James Betts, John MacKinnon, and Miss Bernice Cohen. Reservations may be made by either calling Mrs. Betts at 2113, or Miss Cohen at 3242.

Mothers Are Honored By Wesleyan Guild

Members of Wesleyan Service Guild of Trinity Methodist Church, mothers and friends, met at the church Tuesday night for the annual Mother's Day dinner and program. Tables were attractively decorated with flowers and place cards appropriate to the occasion.

Devotions were in charge of Miss Adiska Conro who chose "Mothers" as her theme. The program which followed consisted of greetings from the WSCS by their president, Mrs. Frank Thompson; high-lights of the Methodist conference, Mrs. Ivan Gossoo; solo, Mrs. Henry Terpening; and movies shown by the Rev. Ivan Gossoo.

Mrs. Henry Terpening, Mrs. Donald Schoonmaker and Mrs. Bodie were the committee in charge of the dinner. Miss Anna Dell Quimby, president, presided.

Bruce Peters, a Coach House Players' protege, will play the role of Nick as the Players' guest. The 14-year-old is too young to meet the Players' age limitations.

The production, under Houston Richards' always very able direction, will be given June 8. Originally it ran on Broadway in 1948.

Set in that bustle-backed year, 1896, sets, costumes, and props will all be authentic to the period when Queen Victoria held sway.

American and Indian Women Contrasted At Kingston Dinner Club's Last Meeting

A charming and magnetic young woman from India, the daughter of a Scotch father and an Indian mother, dark eyes sparkling with intelligence and humor, contrasted American and Indian women with rare flashes of insight and objectivity last night, speaking before the Kingston National Dinner Club at their last meeting of the season. Miss Nilima Burn-Perry's address was preceded by the election of officers, while following her remarks members cast ballots for next year's after dinner speakers.

Miss Burn-Perry, who came to the United States in 1946 after serving for four years with G.I.'s in her native India, confessed that at first all American women to her "horror, amazement, and chagrin" had appeared alike in their "basic little black dresses," a far cry from India's age old Sari, and the Indian woman's love of bright, flambuoyant colors, which is virtually her only means of self-expression.

Rolls History Back

Rolling history back through the ages, the speaker explained a little of woman's place in the ancient world, when man, who worshipped all in nature outside of his actual frame of reference, placed woman on a pedestal, inventing goddesses before gods, and priestesses before priests. The mother and her children, she added, formed the first family unit, excluding the father.

She also recounted the old Indian legend which begins: "When Brahma the Creator made the world, man came to him and asked him to give him a companion, for man was lonely." Brahma, an obliging god, took many of earth's loveliest things, and a few of her ugliest. Their fusion marked woman's creation. But man, the speaker smilingly added, was not content, and returned his companion four times for improvements.

Ancient India

Striking a more serious note, Miss Burn-Perry went on to explain that 4,000 years ago, at the Indian civilization's peak, the women of her native land were as physically and morally free as American women today. Their bondage was the result of barbarian invaders, sweeping from the north, who molested and abducted. Marriage was the only custom the barbarians held sacred. And so the ancient ritual of child marriage found roots in the soil of practicality, for if a girl were married while still a child, although the marriage was not consummated until adolescence, then the girl child would be safe. Foreign tribes also brought the custom of screening women and keeping them in separate quarters, believing no male except the husband or some close relative should view her.

The Indian woman's seclusion was completed by the belief that wife and motherhood are "a thousand times more worthy of reverence" than the role the average male plays in his lifetime. Believing this, India's women had no desire to break from their bond of confinement. At the beginning of the 20th century, the American woman's sister in India was overdeveloped in her understanding and knowledge of the family, and completely undeveloped in all social, civic, and political responsibilities.

Times Changing

"This is changing" the speaker hastened to add. Instrumental in turning the tide was Gandhi, whose method of passive resistance was so dependent upon his countrywomen. It was the women who participated in non-violence movements, Miss Burn-Perry explained, who sold their fabulous jewels, and gladly went to jail. And Gandhi's political advisor, twice president of the Congress Party, was a woman, the late Madame Sorajini Naidu. "Her memory" the speaker said, "will burn like a great beacon of light for years to come."

Today in India, women are invading the professions. Many are doctors, government workers, magistrates, and film stars.

The Sari

Miss Burn-Perry next demonstrated how her native dress, the Sari, a timeless costume, as old as India itself, is worn, and enumerated its advantages.

She closed her remarks with a few observations of the American woman, whom she termed a "jack of all trades," with her ability to jump from nursemaid to mechanic, from cook and dietician to purchasing agent and accountant.

"Women today are allowed to do anything," the speaker concluded quixotically. "But what do women want to do? Do they wish to obey their fundamental creative urge which psychologists say gives them the supreme happiness?"

County Missionary Union Holds Annual Luncheon Tuesday

Inspiring messages from both the foreign and domestic mission fields were given Tuesday by two speakers at the Missionary Union of the Classis of Ulster's annual luncheon in the Old First Reformed Church.

Approximately 130 guests heard Mrs. Robert Dickson tell of the work which is being done by the East Harlem Mission, a work started by four young men who are now organizing and carrying on a "magnificent campaign" for better living in area which is said to be of almost unbelievable need.

The second speaker, Mrs. David Van Strien, told of today's situation in China, particularly in relation to our own missionaries there. Mrs. Van Strien reported that while active work in that country may at present seem curtailed, there is still great hope for the future.

Mrs. Arthur Oudemool, president of the union, presided, and introduced the speakers. A prayer was offered by Mrs. Charles Palmer, and Mrs. Herbert Fister led the devotions. The benediction was pronounced by the Rev. David Weidner. Luncheon was served by the host church.

Fourth Graders Hold Own 'Hobby Show' At School No. 8

Fourth grade children from Room 9 at School No. 8 sponsored and planned their own hobby show of crafts and hobbies Monday and Tuesday this week, setting up more than 70 individual hobbies, as well as group exhibits in a gay and colorful setting.

Displays ranged from the usual stamps, post cards, and dolls, through to fossils, arrowheads, buttons, and live rabbits and kittens. One youngster's hobby was basketry, another's canning. Unusual collections of foreign money and handwork could be found in the displays.

Nor was the hobby show without its practical aspects, with the opportunity it supplied fourth graders to apply their arithmetic, English, and lessons in social conduct and group cooperation to an actual situation.

Judges for the event were John Garrison and Frank L. Meagher, both former principals in the city's schools.

The following prize winners for each division were named: Division 1, boys, grades one through three, James Thompson, match books, first; Thomas Valeo, stamps; second. Division 2, girls, grades one through three, Sheila Epstein, dolls, first; Joanne Boughton, Austrian handwork, second. Division 5, group crafts, grades one through three, Room 4, clay modeling, first; Room 2, clay modeling, second. Gay '90's Comedy To Be Coach House Players' Next

Coach House Players reached back into the corseted and wonderful Gay '90's recently, and came up with their next comedy attraction, a well upholstered and clamorous three-acter, Strange Bedfellows, the brain child of Florence Ryerson and Colin Clements.

An artfully concocted comedy, it revolves 'round and 'round family split betwixt and between a political situation. Players assure the politically minded in their audience, (and these days, who isn't?) a good deep belly laugh as mutual questions are solved by both sexes.

The following have been selected for roles in the cast: Marianne Davis, Marilyn Orr, Anne Van Brockin, Marie Costello, Ruth Herdman Rose Mellert, Maureen Rice, Doris Dodd, Kay Burgevin, Dennie Loomis, Eva Pech, Edward Eckert, Roy Wulff, Earl Pech, Dennis Brady, Richard Becker and Bruce Peters.

Bruce Peters, a Coach House Players' protege, will play the role of Nick as the Players' guest. The 14-year-old is too young to meet the Players' age limitations.

The production, under Houston Richards' always very able direction, will be given June 8. Originally it ran on Broadway in 1948.

Set in that bustle-backed year, 1896, sets, costumes, and props will all be authentic to the period when Queen Victoria held sway.

Rome Routs Colonials For Fourteenth Loss

Let's not kid ourselves much longer, gentlemen.

Storm warnings for the Canadian-American Baseball League went up in Rome last night.

The ostrich-like attitude of several men concerned with the future of the local Colonials and the longevity of the Can-Am circuit had better change in a hurry.

Buck Etchison's Colonels manhandled the Kingston nine, 16 to 1, but that wasn't a particularly outstanding news item. It had happened before in the 1951 season.

The big question of the moment is:

Does Kingston Baseball Club, Inc., have sufficient funds on hand to purchase the calibre of baseball players needed to bring the Colonials up to the level of the rest of the league?

And if the chancellor of the exchequer cannot answer that question in the affirmative, where do we go from here?

A League Problem, Now

Where does President Albert Houghton of the Canadian-American League stand in the present debacle that has engulfed the newest franchise in his Class C circuit?

If Kingston goes, so does the Can-Am League.

Four of the clubs in the circuit—Rome, Oneonta, Pittsfield and Amsterdam — are affiliated with major league organizations. And very little help will be forthcoming from them. The parent major league clubs are up to their ears in personnel problems trying to feed their chain system. And the situation figures to get worse before it improves.

Ten-Run Inning

Last night's contest in Rome was a respectable joust until the Colonels broke loose with a 10-run barrage in the seventh inning.

Sixteen men batted in that horrendous frame — five collected singles, seven walked and there was an error. Chico Alvarado, the last of four Colonial hurlers, snuffed out the fire with the bases loaded and ten runs in.

Rome collected 13 hits and received 14 walks. Vince Canepa, the Colonial starter, lasted until the seventh, when Jack Ormiston and Frank Seeley both saw action before Alvarado came on to put out the fire.

Kingston's lone marker off Sal Arduini, who yielded only five hits, came in the third inning when Dick Healey went to second on an infield error and scored on Canepa's single to center.

COLONIAL CAPERS: Rome series ends tonight, with the Colonials returning home for a Saturday engagement with Pittsfield. The locals go to Pittsfield on Sunday. Manager Hank Camelli was thumbed out of the game by umpire Williamson in the sixth inning, after disputing a decision at home plate. Joe Stelmach, second baseman, and Walter Sullivan, pitcher, were given unconditional releases yesterday. Stelmach showed an early-season knack of coaxing walks but he was a weak hitter and an inadequate fielder. Sullivan, former House of David pitcher, was pounded hard the last few times out. The first of a series of "Ladies' Nights" is scheduled on Monday, when the Rome Colonels come in. Charlie Ayers will pitch tonight's game in Rome.

Thomas B. Scot Nears Track Mark

Yonkers, N. Y., May 18 (AP)—Taking the lead at the half mile, Thomas B. Scot paced the second fastest mile ever recorded at Yonkers Raceway and the fastest of the spring meeting in capturing the $7,500 U. S. Harness Writers pace last night in 2:03 2/5.

The crowd of 17,267 made the five-year old brown son of Scotland a 2 to 1 second choice in the 12-horse field. He paid $7.00, $4.10 and $3.40 across the board. Thomas B. Carlock was the driver.

Waysoff, the 3-2 favorite, was a head behind the winner and returned $3.10 and $2.70. Third place went to Steele Hanover, a 70-1 shot which paid $12.70 for show.

Jockeys Set Down

Inglewood, Calif., May 18 (AP)—Jockeys Johnny Longden and Willie Shoemaker drew three day suspensions yesterday for "careless riding" at Hollywood Park. Longden was cited for interfering aboard Sun Rene in Wednesday's seventh race, Shoemaker for his ride on Sea Novice in the fourth. The suspensions last through next Thursday with stakes engagements exempt.

Seeking to check their disastrous losing streak, the Colonials have added four newcomers to club roster in the past few days. Left to right, they are: Tony Gomez, outfielder; Dick Healey, infielder; Frank Seeley, pitcher; and Bob Oliner, who is currently playing first base. The aforementioned trio saw action in last year's Colonial League. Seeley had a 7 and 3 record with the Bristol Owls. Oliner was recommended by the Boston Braves. (Freeman Photo)

Can-Am Roundup

(By The Associated Press)

Amsterdam was back on top of the Canadian-American League today after treating the former leader in an unmerciful fashion.

The Ruggers defeated the Pittsfield Electrics last night, 24-6, and blasted out 25 hits in the process. The win moved Amsterdam a half-game ahead of Pittsfield.

Three of the Rugmaker blows at Amsterdam were homers — by Jack Bella with two on in the second, John Jones, with two on in the first, and Bill Casanova, with one on in the fifth. Amsterdam's third baseman, Ossie Barham had five singles and a triple in seven times at bat.

Kingston moved deeper into the cellar by absorbing a 16-1 pasting at Rome. The loss was the 14th in 15 tries for Kingston. The big inning for the Colonels was the seventh, when 16 men batted, and 10 runs came over the plate. Five hits, one error and seven walks accounted for the scoring.

Oneonta came up with two runs in the last of the 10th to beat visiting Gloversville, 7-6. The winning tallies came on two walks and three singles. Oneonta's John Minarcin clouted a 400-foot homer in the fourth with one on.

Ty Cobb Deflates Ted as 'Immortal'

Atherton, Calif., May 18 (AP)—Ty Cobb, one of the most feared batters in baseball history, says Ted Williams cannot be classed as "a great hitter."

The old Georgia Peach, whose flashing performances as a Detroit Tiger wrote vivid chapters in the record books, pulled no punches while discussing the Boston Red Sox slugger.

"Williams has fine ability but he cannot be classed as a great hitter," Cobb said. "No player can be called a truly great hitter unless he can hit to all fields."

Conceding the Red Sox star has the power to lose a ball if he connects solidly, he contended that alone does not make a top batsman. He reminded that Big Ted maces balls so consistently to right field that opposing teams shift their outfielders and second baseman far over with impunity.

Lists DiMaggio

"In my book you have to be able to hit them to all fields," he said.

Williams' slugging has been compared favorably to that of the late Babe Ruth. Cobb said the Bambino rightfully deserves recognition as one of the great hitters.

Of the famed New York Yankees powerhouse, whose home run feats will live forever, Cobb said simply:

"Ruth could choke up his bat and hit to left field any time he wanted. He had everything necessary to earn his place among the baseball immortals."

Others Cobb thinks belong in the category of "great hitters" include Rogers Hornsby, George Sisler and Joe DiMaggio.

Rome Routs Colonials For Fourteenth Loss

Storm warnings for the Canadian-American Baseball League went up in Rome last night.

If Kingston goes, so does the Can-Am League.

Four of the clubs in the circuit—Rome, Oneonta, Pittsfield and Amsterdam — are affiliated with major league organizations. And very little help will be forthcoming from them. The parent major league clubs are up to their ears in personnel problems trying to feed their chain system. And the situation figures to get worse before it improves.

Rome Routs Colonials For Fourteenth Loss

Let's not kid ourselves much longer, gentlemen.

Storm warnings for the Canadian-American Baseball League went up in Rome last night.

The ostrich-like attitude of several men concerned with the future of the local Colonials and the longevity of the Can-Am circuit had better change in a hurry.

Buck Etchison's Colonels manhandled the Kingston nine, 16 to 1, but that wasn't a particularly outstanding news item. It had happened before in the 1951 season.

The big question of the moment is:

Does Kingston Baseball Club, Inc., have sufficient funds on hand to purchase the calibre of baseball players needed to bring the Colonials up to the level of the rest of the league?

And if the chancellor of the exchequer cannot answer that question in the affirmative, where do we go from here?

A League Problem, Now

Where does President Albert Houghton of the Canadian-American League stand in the present debacle that has engulfed the newest franchise in his Class C circuit?

If Kingston goes, so does the Can-Am League.

Four of the clubs in the circuit—Rome, Oneonta, Pittsfield and Amsterdam — are affiliated with major league organizations. And very little help will be forthcoming from them. The parent major league clubs are up to their ears in personnel problems trying to feed their chain system. And the situation figures to get worse before it improves.

Ten-Run Inning

Last night's contest in Rome was a respectable joust until the Colonels broke loose with a 10-run barrage in the seventh inning.

Sixteen men batted in that horrendous frame — five collected singles, seven walked and there was an error. Chico Alvarado, the last of four Colonial hurlers, snuffed out the fire with the bases loaded and ten runs in.

Rome collected 13 hits and received 14 walks. Vince Canepa, the Colonial starter, lasted until the seventh, when Jack Ormiston and Frank Seeley both saw action before Alvarado came on to put out the fire.

Kingston's lone marker off Sal Arduini, who yielded only five hits, came in the third inning when Dick Healey went to second on an infield error and scored on Canepa's single to center.

COLONIAL CAPERS: Rome series ends tonight, with the Colonials returning home for a Saturday engagement with Pittsfield. The locals go to Pittsfield on Sunday. Manager Hank Camelli was thumbed out of the game by umpire Williamson in the sixth inning, after disputing a decision at home plate. Joe Stelmach, second baseman, and Walter Sullivan, pitcher, were given unconditional releases yesterday. Stelmach showed an early-season knack of coaxing walks but he was a weak hitter and an inadequate fielder. Sullivan, former House of David pitcher, was pounded hard the last few times out. The first of a series of "Ladies' Nights" is scheduled on Monday, when the Rome Colonels come in. Charlie Ayers will pitch tonight's game in Rome.

Thomas B. Scot Nears Track Mark

Yonkers, N. Y., May 18 (AP)—Taking the lead at the half mile, Thomas B. Scot paced the second fastest mile ever recorded at Yonkers Raceway and the fastest of the spring meeting in capturing the $7,500 U. S. Harness Writers pace last night in 2:03 2/5.

The crowd of 17,267 made the five-year old brown son of Scotland a 2 to 1 second choice in the 12-horse field. He paid $7.00, $4.10 and $3.40 across the board. Thomas B. Carlock was the driver.

Waysoff, the 3-2 favorite, was a head behind the winner and returned $3.10 and $2.70. Third place went to Steele Hanover, a 70-1 shot which paid $12.70 for show.

Jockeys Set Down

Inglewood, Calif., May 18 (AP)—Jockeys Johnny Longden and Willie Shoemaker drew three day suspensions yesterday for "careless riding" at Hollywood Park. Longden was cited for interfering aboard Sun Rene in Wednesday's seventh race, Shoemaker for his ride on Sea Novice in the fourth. The suspensions last through next Thursday with stakes engagements exempt.

NEW PLAYERS IN COLONIAL LINEUP

Seeking to check their disastrous losing streak, the Colonials have added four newcomers to club roster in the past few days. Left to right, they are: Tony Gomez, outfielder; Dick Healey, infielder; Frank Seeley, pitcher; and Bob Oliner, who is currently playing first base. The aforementioned trio saw action in last year's Colonial League. Seeley had a 7 and 3 record with the Bristol Owls. Oliner was recommended by the Boston Braves. (Freeman Photo)

Can-Am Roundup

(By The Associated Press)

Amsterdam was back on top of the Canadian-American League today after treating the former leader in an unmerciful fashion.

The Ruggers defeated the Pittsfield Electrics last night, 24-6, and blasted out 25 hits in the process. The win moved Amsterdam a half-game ahead of Pittsfield.

Three of the Rugmaker blows at Amsterdam were homers — by Jack Bella with two on in the second, John Jones, with two on in the first, and Bill Casanova, with one on in the fifth. Amsterdam's third baseman, Ossie Barham had five singles and a triple in seven times at bat.

Kingston moved deeper into the cellar by absorbing a 16-1 pasting at Rome. The loss was the 14th in 15 tries for Kingston. The big inning for the Colonels was the seventh, when 16 men batted, and 10 runs came over the plate. Five hits, one error and seven walks accounted for the scoring.

Oneonta came up with two runs in the last of the 10th to beat visiting Gloversville, 7-6. The winning tallies came on two walks and three singles. Oneonta's John Minarcin clouted a 400-foot homer in the fourth with one on.

Ty Cobb Deflates Ted as 'Immortal'

Atherton, Calif., May 18 (AP)—Ty Cobb, one of the most feared batters in baseball history, says Ted Williams cannot be classed as "a great hitter."

The old Georgia Peach, whose flashing performances as a Detroit Tiger wrote vivid chapters in the record books, pulled no punches while discussing the Boston Red Sox slugger.

"Williams has fine ability but he cannot be classed as a great hitter," Cobb said. "No player can be called a truly great hitter unless he can hit to all fields."

Conceding the Red Sox star has the power to lose a ball if he connects solidly, he contended that alone does not make a top batsman. He reminded that Big Ted maces balls so consistently to right field that opposing teams shift their outfielders and second baseman far over with impunity.

Lists DiMaggio

"In my book you have to be able to hit them to all fields," he said.

Williams' slugging has been compared favorably to that of the late Babe Ruth. Cobb said the Bambino rightfully deserves recognition as one of the great hitters.

Of the famed New York Yankees powerhouse, whose home run feats will live forever, Cobb said simply:

"Ruth could choke up his bat and hit to left field any time he wanted. He had everything necessary to earn his place among the baseball immortals."

Others Cobb thinks belong in the category of "great hitters" include Rogers Hornsby, George Sisler and Joe DiMaggio.

The Scoreboard

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Attention radio quiz show fans. Here's the jackpot question. When did the New York Yankees last lose a ball game at Yankee Stadium?

No coaching, please. No peaking in the old Sporting News.

The answer is Sept. 26, 1950. A World Series and 10 straight 1951 victories have passed and the end is not in sight. Talk about Boston's friendly Fenway. The Yanks home in the Bronx has that stopped six ways.

Just look at the record:

	At home W	L
New York	10	0
Boston	5	4

One day the Yanks bomb you to death. Next day they finesse you with skillful pitching and brilliant defense. It must be discouraging for the tourists.

You won't see many better-pitched games than Early Wynn threw at the Yanks yesterday. Still he lost 1-0, as his Cleveland Tribe left 13 on the bases.

Joe DiMaggio applied the clincher with an innocent first-inning single scoring Dr. Bobby Brown. Wynn gave up only three hits in his seven-inning stay, one a triple by Gerry Coleman in the eighth. Coleman was erased when a squeeze play backfiered.

All day the Indians labored, combing Allie Reynolds for nine hits. But it did no good.

Zernial on Rampage

Big Gus Zernial continued his home run streak with his seventh in four consecutive games for the Philadelphia A's. Gus tied an American League record, set by Tony Lazzeri in 1936. But he fell short of Ralph Kiner's major league high, hung up in 1947.

The A's crept out of the cellar on a 7-6 victory over St. Louis. Eddie Joost's ninth-inning single scoring Ray Murray was the clincher for Bobby Shantz, who turned in brilliant three-hit relief pitching after replacing Joe Coleman in the first.

It was too cold for the Red Sox to play the White Sox at Fenway but Boston warmed up with a deal for a catcher. Les Moss of the Browns moved to Boston for catcher Matt Batts and pitcher Jim Suchecki.

Connie Marrero shook Washington out of a four-game losing streak by beating Detroit, 11-6, for his fifth straight win. Sam Mele led the attack with two triples and two singles.

It's still only three games from the bottom in the National with Brooklyn, the pre-season favorite, on top, and the 1950 champion Phillies in the cellar.

The vaunted Dodger power was missing at Chicago where Frank Hiller spun a seven-hitter, 7-0, while Ransom Jackson and Hank Sauer ripped into Erv Palica for home runs.

Sauer's four RBIs for the day sent him out front in the league with 29, the same number Mickey Mantle, the Yanks rookie flash, has in the American.

Keeping pace with the Cubs, the Pittsburgh Pirates moved within one game of first place by knocking off New York, 12-7. Ralph Kiner had a big day with his sixth homer and a double to drive in five runs. The win went to Murry Dickson and the loss to Montia Kennedy.

Cincinnati edged even with the .500 mark on a 6-5 win over Boston's Warren Spahn. Willard Ramsdell weakened in the eighth when the Braves scored four and Harry Perkowski bailed him out. Connie Ryan of the Reds and Sid Gordon of the Braves each hit three-run homers.

Rookie Joe Presko of St. Louis pitched his first complete game in the majors to whip the Phillies, 2-1. The Cardinal quickie lost his shutout bid when Andy Seminick homered in the ninth.

Yesterday's Stars

(By The Associated Press)

Batting, Ralph Kiner, Pirates—Hit ninth homer with two on and doubled home two for 5 RBIs in Pirates' 12-7 win over Giants.

Pitching, Allie Reynolds, Yankees—Pitched himself in and out of trouble, stranding 13 Cleveland Indians in nine-hit 1-0 win.

Pier, Ship Burned

Philadelphia, May 18 (AP)—A raging waterfront fire swept through a pier and a cargo ship on the Delaware river today. Police said they believed one crewman was trapped aboard the burning cargo ship, the Pineland Leith, about 4,000 gross tons. At least a dozen other crewmen jumped into the water as the burning vessel parted its mooring lines and drifted toward an adjoining pier. Some were taken to nearby hospitals. There was no immediate information whether anyone had been caught by the fast-spreading fire on Pier 46 south which juts 800 feet into the river in this busy ocean shipping port.

• Short Takes:

Poughkeepsie baseball fans, who have not deserted Wes Westrum because Rafael Noble, the Cuban, has the Giant catcher chained to Leo Durocher's bench, are planning a big "Wes Westrum Night" in the Polo Grounds in August.

Lafayette Post, American Legion, and its past commander, Fred Healey, are leading the movement. Supreme Court Justice Flannery has accepted the invitation to serve as honorary chairman of the general committee which is organizing the program.

Here's a chance for you Westrum and Giant fans to help a fine gesture toward the Hudson valley's lone representative in the major leagues.

The 32-team delegation of the Kingston Woman's Bowling Association is batting .031 on the matter of reporting boxscores on their recent trek to the state tournament in Binghamton. Really, ladies, the results couldn't have been as horrible as all that. Or could they?

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

Middletown and Poughkeepsie are currently leading the DUSO Golf League with four wins and one defeat each, but don't count out Coach Bob DeFeis' Maroon swingers. Average attendance for first six games at Rome in Can-Am was 817, "way under" previous figures. Pete Elko and Hank Camelli had a nice long chat in the Colonial dressing room Tuesday evening, but the Colonials hardly figure to sign Elko on his terms. Not unless he bats .375 and knocked in 125 runs. Newcomers William Bremer and Frank Seeley should give badly needed lift to our Colonials. It has been said that no business manager of an organized baseball club can complete his multiple duties in less than 18 hours a day. Claude Middagh of the Colonials might go along on that one. The Sid Schacht purchased by the Boston Braves from the St. Louis Browns a few days ago is the ex-Colonial League hurler with Stamford in 1948. He won 19 and lost five with Scranton in the Eastern League in 1949. Little League baseball booming in nearly every city, village and town in the mid-Hudson area.

• How About That, Managers?

A City Baseball League expert, who should know, points up an interesting situation that is developing in the twilight loop.

Aside from creating a scorer's nightmare, the managers who make wholesale changes in the line-ups, just for the hell of it, putting infielders in the outfield, first basemen on third base, etc., are unfair to those players, the expert points out. There are many attractive prizes up for various positions in the league this year and no player should be jeopardized by capricious, checkerboard moves by his manager.

A shortstop who is good at that position and may be in line for an award, for instance, may find that he is just shy of the necessary number of innings to qualify for that award, because his manager (being a mastermind in his own mind) insists on changing the positions of his players.

This applies, naturally, only to players who are established performers at a given position. Think it over, managers, and don't needlessly hurt the chances of your star players for all-league recognition.

Ted Williams, the Red Sox's Temperamental Thumper, joined an exclusive group of all-time sluggers with his 300th homer Tuesday night. There are only 10 on the list, with Babe Ruth leading the parade by miles with 714. Jimmy Foxx is second with 534; then follow in order: Mell Ott 511, Lou Gehrig 494; Joe DiMaggio 351; Johnny Mize 341; Hank Greenberg 331, Rogers Hornsby 302, Chuck Klein 300 and Ted Williams 300. Of the active players in the majors, Ralph Kiner is a sure bet for the future. He opened the 1951 campaign with 215. Duke Snider of the Dodgers also rates in the future books.

Memo to Knute Beichert: Please have Durocher return that "How to Play Baseball" manual to me. He won't need it any more this year.

Gavilan 2-1 Choice To Defeat Bratton

New York, May 18 (AP)—Kid Gavilan, the sleek Cuban hawk, is a solid 2 to 1 choice to whip Chicago's Johnny Bratton tonight in a 15-round bout for the welterweight championship vacated by Sugar Ray Robinson.

Bratton already holds a piece of the title, winning N.B.A. recognition by grabbing a split decision over Charlie Fusari at Chicago in March. But New York state awaits the result of this Madison Square Garden battle before giving its blessing.

Advance sales indicate a crowd of some 10,000 and a $50,000 gate, despite the network radio (ABC) and television (NBC) coverage. The bout goes on at 9 p. m. (EST).

The winner must meet New York's Billy Graham within 60 days to get universal recognition. Later the survivor probably will have to fight Britain's claimant, Eddie Thomas.

Brooklyn (Eastern Parkway Arena)—Rocky Castellani, 157¼, Teaneck, N. J., stopped Joe Di Martino, 149½, Bridgeport, Conn.

The SCOREBOARD

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Attention radio quiz show fans. Here's the jackpot question. When did the New York Yankees last lose a ball game at Yankee Stadium?

No coaching, please. No peaking in the old Sporting News.

The answer is Sept. 26, 1950. A World Series and 10 straight 1951 victories have passed and the end is not in sight. Talk about Boston's friendly Fenway. The Yanks home in the Bronx has that stopped six ways.

Just look at the record:

	At home W	L
New York	10	0
Boston	5	4

One day the Yanks bomb you to death. Next day they finesse you with skillful pitching and brilliant defense. It must be discouraging for the tourists.

You won't see many better-pitched games than Early Wynn threw at the Yanks yesterday. Still he lost 1-0, as his Cleveland Tribe left 13 on the bases.

Joe DiMaggio applied the clincher with an innocent first-inning single scoring Dr. Bobby Brown. Wynn gave up only three hits in his seven-inning stay, one a triple by Gerry Coleman in the eighth. Coleman was erased when a squeeze play backfiered.

All day the Indians labored, combing Allie Reynolds for nine hits. But it did no good.

Zernial on Rampage

Big Gus Zernial continued his home run streak with his seventh in four consecutive games for the Philadelphia A's. Gus tied an American League record, set by Tony Lazzeri in 1936. But he fell short of Ralph Kiner's major league high, hung up in 1947.

The A's crept out of the cellar on a 7-6 victory over St. Louis. Eddie Joost's ninth-inning single scoring Ray Murray was the clincher for Bobby Shantz, who turned in brilliant three-hit relief pitching after replacing Joe Coleman in the first.

It was too cold for the Red Sox to play the White Sox at Fenway but Boston warmed up with a deal for a catcher. Les Moss of the Browns moved to Boston for catcher Matt Batts and pitcher Jim Suchecki.

Connie Marrero shook Washington out of a four-game losing streak by beating Detroit, 11-6, for his fifth straight win. Sam Mele led the attack with two triples and two singles.

It's still only three games from the bottom in the National with Brooklyn, the pre-season favorite, on top, and the 1950 champion Phillies in the cellar.

The vaunted Dodger power was missing at Chicago where Frank Hiller spun a seven-hitter, 7-0, while Ransom Jackson and Hank Sauer ripped into Erv Palica for home runs.

Sauer's four RBIs for the day sent him out front in the league with 29, the same number Mickey Mantle, the Yanks rookie flash, has in the American.

Keeping pace with the Cubs, the Pittsburgh Pirates moved within one game of first place by knocking off New York, 12-7. Ralph Kiner had a big day with his sixth homer and a double to drive in five runs. The win went to Murry Dickson and the loss to Montia Kennedy.

Cincinnati edged even with the .500 mark on a 6-5 win over Boston's Warren Spahn. Willard Ramsdell weakened in the eighth when the Braves scored four and Harry Perkowski bailed him out. Connie Ryan of the Reds and Sid Gordon of the Braves each hit three-run homers.

Rookie Joe Presko of St. Louis pitched his first complete game in the majors to whip the Phillies, 2-1. The Cardinal quickie lost his shutout bid when Andy Seminick homered in the ninth.

Yesterday's Stars

(By The Associated Press)

Batting, Ralph Kiner, Pirates—Hit ninth homer with two on and doubled home two for 5 RBIs in Pirates' 12-7 win over Giants.

Pitching, Allie Reynolds, Yankees—Pitched himself in and out of trouble, stranding 13 Cleveland Indians in nine-hit 1-0 win.

Pier, Ship Burned

Philadelphia, May 18 (AP)—A raging waterfront fire swept through a pier and a cargo ship on the Delaware river today. Police said they believed one crewman was trapped aboard the burning cargo ship, the Pineland Leith, about 4,000 gross tons. At least a dozen other crewmen jumped into the water as the burning vessel parted its mooring lines and drifted toward an adjoining pier. Some were taken to nearby hospitals. There was no immediate information whether anyone had been caught by the fast-spreading fire on Pier 46 south which juts 800 feet into the river in this busy ocean shipping port.

• Short Takes:

Poughkeepsie baseball fans, who have not deserted Wes Westrum because Rafael Noble, the Cuban, has the Giant catcher chained to Leo Durocher's bench, are planning a big "Wes Westrum Night" in the Polo Grounds in August.

Lafayette Post, American Legion, and its past commander, Fred Healey, are leading the movement. Supreme Court Justice Flannery has accepted the invitation to serve as honorary chairman of the general committee which is organizing the program.

Here's a chance for you Westrum and Giant fans to help a fine gesture toward the Hudson valley's lone representative in the major leagues.

The 32-team delegation of the Kingston Woman's Bowling Association is batting .031 on the matter of reporting boxscores on their recent trek to the state tournament in Binghamton. Really, ladies, the results couldn't have been as horrible as all that. Or could they?

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

Middletown and Poughkeepsie are currently leading the DUSO Golf League with four wins and one defeat each, but don't count out Coach Bob DeFeis' Maroon swingers. Average attendance for first six games at Rome in Can-Am was 817, "way under" previous figures. Pete Elko and Hank Camelli had a nice long chat in the Colonial dressing room Tuesday evening, but the Colonials hardly figure to sign Elko on his terms. Not unless he bats .375 and knocked in 125 runs. Newcomers William Bremer and Frank Seeley should give badly needed lift to our Colonials. It has been said that no business manager of an organized baseball club can complete his multiple duties in less than 18 hours a day. Claude Middagh of the Colonials might go along on that one. The Sid Schacht purchased by the Boston Braves from the St. Louis Browns a few days ago is the ex-Colonial League hurler with Stamford in 1948. He won 19 and lost five with Scranton in the Eastern League in 1949. Little League baseball booming in nearly every city, village and town in the mid-Hudson area.

• How About That, Managers?

A City Baseball League expert, who should know, points up an interesting situation that is developing in the twilight loop.

Aside from creating a scorer's nightmare, the managers who make wholesale changes in the line-ups, just for the hell of it, putting infielders in the outfield, first basemen on third base, etc., are unfair to those players, the expert points out. There are many attractive prizes up for various positions in the league this year and no player should be jeopardized by capricious, checkerboard moves by his manager.

A shortstop who is good at that position and may be in line for an award, for instance, may find that he is just shy of the necessary number of innings to qualify for that award, because his manager (being a mastermind in his own mind) insists on changing the positions of his players.

This applies, naturally, only to players who are established performers at a given position. Think it over, managers, and don't needlessly hurt the chances of your star players for all-league recognition.

Ted Williams, the Red Sox's Temperamental Thumper, joined an exclusive group of all-time sluggers with his 300th homer Tuesday night. There are only 10 on the list, with Babe Ruth leading the parade by miles with 714. Jimmy Foxx is second with 534; then follow in order: Mell Ott 511, Lou Gehrig 494; Joe DiMaggio 351; Johnny Mize 341; Hank Greenberg 331, Rogers Hornsby 302, Chuck Klein 300 and Ted Williams 300. Of the active players in the majors, Ralph Kiner is a sure bet for the future. He opened the 1951 campaign with 215. Duke Snider of the Dodgers also rates in the future books.

Memo to Knute Beichert: Please have Durocher return that "How to Play Baseball" manual to me. He won't need it any more this year.

Gavilan 2-1 Choice To Defeat Bratton

New York, May 18 (AP)—Kid Gavilan, the sleek Cuban hawk, is a solid 2 to 1 choice to whip Chicago's Johnny Bratton tonight in a 15-round bout for the welterweight championship vacated by Sugar Ray Robinson.

Bratton already holds a piece of the title, winning N.B.A. recognition by grabbing a split decision over Charlie Fusari at Chicago in March. But New York state awaits the result of this Madison Square Garden battle before giving its blessing.

Advance sales indicate a crowd of some 10,000 and a $50,000 gate, despite the network radio (ABC) and television (NBC) coverage. The bout goes on at 9 p. m. (EST).

The winner must meet New York's Billy Graham within 60 days to get universal recognition. Later the survivor probably will have to fight Britain's claimant, Eddie Thomas.

The SCOREBOARD

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Attention radio quiz show fans. Here's the jackpot question. When did the New York Yankees last lose a ball game at Yankee Stadium?

No coaching, please. No peaking in the old Sporting News.

The answer is Sept. 26, 1950. A World Series and 10 straight 1951 victories have passed and the end is not in sight. Talk about Boston's friendly Fenway. The Yanks home in the Bronx has that stopped six ways.

Just look at the record:

	At home W	L
New York	10	0
Boston	5	4

One day the Yanks bomb you to death. Next day they finesse you with skillful pitching and brilliant defense. It must be discouraging for the tourists.

You won't see many better-pitched games than Early Wynn threw at the Yanks yesterday. Still he lost 1-0, as his Cleveland Tribe left 13 on the bases.

Joe DiMaggio applied the clincher with an innocent first-inning single scoring Dr. Bobby Brown. Wynn gave up only three hits in his seven-inning stay, one a triple by Gerry Coleman in the eighth. Coleman was erased when a squeeze play backfiered.

All day the Indians labored, combing Allie Reynolds for nine hits. But it did no good.

Zernial on Rampage

Big Gus Zernial continued his home run streak with his seventh in four consecutive games for the Philadelphia A's. Gus tied an American League record, set by Tony Lazzeri in 1936. But he fell short of Ralph Kiner's major league high, hung up in 1947.

The A's crept out of the cellar on a 7-6 victory over St. Louis. Eddie Joost's ninth-inning single scoring Ray Murray was the clincher for Bobby Shantz, who turned in brilliant three-hit relief pitching after replacing Joe Coleman in the first.

It was too cold for the Red Sox to play the White Sox at Fenway but Boston warmed up with a deal for a catcher. Les Moss of the Browns moved to Boston for catcher Matt Batts and pitcher Jim Suchecki.

Connie Marrero shook Washington out of a four-game losing streak by beating Detroit, 11-6, for his fifth straight win. Sam Mele led the attack with two triples and two singles.

It's still only three games from the bottom in the National with Brooklyn, the pre-season favorite, on top, and the 1950 champion Phillies in the cellar.

The vaunted Dodger power was missing at Chicago where Frank Hiller spun a seven-hitter, 7-0, while Ransom Jackson and Hank Sauer ripped into Erv Palica for home runs.

Sauer's four RBIs for the day sent him out front in the league with 29, the same number Mickey Mantle, the Yanks rookie flash, has in the American.

Keeping pace with the Cubs, the Pittsburgh Pirates moved within one game of first place by knocking off New York, 12-7. Ralph Kiner had a big day with his sixth homer and a double to drive in five runs. The win went to Murry Dickson and the loss to Montia Kennedy.

Cincinnati edged even with the .500 mark on a 6-5 win over Boston's Warren Spahn. Willard Ramsdell weakened in the eighth when the Braves scored four and Harry Perkowski bailed him out. Connie Ryan of the Reds and Sid Gordon of the Braves each hit three-run homers.

Rookie Joe Presko of St. Louis pitched his first complete game in the majors to whip the Phillies, 2-1. The Cardinal quickie lost his shutout bid when Andy Seminick homered in the ninth.

Yesterday's Stars

(By The Associated Press)

Batting, Ralph Kiner, Pirates—Hit ninth homer with two on and doubled home two for 5 RBIs in Pirates' 12-7 win over Giants.

Pitching, Allie Reynolds, Yankees—Pitched himself in and out of trouble, stranding 13 Cleveland Indians in nine-hit 1-0 win.

Pier, Ship Burned

Philadelphia, May 18 (AP)—A raging waterfront fire swept through a pier and a cargo ship on the Delaware river today. Police said they believed one crewman was trapped aboard the burning cargo ship, the Pineland Leith, about 4,000 gross tons. At least a dozen other crewmen jumped into the water as the burning vessel parted its mooring lines and drifted toward an adjoining pier. Some were taken to nearby hospitals. There was no immediate information whether anyone had been caught by the fast-spreading fire on Pier 46 south which juts 800 feet into the river in this busy ocean shipping port.

• Short Takes:

Poughkeepsie baseball fans, who have not deserted Wes Westrum because Rafael Noble, the Cuban, has the Giant catcher chained to Leo Durocher's bench, are planning a big "Wes Westrum Night" in the Polo Grounds in August.

Lafayette Post, American Legion, and its past commander, Fred Healey, are leading the movement. Supreme Court Justice Flannery has accepted the invitation to serve as honorary chairman of the general committee which is organizing the program.

Here's a chance for you Westrum and Giant fans to help a fine gesture toward the Hudson valley's lone representative in the major leagues.

The 32-team delegation of the Kingston Woman's Bowling Association is batting .031 on the matter of reporting boxscores on their recent trek to the state tournament in Binghamton. Really, ladies, the results couldn't have been as horrible as all that. Or could they?

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

Middletown and Poughkeepsie are currently leading the DUSO Golf League with four wins and one defeat each, but don't count out Coach Bob DeFeis' Maroon swingers. Average attendance for first six games at Rome in Can-Am was 817, "way under" previous figures. Pete Elko and Hank Camelli had a nice long chat in the Colonial dressing room Tuesday evening, but the Colonials hardly figure to sign Elko on his terms. Not unless he bats .375 and knocked in 125 runs. Newcomers William Bremer and Frank Seeley should give badly needed lift to our Colonials. It has been said that no business manager of an organized baseball club can complete his multiple duties in less than 18 hours a day. Claude Middagh of the Colonials might go along on that one. The Sid Schacht purchased by the Boston Braves from the St. Louis Browns a few days ago is the ex-Colonial League hurler with Stamford in 1948. He won 19 and lost five with Scranton in the Eastern League in 1949. Little League baseball booming in nearly every city, village and town in the mid-Hudson area.

• How About That, Managers?

A City Baseball League expert, who should know, points up an interesting situation that is developing in the twilight loop.

Aside from creating a scorer's nightmare, the managers who make wholesale changes in the line-ups, just for the hell of it, putting infielders in the outfield, first basemen on third base, etc., are unfair to those players, the expert points out. There are many attractive prizes up for various positions in the league this year and no player should be jeopardized by capricious, checkerboard moves by his manager.

A shortstop who is good at that position and may be in line for an award, for instance, may find that he is just shy of the necessary number of innings to qualify for that award, because his manager (being a mastermind in his own mind) insists on changing the positions of his players.

This applies, naturally, only to players who are established performers at a given position. Think it over, managers, and don't needlessly hurt the chances of your star players for all-league recognition.

Ted Williams, the Red Sox's Temperamental Thumper, joined an exclusive group of all-time sluggers with his 300th homer Tuesday night. There are only 10 on the list, with Babe Ruth leading the parade by miles with 714. Jimmy Foxx is second with 534; then follow in order: Mell Ott 511, Lou Gehrig 494; Joe DiMaggio 351; Johnny Mize 341; Hank Greenberg 331, Rogers Hornsby 302, Chuck Klein 300 and Ted Williams 300. Of the active players in the majors, Ralph Kiner is a sure bet for the future. He opened the 1951 campaign with 215. Duke Snider of the Dodgers also rates in the future books.

Memo to Knute Beichert: Please have Durocher return that "How to Play Baseball" manual to me. He won't need it any more this year.

Gavilan 2-1 Choice To Defeat Bratton

New York, May 18 (AP)—Kid Gavilan, the sleek Cuban hawk, is a solid 2 to 1 choice to whip Chicago's Johnny Bratton tonight in a 15-round bout for the welterweight championship vacated by Sugar Ray Robinson.

Bratton already holds a piece of the title, winning N.B.A. recognition by grabbing a split decision over Charlie Fusari at Chicago in March. But New York state awaits the result of this Madison Square Garden battle before giving its blessing.

Advance sales indicate a crowd of some 10,000 and a $50,000 gate, despite the network radio (ABC) and television (NBC) coverage. The bout goes on at 9 p. m. (EST).

The winner must meet New York's Billy Graham within 60 days to get universal recognition. Later the survivor probably will have to fight Britain's claimant, Eddie Thomas.

Brooklyn (Eastern Parkway Arena)—Rocky Castellani, 157¼, Teaneck, N. J., stopped Joe Di Martino, 149½, Bridgeport, Conn.,

Golf's Stymie Is on Way Out

London, May 18 (AP)—The stymie, one of the biggest headaches of United States golfers, will be eliminated starting next Jan. 1 if a new set of uniform rules for players the world over are approved.

A new code has been worked out by the United States Golf Association and the Royal and Ancient Golf Club of St. Andrews, whose rules are followed almost everywhere except in the United States.

In addition to dropping the stymie, the recommendations announced last night, after a year of correspondence and a week of discussions, include:

Allowing the small British ball to be used in the United States.

Allowing the Goose Neck and other American putters to be used in the rest of the world.

A standard penalty of stroke and distance for a ball lost, unplayable or out of bounds.

Although the two organizations are still at work drafting the formal rules, the new code probably will be presented to the USGA executive committee in June, while the Royal and Ancient will act on it in the fall.

Red Losses Estimated

Washington, May 18 (AP) — The army today estimated Communist losses in Korea at 904,788 through May 7. This is 11,126 more than was reported through April 30. Chinese and North Korean battle casualties were placed at 631,607. Non-combat casualties were estimated at 125,880. In addition 147,301 Red prisoners of war have been captured by actual count. North Korean casualties made up 539,702 of the total. Total Chinese them fought its way out. A strong allied tank column hit the same trap. It escaped down a dry river bed.

AP Correspondent George McArthur reported all U.N. troops had pulled back out of Red Korea. South Koreans had held a 25 mile line from the Inje area to the Sea of Japan.

Correspondent McArthur said the withdrawal through the mountains from this line was orderly.

Rain drenched the battlefields Friday night. Red commanders counted on spring rains to bog down allied armor and provide protection from the skies for their masses of infantrymen.

Red casualties are estimated at 365,086.

Golf's Stymie Is on Way Out

London, May 18 (AP)—The stymie, one of the biggest headaches of United States golfers, will be eliminated starting next Jan. 1 if a new set of uniform rules for players the world over are approved.

A new code has been worked out by the United States Golf Association and the Royal and Ancient Golf Club of St. Andrews, whose rules are followed almost everywhere except in the United States.

In addition to dropping the stymie, the recommendations announced last night, after a year of correspondence and a week of discussions, include:

Allowing the small British ball to be used in the United States.

Allowing the Goose Neck and other American putters to be used in the rest of the world.

A standard penalty of stroke and distance for a ball lost, unplayable or out of bounds.

Although the two organizations are still at work drafting the formal rules, the new code probably will be presented to the USGA executive committee in June, while the Royal and Ancient will act on it in the fall.

Hoppeys Eke Out 5-4 Win in Opener

Hoppeys opened their 1951 City Softball League season Wednesday night with a 5 to 4 squeaker win over the Central Lunch club at St. Mary's diamond.

Central Lunch took a 2-1 lead in the bottom half of the first but Hoppeys came back fast with a pair in the second and single counters in the sixth and seventh to eke out the win. Central Lunch pushed over another cluster of two in the bottom of the third.

Morris, of Hoppeys, collected two hits, one a terrific blast to center in the third inning for a homer. Mickey Edwards also collected two hits for the winners.

The score:

Hoppeys	102 001 1—5
Central Lunch	202 000 0—4

Drunken Driving Charge Is Placed

Manuel Reina, 45, of 93 Mountain View avenue, local appliance merchant, was arrested early today on charges of leaving the scene of an accident and driving while intoxicated after a fire hydrant was struck on Washington avenue.

The case was adjourned two weeks when he appeared this morning before City Judge Raymond J. Mino. Bail of $50 was put up on each charge.

Police were notified at 1:18 a. m., that a hydrant on Washington avenue near Greenkill avenue, had been struck by a car and "broken off."

Officer Henry Ronnenberg and Special Officer Meyer Levy were dispatched to the area and shortly after 2 a. m., they reported that Reina was arrested on Warren street near Washington avenue on the two charges.

The officers said the hydrant was the type which did not cause a leak when broken. It had been thrown in a field, they said, and it was difficult at the time to determine where it had been installed because the ground had been levelled in the area.

The information papers charge that Reina was the driver who "did strike and cause damage to the hydrant," and who did operate a car on Warren street "in an intoxicated condition." He was represented in court by Attorney Frank Martocci.

Obeys Dream Ghost

Braintree, Mass., May 18 (AP)—A ghost who commanded "kill" in an old woman's mad dream today was believed to have impelled Mrs. Mary D. Smith, 67, to slay her lifelong spinster friend and then herself. Beaten to death with a log of firewood was Miss Mary O'Neil, 60. Deputy Police Chief N. Eric Nelson said Mrs. Smith fatally bludgeoned her old friend when the former was "apparently mentally unbalanced." A daughter of Mrs. Smith was quoted by Nelson as saying her mother told of this dream: "I saw a man with a mustache and he told me to kill Miss O'Neil because God wanted us both." Miss O'Neill was found late yesterday afternoon in the cellar of her home. Mrs. Smith was found in her own home directly across the street. Police said she had evidently drunk poison.

American Day Message

Albany, N. Y., May 18 (AP)—Governor Dewey said today that "too many of us" take for granted the privileges and responsibilities of American citizenship. Proclaiming Sunday as "I Am An American Day" in New York, Dewey said: "Today we bear grave responsibilities in the position of leadership which has fallen upon us. We are obliged to sacrifice, to arm and to provide moral and physical leadership in order to preserve a free world. "The deep significance of America today is that it is the bulwark of the whole idea of human freedom and our priceless rights and privileges must be bought again every day with the spirit of sacrifice and purpose which made this country great."

He Becomes Defendant

Chattanooga, Tenn., May 18 (AP)—Judge L. D. Miller, who has heard more than 20,000 divorce cases in 20 years on the bench here, became a defendant yesterday—in a divorce case. His wife, Mrs. Edith McAllester Miller, filed a suit charging cruel and inhuman treatment. The Millers have been married 27 years.

NAM Calls For

destriction of the nation's economic system and would amount to "perhaps the longest single step toward complete government control ever proposed to the American people."

Congress, the association declared, should let authority to curb prices and wages lapse June 30, when the present law expires.

James B. Carey, secretary-treasurer of the CIO, proposed a stiffer price control law that "permits dollars-and-cents ceilings, * * * grade labelling and requires maintenance of not only quality goods, but also of low-priced lines."

'15 Billions in Tribute'

In a speech prepared for a conference here today of the Americans for Democratic Action, Carey said:

"In the last year, as the result of a pistol of necessity being placed at our heads by * * * small groups of powerful men and organizations that I call the racketeers of inflation, the American people have paid over an estimated $15,000,000,000 in tribute."

This amount, Carey said, had been garnered by (1) men who "persuaded Congress to leave out of the Defense Production Act any control over the commodity exchanges," (2) the "price racketeer" who "raises the price of the things he makes and sells" to take advantage of shortages, (3) corporations which "demanded that we meet their terms" for building defense plants by granting "the privilege of writing off the value of these plants in five years," and (4) the "tax racketeer" who "spends large sums of money trying to shift the tax burden from the wealthy and the corporations * * * to the people."

Lucas Raps Controls

Scott W. Lucas, former Illinois senator and Senate Democratic leader, told the Senate Banking Committee in a prepared statement that:

"There is no justification under present conditions for controls on installment sales of automobiles."

Lucas, who was defeated last year for reelection, told the committee he was testifying "on behalf of the American Finance Corporation, a group comprising some 366 independent automobile sales finance companies."

Henry J. Kruse of Seattle, Wash., a director of the Western States Meat Packers Association, told the Senate Banking Committee yesterday that "authority for price, wage and rationing controls should be deleted" from existing laws.

The Wage Stabilization Board was expected to vote today to approve most or all of an 11-cent average hourly wage increase for 220,000 meat packinghouse workers. Packers and unions have agreed on the increase which would push through the wage-control ceiling.

The board also may act soon to approve a four-cent hourly "productivity" pay boost for more than 500,000 CIO Auto Workers Union members. This also would be an exception to the 10 per cent pay raise ceiling.

NAM told the Senate Banking Committee it opposed wage and price controls "because they hinder production." The Senate group and the House Banking Committee are holding separate hearings on President Truman's request for revision and a two-year extension of the Defense Production Act. It includes wage-price control authority.

Washington, May 18 (AP)—Immigration Commissioner Argyle Mackey today ordered the exclusion from the United States of Mrs. Ellen Knaupf, German war-bride of an American G.I.

Gifts Are Viewed As Vital Aid to School Teachers

Two films, "The Story of Oil," produced by Young America Films and "Petroleum," produced by Encyclopedia Britannica Films, were presented to the Audio-Visual education group of the Kingston public schools this week by the Ulster county unit of the Hudson Valley Oil Dealers Association.

Warren A. Russell, director of the education group, in accepting the gifts this week said "the films will aid greatly in both science and social studies teachers in such fields as geology, heat, natural resources, study of transportation and solution of world distribution problems."

Russell added "these films also will be very useful in our classes in bringing into the classroom in a very vivid way the work done in this field."

Both films, which will be available to any school in the county on a first come, first served basis, carry no advertising for any company and are strictly educational in nature.

Written requests for the films should be mailed to Russell's office in care of School 2.

Flood Threatens

part of the state. Approximately 40 persons have been evacuated there.

Floodwaters two-foot deep spread through the town of 10,000.

The torrential rains that sent the creeks and rivers out of their banks had eased off to a certain extent in all three states. But there were still plenty of thunderstorms and showers.

The western Kansas cities, of Great Bend, Arkansas City and Dodge City anxiously watched slowly spreading flood waters that already have moved into the lowlands. The small town of Ulysses was isolated.

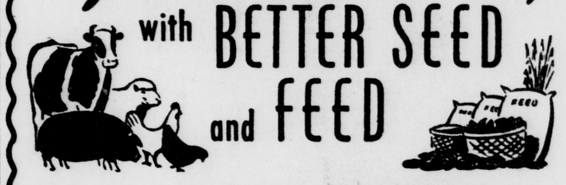

Some rivers had spread out as much as two and three miles.

The showers and thunderstorms over the southern and central plains spread northward into Minnesota and the western Lake Superior region. Rain was forecast for the Great Lakes region and the upper Mississippi valley today and Saturday and in the middle Mississippi valley Saturday.

There were some showers in the Rocky Mountains but it was fair weather over the eastern third of the country and in the far southwest.

Cool spots were the Great Lakes region and the New England States. Temperatures were above normal in other sections of the country.

Accepts Film From Oil Dealers

Warren Russell, director of Audio-Visual education in the Kingston public schools, fourth from left, receives one of two films given to the education group by the Ulster county unit of the Hudson Valley Oil Dealers' Association. Looking on while W. L. Ryder, past president of the association, makes the presentation, are Mrs. Florence Christiana; Harry Rigby, president of the Oil Dealers; and Dr. Ruth M. Drunken Driving Charge Is Placed

Manuel Reina, 45, of 93 Mountain View avenue, local appliance merchant, was arrested early today on charges of leaving the scene of an accident and driving while intoxicated after a fire hydrant was struck on Washington avenue.

The case was adjourned two weeks when he appeared this morning before City Judge Raymond J. Mino. Bail of $50 was put up on each charge.

Police were notified at 1:18 a. m., that a hydrant on Washington avenue near Greenkill avenue, had been struck by a car and "broken off."

Officer Henry Ronnenberg and Special Officer Meyer Levy were dispatched to the area and shortly after 2 a. m., they reported that Reina was arrested on Warren street near Washington avenue on the two charges.

The officers said the hydrant was the type which did not cause a leak when broken. It had been thrown in a field, they said, and it was difficult at the time to determine where it had been installed because the ground had been levelled in the area.

The information papers charge that Reina was the driver who "did strike and cause damage to the hydrant," and who did operate a car on Warren street "in an intoxicated condition." He was represented in court by Attorney Frank Martocci.

Obeys Dream Ghost

Braintree, Mass., May 18 (AP)—A ghost who commanded "kill" in an old woman's mad dream today was believed to have impelled Mrs. Mary D. Smith, 67, to slay her lifelong spinster friend and then herself. Beaten to death with a log of firewood was Miss Mary O'Neil, 60. Deputy Police Chief N. Eric Nelson said Mrs. Smith fatally bludgeoned her old friend when the former was "apparently mentally unbalanced." A daughter of Mrs. Smith was quoted by Nelson as saying her mother told of this dream: "I saw a man with a mustache and he told me to kill Miss O'Neil because God wanted us both." Miss O'Neill was found late yesterday afternoon in the cellar of her home. Mrs. Smith was found in her own home directly across the street. Police said she had evidently drunk poison.

American Day Message

Albany, N. Y., May 18 (AP)—Governor Dewey said today that "too many of us" take for granted the privileges and responsibilities of American citizenship. Proclaiming Sunday as "I Am An American Day" in New York, Dewey said: "Today we bear grave responsibilities in the position of leadership which has fallen upon us. We are obliged to sacrifice, to arm and to provide moral and physical leadership in order to preserve a free world. "The deep significance of America today is that it is the bulwark of the whole idea of human freedom and our priceless rights and privileges must be bought again every day with the spirit of sacrifice and purpose which made this country great."

He Becomes Defendant

Chattanooga, Tenn., May 18 (AP)—Judge L. D. Miller, who has heard more than 20,000 divorce cases in 20 years on the bench here, became a defendant yesterday—in a divorce case. His wife, Mrs. Edith McAllester Miller, filed a suit charging cruel and inhuman treatment. The Millers have been married 27 years.

NAM Calls For

destriction of the nation's economic system and would amount to "perhaps the longest single step toward complete government control ever proposed to the American people."

Congress, the association declared, should let authority to curb prices and wages lapse June 30, when the present law expires.

James B. Carey, secretary-treasurer of the CIO, proposed a stiffer price control law that "permits dollars-and-cents ceilings, * * * grade labelling and requires maintenance of not only quality goods, but also of low-priced lines."

'15 Billions in Tribute'

In a speech prepared for a conference here today of the Americans for Democratic Action, Carey said:

"In the last year, as the result of a pistol of necessity being placed at our heads by * * * small groups of powerful men and organizations that I call the racketeers of inflation, the American people have paid over an estimated $15,000,000,000 in tribute."

This amount, Carey said, had been garnered by (1) men who "persuaded Congress to leave out of the Defense Production Act any control over the commodity exchanges," (2) the "price racketeer" who "raises the price of the things he makes and sells" to take advantage of shortages, (3) corporations which "demanded that we meet their terms" for building defense plants by granting "the privilege of writing off the value of these plants in five years," and (4) the "tax racketeer" who "spends large sums of money trying to shift the tax burden from the wealthy and the corporations * * * to the people."

Lucas Raps Controls

Scott W. Lucas, former Illinois senator and Senate Democratic leader, told the Senate Banking Committee in a prepared statement that:

"There is no justification under present conditions for controls on installment sales of automobiles."

Lucas, who was defeated last year for reelection, told the committee he was testifying "on behalf of the American Finance Corporation, a group comprising some 366 independent automobile sales finance companies."

Henry J. Kruse of Seattle, Wash., a director of the Western States Meat Packers Association, told the Senate Banking Committee yesterday that "authority for price, wage and rationing controls should be deleted" from existing laws.

The Wage Stabilization Board was expected to vote today to approve most or all of an 11-cent average hourly wage increase for 220,000 meat packinghouse workers. Packers and unions have agreed on the increase which would push through the wage-control ceiling.

The board also may act soon to approve a four-cent hourly "productivity" pay boost for more than 500,000 CIO Auto Workers Union members. This also would be an exception to the 10 per cent pay raise ceiling.

NAM told the Senate Banking Committee it opposed wage and price controls "because they hinder production." The Senate group and the House Banking Committee are holding separate hearings on President Truman's request for revision and a two-year extension of the Defense Production Act. It includes wage-price control authority.

Washington, May 18 (AP)—Immigration Commissioner Argyle Mackey today ordered the exclusion from the United States of Mrs. Ellen Knaupf, German war-bride of an American G.I.

Gifts Are Viewed As Vital Aid to School Teachers

Two films, "The Story of Oil," produced by Young America Films and "Petroleum," produced by Encyclopedia Britannica Films, were presented to the Audio-Visual education group of the Kingston public schools this week by the Ulster county unit of the Hudson Valley Oil Dealers Association.

Warren A. Russell, director of the education group, in accepting the gifts this week said "the films will aid greatly in both science and social studies teachers in such fields as geology, heat, natural resources, study of transportation and solution of world distribution problems."

Russell added "these films also will be very useful in our classes in bringing into the classroom in a very vivid way the work done in this field."

Both films, which will be available to any school in the county on a first come, first served basis, carry no advertising for any company and are strictly educational in nature.

Written requests for the films should be mailed to Russell's office in care of School 2.

Flood Threatens

part of the state. Approximately 40 persons have been evacuated there.

Floodwaters two-foot deep spread through the town of 10,000.

The torrential rains that sent the creeks and rivers out of their banks had eased off to a certain extent in all three states. But there were still plenty of thunderstorms and showers.

The western Kansas cities, of Great Bend, Arkansas City and Dodge City anxiously watched slowly spreading flood waters that already have moved into the lowlands. The small town of Ulysses was isolated.

Some rivers had spread out as much as two and three miles.

The showers and thunderstorms over the southern and central plains spread northward into Minnesota and the western Lake Superior region. Rain was forecast for the Great Lakes region and the upper Mississippi valley today and Saturday and in the middle Mississippi valley Saturday.

There were some showers in the Rocky Mountains but it was fair weather over the eastern third of the country and in the far southwest.

Cool spots were the Great Lakes region and the New England States. Temperatures were above normal in other sections of the country.
